

LAWLER WINS AS BRUEGEMAN FALLS IN FAINT

Handball Title Goes to Veteran When Younger Opponent Collapses During Final Game.

Eddie Lawler, veteran Omaha hand ball and base ball star, won the singles championship of the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon when his opponent, George Bruegeman, collapsed during the deciding game of the tournament.

Bruegeman was carried into the office of Physical Director N. J. Weston and revived.

Last week Bruegeman startled Y. M. C. A. hand ball circles when he decisively defeated G. G. Linn two games. Linn had never been defeated before in a tournament game here and had held the title for four years. Lawler defeated Eddie Dygert in the semi-finals last week.

Yesterday Lawler, the veteran, and Bruegeman, a much younger man, met for the championship. Bruegeman noted a victory in the first game, 21 to 19. Lawler captured the second game, 21 to 12. After a short rest they started on the deciding contest.

Bruegeman took the lead. He led Lawler, 7 to 4, after three minutes. Lawler made 1 and Bruegeman ran up to 11. Lawler's hand-in brought the first game to, 11 to 7. As Bruegeman went to serve he collapsed. Lawler was given the title by the committee in charge of the tournament. Bill Mickel, Rev. John Calvert and N. J. Weston.

Telegraphers Win.

"TWO AND THREE" "PUTTING THE NEXT ONE OVER" WITH "BUGS" BAER

THE Giants leave the snow flat on New York's back today. They're off to San Antonio, which is on the Mex horizon, only 40 miles inside prohibition. Right on the edge of an edge. Checker Champ Matty is in charge of the works, and it looks as if he laid the route out on a checker board.

The route lies through Albany, which is where the socialists don't go when they're elected to the assembly. Then through Buffalo, which is where all the honeymoons end. It's a queer way to reach Texas, and the team might as well keep right on and play an exhibition game with the Alaska Indians. There are no openings in checkers that have it on this for a queer start. After reaching Buffalo, the engineer turns the engine around and heads for Texas. It's a big state, and he oughtn't miss it with any kind of a break.

Still, there's no law to handicap Matty from taking the team anywhere provided he keeps within organized base ball. If this were the Yanks, we could figure that Ban Johnson laid out the trip for 'em. The train is made up of 47 cars. Eighteen sleepers and the rest dining boats. That's one sleeper and two dining cars for each player.

There are no Cubans on the trip this spring. The Cubes can't stand our 1920 dry climate. A Cube has to be oiled each day like a rubber plant. Every kind of vegetation sprouts in Cuba's luxuriant climate except a pump handle.

The start was slightly gummed by two of the rooks getting in a scrap over the size of Grand Central station, which hides a square mile of ground. A lad from Terwilliger, Ind., claims the Terwilliger depot is bigger, if you count the grass plot in front of the station. Which sounds fair enough.

Teacher sails from Cypa today and joins the class in San Antone.

Eddie Brannick wears the Fire Chief's hat from here to Texas and sees that none of the boys play hooky from the dining car. That ain't a tough job, as a red ant don't need no invitation to a picnic.

There's a rumor that one base ball writer has a trunkload of railroad dice concealed in his baggage. Railroad dice are sure wood alcohol every throw. They aren't any good on steamboats, but in a crowd—you'd be surprised. A guy controlling railroad bones can raise the fare to 100 smackers a mile. He's the conductor and the engineer and nobody travels on half-fare.

Don't be surprised if you hear of the Railroad administration moving out and B. Baer moving in. The government has controlled those loose rails long enough.

HUFFMAN "LIGHT SIX"

Big, Roomy and Comfortable—But Light in Weight

THE outstanding feature of the Huffman Six is LIGHT WEIGHT—not, however, to the extent that appearance, equipment or comfort is sacrificed.

- Indeed, your first impression on viewing this car will be its ample size, its sturdy construction, its luxurious appointments and its over-generous seating and leg room.
- It presents an air of elegance and distinction that you will not ordinarily find in cars of its price.
- A minute examination of its parts will reveal an assembly of units that are standard—and every one of them used in many cars of higher price.
- And more important still—when you ride in this car, you will find that our designing engineers have so combined these units as to produce an automobile of perfect poise and balance.
- You will find that it rides easier, moves freer, and shows more speed, power and pickup than any other automobile on the market, even though assembled from the same units.
- And, of course, its lighter weight means lower upkeep expense. The Huffman will appeal particularly to those who can appreciate $2,500.00 construction at $1,895.00.
