Sees No Harm in Plenty of Girls—Will Attend Himself—For All Ex-Service Men.

Mayor Smith will attend the dance for all service men in the Auditorium tonight. He is not an ex-service man, but the committee asked him to attend and he agreed.

Mr. G. Buentemeier Tells How Cuticura Healed Pimples

"My whole body was full of red pimples. The skin started to itch and I would rub it, and the more I scratched the more the pimples spread, and I could not sleep. When it got warm, the pimples itched so I could not work, and when I rubbed, the skin would get red and burn, and my whole body was filled with eruptions for six months.

Are You Sick and Discouraged?

Do you get up in the morning more tired than when you went to bed? Are you nervous, fagged out, irritable and easily exhausted?

These symptoms simply mean that you have not a sufficient supply of iron, oxygen and the natural cell-salts that your blood requires to keep your body strong, vigorous and healthy.

Every disease that afflicts the human body is due to the lack of one or more of the natural cell-salts in the blood. Pain, fever, headache, backache, nervousness, anaemia, dyspepsia, biliousness, chills, dizziness, congestion, constipation, etc., are but Nature's warning signals that the cells of some part of your body are starving for the lack of their natural food.

REOLO combines the cell-salts that the blood must have to nourish the body and keep it well—in a form easily assimilated by the blood.

REOLO absorbs the oxygen from the air in the lungs and carries it into the blood—rapidly increasing the number of red blood cells—and the amount of plasma in the blood, sending through the entire body a stream of rich, vitalized, health-giving blood that nourishes every cell of the nerves, tissues, brain and bone.

Each package of REOLO contains tablets enough for two weeks' treatment. In ordinary cases the treatment should be continued for six weeks to give the blood a rich supply of oxygen, plasma and the cell-salt solution that builds new cells. The complete six weeks' treatment costs but very little and will in most cases restore normal health and vitality.

In chronic cases of long standing or abnormal conditions due to neglect, excessive nerve strain, overwork or prolonged illness, it naturally requires a longer time for REOLO to reconstruct the diseased cells, tone up the heart and nervous system and make the blood rich in red blood cells and plasma, vitalized with oxygen, iron and the health-renewing cell-salts that restore normal health and vigor.

Start the REOLO Tonic Treatment today and you will be delighted with the steady improvement in your health. The large package contains 100 pleasant, tasteless tablets and only costs $1.

OMAHA OBSERVES ANNIVERSARY OF LINCOLN'S BIRTH

Many tributes were given in Omaha yesterday to the memory of Abraham Lincoln, whose birthday anniversary is recognized as a legal holiday.

Schools were not closed, but the teachers took advantage of the occasion to impress upon the minds of the children the great place that Lincoln occupied in the life of the nation.

Banks were closed all day and the office forces of the city hall and court house were given a holiday.

The postoffice department did not reduce its working hours and business places generally observed their usual hours.

Hotel Rome Is Sold To Iowa Company for $800,000 by Miller

One of the largest hotel deals consummated in Omaha for several years was closed Wednesday, when the Miller Hotel company of Des Moines purchased from Rome Miller the fixtures, furnishings and a long lease upon the property occupied by the Hotel Rome at Sixteenth and Jackson streets, for a consideration of $800,000.

The new owners will take possession March 1. R. D. McFadden, former president of the Omaha Hotel Men's association and now proprietor of the Pathfinder hotel at Fremont, Neb., will return to Omaha to become the active manager of the Hotel Rome. The new owners have announced that $25,000 will be spent immediately upon improvements.

William F. Miller is the president of the Miller Hotel company, and Dick Lane is secretary-treasurer. Others associated in the corporation are H. C. Kahl, J. Reef Lane and T. J. Walsh, all of Davenport, Ia. The company originally owned the Black Hawk hotel in Davenport, but has since purchased the Fort Des Moines and Savery hotels in Des Moines.

Rome Miller, who is a pioneer Omaha hotel man, will retire from business and spend much of his time in foreign travel, it is announced. His operations of hotels here are reported to have netted him a fortune of more than $1,000,000. Irvin A. Medlar was in charge of the arrangements for negotiations in this recent transaction.

Judge Day to Assume Supreme Court Duties On 30th Anniversary

Supreme Court Justice George A. Day went to Lincoln yesterday to assume his new duties. He was sworn in as successor to the late Justice Sedgwick last Saturday, but has been attending to his affairs in Omaha this week.

"My wife and I will make this a 30th anniversary wedding trip," said the judge. "Thirty years ago we were married in Meridian, N. Y. My wife was Miss Sarah Brown. We weren't superstitious. So we got married on February 13. It wasn't unlucky in our case."

My Heart and My Husband ADELE GARRISON'S New Phase of "Revelations of a Wife"

The News Dicky Brought to Madge. It is always Dicky's way to atone royally for one of his fits of jealousy or temper. I am sometimes tempted to wonder if the pleasure of having a wonderfully attentive and lover-like husband for a week or two is not worth the cost of one of Dicky's rages, especially since I have learned to gauge them at their true value.

The week following his wrath at the discovery that I had learned to drive was no exception to his usual rule. He was so overwhelmingly considerate of my every wish when we had reached the shack that I saw Lillian flash a quick, quizzical, understanding glance at him, a glance which I by chance intercepted, and which made me smile in spite of myself.

"Did I tell you once that you must learn how to manage the Dicky-bird?" she demanded whimsically the first chance she had to speak to me out of Dicky's hearing. "Well, you've certainly graduated! You've got him eating out of your hand. But don't let up on the process! A course of sprouts is good for him."

I knew that if I had not caught her glance and smiled at her she would never have referred to the subject. It is never her way to comment upon another's affairs or to give unasked advice. And I realized by a stressed note underneath her levity that she was anxious lest because of my great love for Dicky I should again permit him the domination of the first year of our married life, and repeat the unhappiness which that policy had brought me.

But I could not discuss my husband even with this truest of friends to us both unless it were to avert disaster. So I simply hugged her understandingly, laughed lightly, and went back to the screened porch and Dicky.

He had brought me news that made me decide to shorten my outing by couple of days. "Met old Jack Bickett on the street yesterday," he said, as he stretched lazily out in a couch hammock, his hands behind his head, while his eyes roved over the panorama of sky and woods and dancing water that spread before us. "How is—Katherine?" I substituted my little friend's name for my brother-cousin's hastily, although it was he, not she, who had been ailing. But, stanch friends as Dicky and Jack now are, I could not forget the time when my brother-cousin's name was as potent to arouse my husband's jealous anger as Major Grantland's seemed to be now.

Dicky's "Report." "Very adroitly done, my dear," Dicky grinned maliciously yet with perfect good humor at me. "But you needn't have hedged. I promise not to bite any chunks out of the air if you ask after your cousin's health. And to show you what an obliging cuss I am I'll answer both your spoken question and the one you crushed back from your lips." He grinned again, and I wished that I had been quicker-witted. It would have been much better to have done the obviously natural thing, asked first after my ailing cousin, and by so doing made it appear that I had completely forgotten that old hectic time. "Katherine isn't very well, Jack says," Dicky spoke with provok-

Cinderella's Slipper Would Be Worth Less Than a 1920 Kidskin

Cinderella's well known silver slipper had nothing on the plain, ordinary slippers of today, according to local shoe men. Twelve ounces of kidskin now is worth $16.50, according to J. A. Blyans of the Fry Shoe company. Twelve ounces of silver is now worth only $16.14, according to quotations by A. K. Linsinger, of Logan & Bryan.

Helen Forbes McPherson Dies of "Flu" in Colorado

Word has been received in Omaha of the death, Thursday of Helen Forbes McPherson, wife of W. S. McPherson, at her home in Masters, Colo., following a brief illness of influenza. Mrs. McPherson was a former Omaha girl, the daughter of John Forbes, formerly connected with the Cudahy company in Omaha, now of Chicago.

J. H. Taylor Credit Manager Of Thompson-Belden Co.

James H. Taylor returned yesterday from a two months' vacation at Long Beach, Cal., to become credit manager of Thompson-Belden company. Mr. Taylor was associated with P. P. Kirkendall company of this city for 20 years and has been more recently treasurer and superintendent of Burgess-Nash company.

A Sudden Resolution.

"You'll have to do it pronto, then," he retorted. "Jack, who incidentally is much better, has had a wonderful opportunity offered him in a western state, some engineering project gone flat that they want his help on. Guess he's tired of trying to live on his income, which couldn't have been anything to speak of. At any rate, the physician says Katherine needs the change of air, and I

The Telephone Company's Problem in Omaha The last few weeks from 15 to 25 per cent of the telephone operators in Omaha have been at home on account of sickness. We are handling in Omaha more than 388,000 telephone calls daily. For some time we have not been giving the grade of telephone service we want to give, but the situation at this time is particularly acute on account of sickness among our operating force. In a series of statements in the Omaha daily papers, of which this is the first, we expect to explain to our patrons the problems which the telephone company is facing today in furnishing telephone service and what we are doing to overcome them. We believe that a frank statement of facts will aid the public in understanding the problems we are having to meet. NEBRASKA TELEPHONE CO.
