

Boys' and Girls' Clubs
Add $100,000 to the Wealth of Nebraska

Members of Nebraska boys' and girls' clubs added approximately $100,000 to the wealth of the state last year, according to a report of the college of agriculture of the University of Nebraska, Extension Service. The extension service organized nearly 12,000 boys and girls into garden, corn, potato, canning, pig, poultry, garment, sewing, cooking, rabbit and other clubs. The total value of their products was $98,807.64.

The cost of production, wages, rent, seed, etc., was $50,077.03. This left a net profit of $47,829.61 for the boys and girls, in addition to their wages and education. The most popular club was the garden, with an enrollment of 2,296 and products worth $28,138.37. The pig club, with but 771 members, fell little below the garden growers, having products at $27,369.50. Poultry, canning and cooking clubs each valued their work at more than $11,000.

Only 19 immigrants came to the United States from Roumania in 1919, the smallest number from any foreign country.

Trans-Pacific Liner Held Up for a Dog to Please a Noted Jap

San Francisco, Feb. 20.—Passengers on the Tenyo Maru, which sailed from this port for Nagasaki, may have wondered why the ship was late leaving the dock. Brownale Black Prince was the reason—and he is a blooded collier. K. Asno, president of the Toyo Kisen. Kasha, had cabled to San Francisco for the best collier that could be obtained here. Dr. T. R. Creely received the message just before the Tenyo Maru sailed. He engaged a fast touring car, rushed out to the Brownale kennels at Redwood City and purchased Black Prince.

The Tenyo Maru should have sailed about the time Dr. Creely left San Francisco. When he dashed up to the dock everything was ready and the gangplank was waiting only for the Black Prince. It was the first time that an ocean liner had been held for a dog. Black Prince is now at his new home in the cherry blossom land. Dog fanciers say the Japanese are securing the best blooded dogs in America.

"Kiss Him," Said Diner to Mary Garden—She Did

Chicago, Feb. 20.—A woman of her world is Mary Garden, Chicago's "Own Mary," the famous opera singer. She proved this fact recently at a banquet in honor of the composer, Italo Montemezzi. On Mary's right sat Harold F. McCormick, patron saint of the Chicago Grand Opera association. Mary was called on to speak and after explaining it was not her custom to speak in public, for she was a very, very, very, very, timid woman, Mary said: "But I'm with Mr. McCormick and the opera association until the last. I'll do anything for McCormick and —" "Kiss him," broke in one of the banqueters, "kiss him." And Mary did—not once, but twice.
