

FARMERS WANT BROAD-MINDED HEAD OF NATION

George S. Austin, Candidate For Delegate-At-Large, Declares Pershing Has Presidential Qualifications.

Orleans, Neb., March 13.—(Special.)—George S. Austin, prominent republican of this city, and at present a member of the constitutional convention from Harlan county, announced Friday his intention to file as a delegate-at-large to the republican national convention from Nebraska. Mr. Austin has been prominent for years in southwestern Nebraska. He has been active in business, and has always been a republican.

In announcing his intention to file, Mr. Austin said:

"The farming and business interests of the country demand an administration during the next several years headed by a man who is broad-minded and of recognized ability. The country needs an executive who will surround himself with men proficient in their various lines and big enough to work in harmony with him.

"If elected as delegate to the Chicago convention, I shall work and vote for the nomination of the candidate receiving the preferential vote of the republicans of this state. I can cheerfully support the candidacy of any one of the great leaders of the republican party of the nation upon whom the choice of the republicans of this state may fall.

"I hope that man may be our fellow-citizen, John J. Pershing, who has shown his great ability as an organizer, executive and leader, and whom I can cheerfully recommend. If, however, the republicans of this state should vote for any other candidate as their first choice for president, I shall feel bound to vote and work in accordance with their instructions."

Rider of White Horse At Riot Pleads Guilty; Fined $100 and Costs

William Francis, the youth who rode a white horse into the court house the night of the riot, September 28, 1919, and was reported to have urged the mob forward to take Will Brown, negro, from the county jail, pleaded guilty to a charge of unlawful assemblage and rioting before District Judge Troup Saturday and was fined $100 and costs.

The special grand jury, in spite of Francis' reported prominence in the riot crowd, did not return an indictment against him on any more serious charge than the one mentioned. Francis was reported to have gone to Iowa right after the riot. He returned to the state a few days later and gave himself up.

PEOPLE TO VOTE ON CODE LAW AT FALL ELECTION

Referendum Ordered by Supreme Court—Must Give Way Meantime to Old System.

Lincoln, Neb., March 12.—(Special.)—The state supreme court upheld today the legality of referendum petitions on the civil administrative code law, by which the 1919 legislature undertook to reorganize the executive department of the state government.

The decision means that the people will vote next fall on the question of whether or not they wish to approve the act, which established six secretaries appointive by the governor as executive officers in place of a series of boards composed of various elected state officers. In the meantime, under past practice and understanding of the law, the act is not operative and the officers who assumed posts last September under its presumed authority must give way to a restoration of the old system.

The ruling precipitates most serious questions of reorganization and involves the validity of scores of important acts of officers appointed and holding authority under the law which is now declared inoperative.

Governor McKelvie, the original champion of the administrative code in Nebraska, by whose influence it gained legislative favor, was manifestly surprised by the court's ruling.

In a statement issued at noon, the governor declared that "the effect of the decision will be so far-reaching that I cannot enumerate now the many things that must be done to meet it." Neither the governor nor Attorney General Davis indicated whether they will concede the restoration of the old governmental system or undertake a further court fight to sustain the operation of the code law.

Little Girl Hit by Truck Suffers Internal Injuries

The accident occurred at Twenty-fourth and Castelar streets when the girl attempted to cross the street. Her mother called her back an instant before the child was hit. Her injuries are internal. The girl was taken to her home. No arrest was made in the case.
