GEN. PERSHING AS 'TRUE AMERICAN'

Secretary of State and Overseas Commander of A. E. F. Speak Before New York Audience.

New York, Feb. 28 .- Loyalty to America means "loyalty to her chosen servants, from president down," Bainbridge Colby, named as secretary of state, declared Saturday night in an address at a "loyalty meeting in the city hall. Genral John J. Pershing also spoke on Americanism and patriotism.

"We must stifle the voice of hatred and friction," added Mr. Colby. "We must realize that there is not a man in America who does not hold office as a result of the free choice of her citizens. It is a high patriotic duty that we should support and sustain the men who have been placed in positions of difficulty, burden, responsibility and even danger as the result of our

"An intelligent and conscientious opposition is a part of loyalty to country, but we must not, if we are loyal, seek to disperse our energies in a partisan warfare that is waged without regard to its consequences to the well being, security or honor of the country."

try, which makes all spoken words seem weak and futile."

Declaring that the "social and in-dustrial structure" of America is founded on "enlightened citizenship," Mr. Colby asserted he "was deeply concerned with the diminution of the teaching strength of the country as a result of disproportionately low salaries being paid to teachers throughout the country.

"We must look to this right promptly," he added; "it is a condition that must not be suffered to

In traveling about the country visiting the various army cantonment General Pershing declared in his address that he had "found in the people the purest sort of pa-triotism," but "they have allowed a certain amount of ignorance to grow up." He said that this is a "dangerous thing" and must be eradicated.

Too Many Illiterates. "When the draft act was put into effect," he continued, "there was found to be about 25 to 30 per cent of illiteracy in the country. Now this number of illiterates is too great for our safety. We must all take an individual interest to see that will be impossible for this illiteracy to grow. "I would insist that the English langth of time. We must insist that if these people are to remain here around the sun in 365 days, 5 hours, that they learn something of our 48 minutes and 46 seconds. This is institutions, something of our language and our ideals.

"We can remedy conditions through education by communities each community must be self-cleansing, self-purging. The greatest work America can do in the world is to make itself truly American. When that is accomplished then we can assert the greatest possible influence on the other people of the world."

Carpenters Granted Increase to $1.12 1-2 Hour by Employers

Wage demands of the three local earpenters' unions, which have been pending since the first of the year, were settled yesterday when repre-sentatives of the unions met with the labor relations committee of the Building Labor Employers' association and accepted an offer of an in-crease to $1.121-2 cents an hour. Union carpenters' nominal wages have been 90 cents an hour, although many received as high as $1 on some jobs. They had demanded an increase to $1.25. The increase to $1.12 1-2 will take effect on March 15. "The amicable settlement of this wage controversy means that building will progress in Omaha without interruption this year," said Rod-man N. Brown, of the Stiles Con-struction company. "The meeting was of a friendly nature and should result in complete harmony.

Little Want Ad In The Bee

Leads to Return of Bonds Harry Arnold, 4622 Bedford avenue, became a life subscriber to the slogan: "It pays to advertise," through the medium of a small want ad, published in The Bee vesterday, which was responsible for the return of $300 in Liberty bonds lost Friday When Mr. Arnold found he had dropped a package of bonds he became convinced, he said, that they were gone foreevr, and that money spent in advertising for their return would be wasted. He was persuad-ed, however, to invest $1.28 in a Bee want ad, and before noon yesterday his bonds were back in his hands.

John S. Murphy, letter carrier on the route on which Mr. Arnold lives, had picked up the package. When he identified the owner through the Lost column, he delivered the bonds with the morning mail. Mr. Arnold presented him with a check for $25 as a reward for his honesty.

Mrs. Arnold declared before the bonds were returned that Mr. Murphy had found them, basing her faith on a presentiment that came to Various attempts were made, and finally Julius Caesar took a hand in it. He called in his secretary one day and said: "I'm tired of this monkey busi-

And we still use the calendar that Caesar decreed that day in ancient Rome.

But old Julius wasn't as smart as he thought he was. He fixed the calendar up at 365 days with an extra day thrown in every fourth year, making it 3651-4 days per year on the average. That would be 365 days and six hours.

Hoover Says Development of Farming Greatest Reconstruction Problem.

Chicago, Feb. 28 .- Development of griculture to keep pace with the development of industry is one of the greatest reconstruction problems acing the country, Herbert Hoover leclared here in and address before the Western Society of Engineers. Industries are drawing workers from the farms, he pointed out, and "if we should develop our exports of industries during the next five years as rapidly as we have during the last ive years we shall by that time be faced with the necessity of importing oodstuffs."

The problem is more than an ecnomic one, he asserted, because, rom dependence on overseas supolies for food, we will be concerned about their safety and find ourselves discussing the domination of the eas.
