and its fascinating work too

You will be very much surprised when you find how pleasant your work can be made by proper surroundings. The working conditions of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company long-lines department are as comfortable as long study of this particular phase of modern business has made possible. For example, a beautiful and artistically arranged rest room, where the girls spend their frequent rest periods; a phonograph and dance floor, where you may enjoy your choice of music or the dance; the below cost cafeteria, where only well-cooked food is served—all these for the convenience of you and your congenial co-workers—and, best of all, permanent employment with good pay and frequent increases.

Let us tell you personally more about our work. Come to Room 318 New Telephone Building and ask for Miss Bell.
