MILITARY TRAINING BILL FAVORED BY AMERICAN LEGION

Measure, With Modifications, Will Be Supported by A. E. F. Men.

Indianapolis, Feb. 9.—The Wadsworth army reorganization bill, carrying a provision for universal military training, will be supported by the American Legion, with modifications, it was announced tonight at the close of a conference of state commanders of the legion. After an all-day discussion of the bill, National Commander Franklin D. O'Dier was authorized to appoint a committee to co-operate with the legion's legislative committee and present the suggestions of the conference to congress.

Telegram Sent Democrats.

During the session a telegram was sent to the chairman of the caucus of democratic members of the House of Representatives in Washington, announcing the legion's support of the bill, and this message was supplemented by several messages from state commanders to representatives of their respective states, who are attending the caucus. The telegram to the caucus chairman stated that the conference of state commanders unanimously endorsed the military training bill, and that resolutions passed at the national conference, including the legion, which included universal military training and also contained an outline of other provisions which the legion favors for incorporation in the army reorganization bill.

Modified Provisions.

These provisions, classed as modifications, include elimination of control of the military establishment by any exclusive military organization or state, provision for a thorough house cleaning of inefficient officers and methods, preservation of the national guard, democratization of the general staff and insurance of a military system based on domestic and American principles of obligation and opportunity for all. Another change recommended would provide that an appointive United States military academy must first have served his initial training period of four months, three years in the national guard or one year in the regular army.

Lack of Responsibility.

"There is a closeness of relationship between the city and firms within the city which cannot be ignored. When you boost Omaha you are boosting your concern. # COUNCIL IS NOT SETTLED ON GAS PLANT PURCHASE

May Reject Appraisal In Formal Action—City Will Not Invite Prolonged Litigation, Declares Mayor.

Mayor Smith yesterday expressed his opinion that a series of conferences will be held between representatives of the city and the Omaha Gas Co., before the city council decides on its course of action in the matter of acquiring the gas plant.

"Before the city would attempt to take the plant over at the appraised valuation, I believe we should obtain from the company a stipulation that it will not appeal and I believe that such a stipulation may be obtained, although I have not received any official advice from the gas company," the mayor said.

The mayor confirmed the forecast as printed in The Bee last Saturday, that the city is not going to invite prolonged litigation. The city council may reject the appraisal by taking formal action within 60 days from last Friday; otherwise, the city automatically acquires the plant, subject to the right of appeal by the company within 20 days after the 60-day period.

"We do not know what the city intends to do," said W. H. Herdman, attorney for the gas company. "We will not cross the bridge until we come to it. When we know whether the city intends to accept or reject the appraisal, then we may have a statement to make."

Production depends on material, methods and men especially safe men, says the National Safety council.
