Douglas County Adult Probation Officer Recommended Pardon of Omaha Man Sentenced for Assault.

M. Andreasen, adult probation officer of Douglas county, admitted yesterday that he recommended James C. ("Red") Donahue to Governor for pardon. News of the pardon reached Chief Deputy County Attorney Coffey by a chance remark of a friend Wednesday night, who said, "I see 'Red' Donahue is out again."

Coffey. "You must be mistaken." Yesterday morning Mr. Coffey investigated and was astonished to find that Donahue had been granted pardon by the governor on

"I spent three days of my time and that of a jury and district judge in securing the conviction of this man," said Mr. Coffey. "And now I find that Governor McKelvie has pardoned him without even consult ing this office. I'd think the Kirk case would have had more effect."

Shotwell Is Indignant. "What!" exclaimed County Attorney Shotwell when Mr. Coffey told him of the governor's action. "You don't mean it! And without consulting or getting a recommendation from this office. I never head of such a thing. What good does it do to use the time and money and effort of the officers of this county if Governor McKelvie pardons criminals as soon as we get them convicted? It's disgusting."

Donahue was bound over from police court under $5,000 bond.

The jury which heard the case returned a verdict of assault and battery February 11, and Judge Troup sentenced Donahue to 60 days in the county jail February 16.
