

PRICES REMAIN STEADY DURING WEEK ON MARKET

Butter Mounts 2 Cents—
Eggs Recede 1 Cent—
Poultry and Meats Unchanged.

Bargain hunters at the grocery counters were disappointed during the past week, as prices on practically all staples remained steady, with very little variation from those of last week.

Butter is selling at prices approximately 2 cents over those of a week ago, and ranges from 55 to 68 cents per pound, depending on grade. Oleomargarines were steady during the week and quotations are almost identical with those of a week ago. Eggs are 1 cent lower per dozen than they were last week, selling around 55 cents for the strictly fresh variety.

Poultry and meats likewise maintained the prices of last week, hens wholesaling at 40 cents and roosters at 35 cents per pound. Ducks and geese were quoted at 40 cents. The only turkeys on the market came frozen, and very little demand was noticeable. Fresh and cured meat is selling today for approximately what it did last week.

In the vegetable market, a new-comer greeted the housewives Thursday, when rhubarb made its appearance. It was quoted at 15 cents per pound. Potatoes were steady, selling around 75 cents per peck, which price is still effective. Cabbage did not continue to drop after the decline in price of last week. Head lettuce, selling at 75 cents per bunch, continues to be plentiful.

Oranges are still up, the fine grade selling at 60 cents per dozen. Grape fruit may be had at from 8 1/2 cents to 15 cents apiece. Strawberries are on the market, but are still quoted at prices which hothouse fruit commands. Dried fruit and nuts also maintained their prices of a week ago.

Flour retails at $3.25 for the 48-pound sack, following two reductions in the past two weeks from the price of $3.50 that then prevailed. Omaha market keepers and grocers believe that the steady prices of last week will continue during the coming week, with possible fluctuations in the prices of butter and eggs.

FATHER GRASSO RELENTS; SARAH MARRIES FILIPPO

Everything Satisfactorily Settled
For Italian Lovers Who Traveled Rough Road.

An Italian love-tangle was straightened out to the satisfaction of all concerned yesterday afternoon when Father Grasso, at St. Ann's Catholic church, pronounced the words which made Sarah Grasso the wife of Filippo Indelcato.

Michael Grasso gave his consent yesterday to the marriage of Sarah after he had withheld it for several days.

Last Wednesday before Judge Leslie in juvenile court he declared with many heart-broken gestures that his honor had been violated and that he would never consent to the marriage of Sarah and Filippo. The young lovers had secured a marriage license in Council Bluffs a few days before but, unable to find a priest, had postponed their marriage over night. They were arrested the next morning.

Yesterday came Rosi Cornelio, brother-in-law of Filippo, and Joe Vinci, brother-in-law of Sarah, to the office of the county judge to secure a printed form for a father to give his consent to his minor daughter's marriage. With Michael's signature, they came late in the morning and secured the marriage license.

"Yes, he consent that Sarah get married," said Cornelio. "Now all be happy."

The consent of Sarah's father released her from the Home of the Good Shepherd, where Judge Leslie sent her last Wednesday, and restored her to the arms of her Filippo. It will also result in dismissal of complaints filed against both her and Filippo in district court.

His wound is not serious, according to police surgeons, and he was placed in the hospital ward of the county jail. Jones and a companion named Edward E. McKenna were arrested by detectives. As they left the house, Jones made his break.
