

NOTED RUSSIAN GENERAL TELLS THRILLING STORY

Entrances Large Audience With Vivid Portrayal of Atrocities Against Armenian Women and Girls.

Gen. Mesrop Nefton Azapetian, introduced by Rabbi Cohn at Temple Israel last night, told of Armenia's part in the great war, of his services in the Russian army, of the trials and vicissitudes that his family passed through one terrible winter, when his little girl was born in a ragged Red Cross tent pitched in the foothills of the chill Caucasus mountains, and of the present fearful plight of his countrymen.

The general in part said: "While with the Russian army, at that time driving back the brutal Turks, I, myself, came across a mother and her baby crucified in a church. This was the Turkish way of showing contempt and hatred for the Christian sanctuary."

The general will occupy the pulpit at Trinity cathedral tomorrow morning and will be the principal speaker at a mass meeting at the Brandeis theater at 4 in the afternoon, at which time he will supplement his remarks by showing a wonderful film that was made by the Hoover Food commission in this region. The public are urged to take their seats early at the Brandeis because no seats are to be reserved and Chairman Neal is determined to start punctually; admission free.

Caught With Seven Watches.

J. Schachtler, whose address is unknown, was arrested last night and held for investigation. When searched at the police station seven watches and a large amount of silver were found on him, according to police.

AT THE THEATERS

PRETTY girls, pleasing music and comedy that brings the laughs are more than sufficient to recommend "Flo-Flo" to the tired business man and others weary of brain and seeking diversion. "Flo-Flo" opening its Omaha engagement Friday night, is the Brandeis offering for Saturday, matinee and night, and Sunday night. Vieing with the comedy lines are other lines, for the eyes, not the ears. For instance, there's "Flo-Flo," the perfect 36, as presented by Miss Rhoda Nickells, and there's a chorus much above the average. Costumes range from opera cloaks to lingerie, with emphasis on the lingerie. The "bride shop," with its galaxy of models, furnishes the setting for a lingerie parade and lines like these: "Well, what is it?" "Oh, that? It's the wife to a B. V. D."

FLASHES FROM FILMLAND

THE RIALTO will show for the last times today Marguerite Clark's latest picture, "All-of-a-Sudden Peggy," which is a flaming comedy in which Miss Clark excels. It has been drawing large audiences since its first showing on Thursday. Sun—Nazimova, in "Stranger Than Death," will give its last showing at the Sun theater today to Omaha movie fans. This screen drama is a thrilling romance of India, replete with mystery and powerful love interest. Strand—Broadway hotels and Broadway streets with their tremendous crowds, as well as many beautiful country scenes, are shown in "Two Weeks," which will be offered at the Strand theater for the last times Saturday. It is Constance Talmadge's latest comedy success, and has kept this movie house busy all week. Moon—Today is the last day of the run of the new Tom Mix feature, "The Feud," at the Moon theater. The popularity of this production proclaims it one of the best of the Mix plays. Its story is very dramatic and thrilling and the action contains several spectacular incidents. Muse—"The House of Intrigue," starring Peggy May, the celebrated English actress, will have its last showing at the Muse theater today. It is an absorbing mystery-romance

MASTER KEY LEADS TO DISCOVERY OF BURGLARS' LOOT

Man Gets 60 Days for Refusing To Explain Incriminating Evidence.

Detectives finding a master key, used to unlock almost any door, on Thomas Gray, giving his address as the St. James hotel, Thirtieth and Jackson streets, yesterday arrested him for investigation. The recovery of two suitcases full of clothing and jewelry stolen from D. B. Wilson and P. R. Winslow, both rooming at 2212 Douglas street, was made shortly after by Detectives English and Cunningham in Gray's room, police say.

Gray was given 60 days in jail in Central police court when he refused to explain. Efforts will be made to have victims of recent house robberies by the lone prowler identify Gray, police say. The home of Samuel M. Ray, 2863 Miami street, was ransacked while the family was asleep. The burglar entered Mr. and Mrs. Ray's bedroom and took $8.30 and a watch from a bureau drawer and dresses and two suits of clothes from closets. Jewelry and dining room silverware, the usual loot of the lone prowler recently, was undisturbed. A. Ferer, living in apartments at Seventeenth and Chicago streets, reported that a burglar with mystical tastes carried away a dozen phonograph records as part of the loot from a raid on his rooms Thursday. Four shirts and a suit of clothes also were missing. A sneak thief snatched a handbag from Miss Bertha Schick, 635 Park avenue, Mason school teacher, while she was on her way to attend a meeting at Mason school Thursday evening. The bag contained $10, a watch and penknife.

Brought From Wyoming To Face Larceny Charge

John Gillin of Chicago was brought back to Omaha from Wyoming last night and placed in the county jail, charged with grand larceny. Several weeks ago Gillin, it is alleged, left town with $35 in cash, a $50 watch and clothing amounting to $100 belonging to John Hurvatch. He was arrested at Evansville, Wyo.

RAILROADS LOSE 65 MILLIONS IN 1919 BY THEFTS

Astounding Figures Given at Banquet of Railway Special Agents at Hotel Rome.

Harry B. Fleaharty, Omaha attorney, at a banquet at the Hotel Rome last night, told members of the Railroad Special Service Department of the Central Western Region that several fortunes had been made in Omaha through thefts from the railroads, and declared that a large amount of property in the care of railroads was stolen by juveniles and railroad employees. "Special agents of railroads have a big opportunity in handling cases where juveniles and railroad employees are implicated in thefts, by making investigations of the cause and treating the case accordingly," Mr. Fleaharty declared. "The special agent should be allowed a large amount of freedom in such cases, and often he may be able to make good, substantial citizens of the offenders."

Losses of $65,000,000. Wymer Dressler, Nebraska attorney for the Chicago & Northwestern railroad, announced that losses of railroad and express companies through thefts during the past year would total approximately $65,000,000. A national clearing house, which will employ the latest methods in apprehending and identifying thieves, is needed by special agents, he said. He also urged that the Special Agents' association, which was formed during the period of federal control, be continued after the railroads have been restored to private ownership.

Blames Living Cost

Mr. Ward attributed the tendency on the part of employees to steal to the high cost of living. Assistant Chief Lane of the United States railroad administration made a brief talk, advocating the perpetuation of the Special Agents' association. A number of federal and state officials, including James H. Daly of the Department of Justice, A. V. Shotwell, county attorney; Chief of Police Eberstein and Police Judge Fitzgerald, were present at the dinner. James C. Dahlman acted as toastmaster. The special agents will conduct their two-day convention tonight.

South Side Alleged Highwayman Who Fought Police Is Held On Four Charges

George Techeck, 3108 Q street, who with William Wolf, was shot and badly wounded by South Side police the night of December 6, while attempting to escape capture after an alleged attempt at highway robbery, and who has been in St. Joseph's hospital under guard was held Friday morning for trial in the South Side police court in bonds of $2,000 each on four charges.

It is alleged in complaints filed that Techeck and Wolf held up and robbed Charles Zukus, Thirty-second and Q streets, the night of December 6, of $38 and a watch, and Frank Zukus of the same address of $35. On the same night it is also alleged that the men went to the home of George Kublik, 2015 Madison street, and calling him to the door, beat him with revolvers and robbed him of $180 and a ring valued at $27. According to complaint of Adam Wemeske, 4518 South Fortieth street, Wolf and Techeck robbed him of a watch valued at $15 the night of December 2. Wolf entered pleas of guilty in the district court last month and was sentenced to from three to 15 years on four charges, the sentences to run concurrently.

Omaha Banker Urges Churchmen to Enter Into Politics Actively

"Churchmen, as such, should take a prominent part in modern social and political life," declared Ford Hovey, Omaha banker and Sunday school worker, to the business men's class of Grace Methodist Episcopal church at their annual dinner at the church Wednesday night. "It is their duty," he continued, "to help elect upright, righteous men to public office." F. A. Cressey, who outlined the history and purpose of the business men's class, said the class was organized three years ago at the suggestion of the pastor, its aim being to interest men of affairs in church work. Others who responded to toasts were: R. M. Laverty, E. R. Leigh, R. W. Hubbard, F. E. Sandwall and W. W. Bradley. The position of toastmaster was filled by Dr. W. C. Herrold. The Amphion quartet, composed of Bryon S. Badger, Al E. H. Thompson, Bryon Demorest and Ed P. Baker, led the community singing during the dinner, and later rendered a number of selections.
