Strength and Nerve-Force.

Judging from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually being advertised for the purpose of making thin people fleshy, developing arms and neck, and replacing usly holiows and angies by the soft curved lines of health and beauty, there are evidently thousands of men and women who keenly feel their excessive thinness. Thinness and weakness are often due to starved nerves. Our bodies need more phosphate than is contained in modern foods. Physicians claim there is nothing that will surely this deficiency so well as the organic phosphate known among druggists as bitro-phosphate, which is inexpensive and is sold by most all druggists under a guarantee of astisfaction or money back.

Hy feeding the nerves directly and by supplying the body cells with the necessary phospheric food elements, bitro-phosphate should soon produce a welcome transformation in the appearance; the increase in weight frequently being astonishing.
