

GRAND CHIEF OF SCOUTS WILL BE HERE SATURDAY

Events Include Tag Day and Trip to Camp Gifford—J. P. Freeman Addresses Omaha Rotarians.

J. P. Freeman of Chicago, national field commissioner of the Boy Scouts of America, delivered an inspiring half-hour talk yesterday noon to Omaha Rotarians in the ball room of Hotel Fontenelle.

The visitor spoke as a Rotarian to Rotarians, his theme being the welfare of the scout boys. Omaha Rotarians are "big brothers" to the scouts and this meeting was in connection with "Good Turn Week," now being observed in Scotland.

Attendees at the meeting endeavored at the door of the dining room a small bridge which had been made by Pine Tree patrol. Charles Gardner led in community singing, Henry Cox was at the piano and Dr. E. C. Henry presided.

Let Boys Expand.
"We remember the old idea that a boy should be a 'good turn' boy," Mr. Freeman said. "The old method was one of repression—'Don't do this,' 'Don't do that.' 'No matter what you are doing, don't do it.'"

Scouting has demonstrated the value of the boy here and now, as well as his potential value. The boy's safety valve is in play in which he finds his best expression. Scouting is organized play, with leadership, activities worth while, and a code of ethics for the development of character.

"Scouting is a supplemental agency to help the child understand and enjoy contributing a real interest to the life of the boy. Scouting tends to guard against social unrest by bringing to the boy a sense of civic responsibility. It comes to the boy just at a time when he begins to change from his individualistic period to the period which develops the gang spirit, as we say. It is at a time when the boy begins to think in groups. Scouting appeals to the fraternal spirit of the boy."

"The boys of Omaha need your personality. You have done well and will do well again by giving your money to promote this movement, but it is your time and personality the boys now need."

John W. Welch, local scout commissioner, made an appeal to Rotarians to volunteer to serve on scout troop committees.

Friday Is Tag Day.
The Scouts will tie 40,000 small twine knots on Omahans Friday, the significance of the knots being that they are reminders to do good turns. The scouts have been doing good turns all week and they want everybody else to do likewise. The scouts are not afraid of "Friday, the 13th," as tomorrow happens to be.

Saturday, the last day of this special week of scouting, will be featured by a visit of James E. West, chief executive of the Boy Scouts of America. Mr. West will arrive in the morning from Denver, and will meet local scout officials at Hotel Fontenelle. During the afternoon he will address the Boy Scouts in the city council chamber. A trip to Camp Gifford has been planned, and a dinner in the evening at Hotel Fontenelle will be the social event of the visit of this distinguished scout executive. Mr. West is the leader of 400,000 scouts of the United States.

HOME-MADE TOILET PREPARATIONS

BY BARBARA BOOTH

Anyone can make, at home, at little cost, a number of toilet preparations that will, with simple scalp exercises and face massage, give wonderful results.

When the scalp becomes tight on the skull, so a proper blood supply does not reach the roots of the hair, or the scalp becomes encrusted with dandruff, the hair will fall out. The danger signal for women is to find the comb and brush full of stray hair, after combing and brushing. A man can quickly tell if he is losing his hair by pressing the hair flat on each side of the part, and noting if the part is becoming wider.

If you are losing your hair, prompt action should be taken, otherwise baldness or partial baldness may ensue. The scalp should be properly massaged, then apply a good hair tonic. In massaging the scalp, do not let the finger tips slip along the scalp, but make the scalp move on the skull, back and forth and in circles.

Danger Signal for Women.
Here is a simple mixture which you can make at home, that will quickly remove dandruff, aid the growth of the hair and in preventing it from falling out. Merely dissolve 1 dram of powdered sanocidin in 3 ounces of bay rum, and add 3 ounces of water. These ingredients can be bought at any druggist's at little cost, and mixed at home. Apply to the scalp once a day, after properly massaging. This mixture is not only a stimulant and astringent, but is a very powerful germicidal agent, and dandruff cannot exist where it is applied. The hair will stop falling out and dandruff disappear within one to three days after beginning its use.

For Gray Hair.
As to gray, streaked or faded hair, you can gradually darken it with this simple home-made mixture. To 1/2 pint of water, add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barb's Compound and 1/4 ounce of glycerine. These ingredients can be purchased at any druggist's at little cost, and mixed at home. Apply to the hair every other day, until it becomes the required shade. This is not a dye, but the color of the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off. It gradually darkens the hair, and there are no quick, embarrassing changes.

For the Complexion.
As to the complexion, you can make at home a grassless vanishing cream that will beautify the complexion, make the skin soft and pliable and prevent the hands from chapping. It is greaseless and cannot cause the growth of superfluous hair. Dissolve 1/4 ounce of glycerine in 1 ounce of water. These ingredients cost little at any druggist's, and they will make more than a pint of vanishing cream that will give the complexion a clear, velvety appearance, and remove wrinkles. It will also aid in removing wrinkles. Men will find it excellent after shaving.

AT THE THEATERS

THE coming of "Robin Hood" is proving an interesting topic. Ralph Dunbar, a product of the Midwest, concluded that if the millions of music-lovers were accorded a square deal in the production of real comic opera with the same standards of uprightness prevailing that govern legitimate merchandising, a relationship of confidence would result which would make possible the bringing to middle western cities productions equal to the best offered anywhere. To test his judgment he invested a large sum in a complete new production of "Robin Hood" and since then more than 100 cities have enjoyed real comic opera. The engagement at the Brandeis is for three days, with a matinee on Saturday afternoon.

A soubrette gives more than her share of life to a burlesque show and a soubrette of more than lasting distinction is included in the roster of "The Lew Kelly Show," which is playing at the Gayety theater twice daily this week. Estelle Indy is the young woman who prances

Judge Walter I. Smith Plans California Trip To Regain His Health

Judge Walter I. Smith, who was stricken with paralysis last fall and has been unable to discharge his duties as a judge of the federal district court of appeals, has progressed so steadily during the winter that he is now physically able to stand the strain of a journey to southern California, where it has been planned to take him during his convalescence.

Mrs. Smith and her daughters, Barbara and Grace, have completed all arrangements for the change and expect to leave with Judge Smith within the next fortnight.

Judge Smith will enter a private sanitarium on the coast, where he will receive scientific treatment and care that is hoped will hasten his recovery. It is located in one of the pleasantest suburbs of Los Angeles and Mrs. Smith and daughters will be located near by.

Though an Englishman, Sydney Greenstreet, who has been appointed again to the role of the widely-known English butler in "The Rainbow Girl," coming to the Brandeis Sunday night, did not begin his stage career until he came to this country. He has played over a hundred Shakespearean characters since enlisting in the ranks of the profession. He is a young man and quite a different personage from the pompous, rotund, flat-footed lower class man of 50 or thereabouts, who is some factor in this exquisite comedy.

"Flo-Flo," John Cort's greatest musical comic effort, will come to the Brandeis, starting Friday, February 20, for a limited engagement of three days. There is more of a plot to "Flo-Flo" than is usually met with in a musical comedy, and its development is watched with interest.

IN Madge Kennedy's Goldwyn picture, "Strictly Confidential," which opens a three-day run at the Moon theater commencing today, 53 titles are used to tell a five-part story.
This photo-production story tells of a provincial English actress who marries a lord whose servants are all relatives of hers. Early in the story she comes to the lord's castle, an orphan; but the rigid decorum of the servants make life impossible for her. She runs away, goes back to the stage and makes an instantaneous hit. During this phase of her career she meets an artist and falls in love with him. She does not know that he is the Lord Bantock from whose castle she escaped not very long since. However, they are married and return to his ancestral home to live. Here the new Lady Bantock finds herself headed about by her relatives, who are now her servants. Her position is made more difficult by her decision not to disclose her family relations to her husband. When she can no longer bear the burden of silence and constant disciplining from her uncle, the butler, she confesses to her husband and discovers that life at the castle is henceforth to be all joy and sunshine.

"Just for Instance," telling a pretty story of domestic life, will be one of the features of the new show opening at the Empress today. Cato S. Keith, the well-known comedian, assisted by Maude Parker and Violet Holliday, comprise the cast presenting this playlet. The Airplane Girls perform the most intricate and sensational feats on trapezes swung from whirling airplanes. Mabel Blondell, the chummy comedienne, will appear in an especially written sketch. She also gives imitations of noted jazz dancers. Williams and Howard will give a song and dialogue concert.
