Eloppments Becoming Fad

Mrs. Carter Leidy

Mrs. Barclay H. Warburton

Cupid Is a Wily God And Brooks No Interference.

By MARGERY REX.
Written for International News Service.
New York, Feb. 21.—Are the numerous elopements, both in society and out of it, a sign of the times, another evidence of the spirit of daring engendered in our young men by the war?
Eloppments of old were considered rather shocking affairs to happen to one's family. The conventional thing was a musical-bellflowered-satin-and-velvet wedding, with all relatives called in to take a last look at the bride; numerous conveyances awaiting, decked out in ribbons and old shoes. Today the process is simplified. The martial spirit has affected affairs marital. A few suitcases, a few dollars, a fast train, a minister and license in some strange town in a state with obliging laws—and the thing is accomplished. Parental the A. C. A. drama section at their home Saturday morning at 11 o'clock. Juliette Griffen will be the leader. The play to be presented is "Two Crooks and a Lady," by Eugene O'Neill.

home and a coming-out ball planned. When "Fifi" learned Carter Leidy had not been asked to attend the momentous function the elopement was decided upon, and took place upon the morning of the day announced for the debut.

The match is the result of an acquaintance that dates back to schooldays, when Miss Widener attended Miss Irwin's school in Philadelphia. At the time of the marriage Carter Leidy was a freshman in the University of Pennsylvania. During the war he was in the student training corps at Princeton.

Another case of defying parental opposition is that of Lt. Laurens Morgan Hamilton, who married Mrs. Gregory Warren on January 26.

Young Hamilton, now in his 20th year, is a grandson of the late J. P. Morgan and a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Pierson Hamilton. Young Hamilton was an aide to Brigadier General Edwards, of the Department of the Northeast, in Boston, but took a long leave of absence from his duties there. With his bride he is now on a honeymoon in California.

"I have nothing to regret," he said, before leaving. "My marriage is purely democratic. This marrying into royal circles and having the flavor of royalty hanging around marriage doesn't suit me. As soon as I get my discharge I will go out to California and raise fruit. I will prove my army training has served me a good turn."

About three weeks before the Hamilton elopement Miss Miriam Virginia Hostetter of Pittsburgh, one of the heiresses to the vast Hostetter fortune, eloped with Malcolm R. Smith, of New Haven. It was a surprise generally to society, but it is said that Miss Hostetter confided to her girl friends that she was "in love with Malcolm, and you may look for an elopement one of these days." The marriage took place in Toledo.

Mrs. Smith, who is noted for her beauty, is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert D. Hostetter, both of whom are said to have opposed the courtship of their daughter to young Smith, whom she met while attending a girls' school in a suburb of New Haven. She is just 18 Smith, it was learned, was a student at a tutoring school in Milford preparing for Yale. He is the son of Harry A. Smith, president of the National Fire Insurance company of Hartford.

Earlier in the social season Philadelphia society was surprised to learn that a young couple much feted on account of their engagement, Rosamond Lancaster and Barclay Warburton, jr., were already married. Miss Lancaster is the daughter of Mrs. John Edward Lancaster of Worcester, Mass., and New York, and was for some time a guest of Miss Mary Brown Warburton, Barclay's sister. Barclay Warburton is a grandson of John Wanamaker.

Miss Lancaster attended a charity ball on December 12 and posed in a pageant that was one of the season's events. The next evening she and her fiancé attended a dinner and dance at the Ritz-Carlton given by Major and Mrs. Barclay Warburton, the parents of her fiancé. Later it was found that at that time the young couple had been married three days. The wedding had taken place in Elkton, Md.

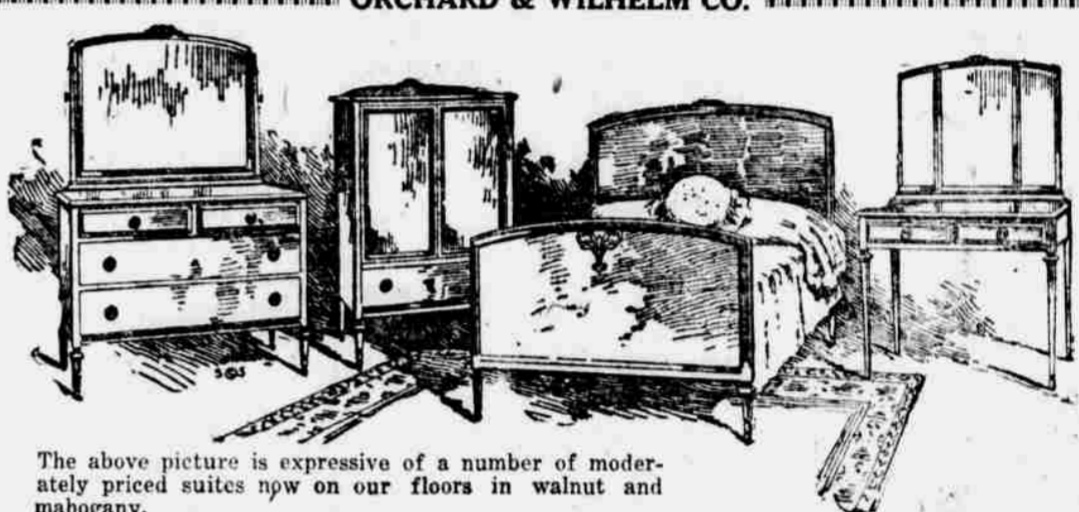

Lieutenant Warburton enlisted in the signal corps at the beginning of the war and was with the army of occupation and a relief commis-

Miss Lancaster was active in war work in New York, Philadelphia and Worcester. Mr. and Mrs. Warburton suddenly left for Europe before the holidays.

After some years of agitation the University of Georgia has opened all of its departments to women students.

New Way to Wave the Hair Becomes Popular

That most women are quick to appreciate anything that will enhance their attractiveness, is shown by the greatly increased demand for liquid almerine, since its remarkable hair curling properties became known. Druggists everywhere report large sales for this product. Women are enthusiastic over liquid almerine, particularly because it enables them to acquire a curliness which is as beautifully natural in appearance, and not have to burn the life out of the hair with a hot iron. Also they find it a beneficial dressing for the hair. The liquid is so agreeable to use, being neither gummy nor greasy, and it is so easy to apply with a clean tooth brush at night when the hair is down. The pretty wavy and curly effect in the morning is most delightful. As it takes only a little almerine to produce the required effect, a few ounces will last for weeks.

The above picture is expressive of a number of moderately priced suites now on our floors in walnut and mahogany.
