For the past two weeks the Omaha National Bank five, who prior to that time did not lose a game, met their "Waterloo" at the hands of the Bowens and Townsend Gun Co., respectively, and although the Banks have yet to meet the Live Stock Exchange and the Commerce High, the former tail-enders and the latter fifth place team, they will not have any easy sliding, as either of these teams will likely upset the dope. EFFICIENCY EXPERTS.

THE right way to end all wars is to put 'em in charge of efficiency experts. Nothing that an effish bird has charge of lasts very long. Everything on earth has a use and a place, but you'd have to drive three weejee boards tandem to discover the answer to this cuckoo. Efficiency is a new rash that has broken out in big business.

If a merchant prince is annoyed by his business, he puts the works in charge of an effish hound. In a week, there ain't no business to annoy him. The first thing that the effish duke does when he wheels into an office is to fire everybody who looks as if he has authority enough to fire charge of an effish hound. In a week, these ain't no business to annoy him. The first thing that the effish duke does when he wheels into an office is to fire everybody who looks as if he has authority enough to fire the effish gent.

He cuts down the overhead expenses by the same method that the indians cured the pioneers of dandruff. By scapping. Turn an expert loose in a Chinese laundry and he immediately fires all the Chinese. He pulis the spokes out of wheels, the cogs out of gears and breaks the teeth from saws. When there ain't anybody left in an office to fire, the expert hires new sapps who can do one-third of the work at one-half the salary. He cuts down the expenses by eliminating the receipts. After he is through with the outfit, the brass knob on the front door will last forever, and the "Welcome" on the doormat doesn't mean a thing. Then he goes home and plays horsey with his fair-haired baby with a conscience as clear as ocean water and just as salty. Wood alcohol is a tonic for that guy.

Both of the teams that have succeeded in taking the team that succeeded in the week. Colorado college is one of the two teams that has succeeded in the week. The colorado foor.

Nebraska's record in basket ball is one that has never been rivaled by Husker teams in previous years. With the exception of the defeat at the hands of Indiana, the Colorado duinted is the only one that has put the Huskers away.

Every office is about the same. There is the office boy who can answer one question wrong twice. Youth is the only thing that bars him from the senate. Then there is the blonde stenographer who chews gum in three speeds and reverses without stripping the gears. She wears $11 shoes, but is good to her mother. She can take dictation backward and typewrites it the same way. Three or four clerks who think the loose-leaf ledger is the Third Testament, and the boss make up the rest of the gang.

The old boat has been sailing along for centuries, everybody drinking out of one Lily cup without getting more than their pro rata share of the father wished it on him. Saturday afternoons off and two weeks vacation in the summer. All legal holidays including Washington's birthday and gum boils. When the clerks hitched up the A. E. F. the boss paid their she only one that has put the Huskers' away.

Both of the teams that have succeeded in trouncing Nebraska were the victims of the Nebraska on-slaught in second games, in which the margin of points was wider in the Huskers' victories. During a lull in common sense the boss paged an efficiency expert and the panic was on. When he got through with the office it would have made a fine bowling alley. There ain't any clerks left to eat up wages. There's no correspondence to chew up valuable ink, and no safe for a burglar to rifle. The spiders have another nest. The expert experted plenty. The woodprint on the walls, dated 1859, and showing the home factory when it was a mere ashbarrel, is right up to date.

But the boss is cherry, oh, as the effish expert has promised to get him
