Burglars attempted to open a safe in the office of the Gilinsky Fruit company, 1015 Howard street, Satur-day night. The attempt was unsuccessful. Nothing in the office is Both bolts on the hinges of the safe door had been removed, but the combinatoin lock, however, held the door in place. No evidence of an explosive was found. Entrance to the office was gained through a rear

THE TRUSS FOREVER

Do Away With Steel and Rubber Bands That Chafe and Pinch

You know by your own experience the truss is a mere makeshift -a false prop against a collapsing wall-and that it is undermining your health. Why then continue to wear it? The binding and pressure prevent proper blood circulation, thus robbing the weakened muscles of the nourishment which they must have if you expect them to regain their normal strength and elasticity.

The Plapao-Pads are Different

STUARTS PLAPAO-PADS are entirely different from the device called the truss in the following respects:

First—The primary and most important object of the PLAPAO-PAD is to keep constantly applied to the relaxed muscles the medication called Plapac, which is contractive in nature, and taken together with the ingredients in the medicated mass, is intended to increase the circulation of the blood, thus revivifying the muscles and restoring them to their normal strength and elasticity. Then, and not until then, can you expect the rupture to disappear.

Second-Being made self-adhesive, "A" is the enlarged end of the PLAPAO-PAD, which overlies the atrophied and weakened muscles to keep them from giving away further. "B" is the Pad, to be applied in such a way that, it blocks up the hernial orifice, and tends to prevent the contents of the abdomen from protruding. Within the Pad is a reservoir, in which is placed a wonderful absorbent, astringent medication. When purposely to prevent the pad from shifting, they have therefore proven to be an important adjunct in retaining rupture that cannot be held by a truss. There is no metal about the PLAPAO-PADS—no straps, buckles or springs attached. No "Digging in" or grinding pressure. They are soft as veivet—Flexible—Easy to apply—Inexpensive. Upon Their Oath

Hundreds of people, old and young, have some before an efficer qualified to acknowledge eaths, and swore that the PLAPAO-PADS cured their rupture—some of them most aggravated cases—and of long standing.

Following are only a few of the hundreds of enthusiastic letters we have received from those cured. It is reasonable that the PLAPAO-PADS should do, the same for you if you will but give them a chance.

MABLE LISLE, R. F. D. 1, EDSON,

EAN., DECLARES, UNDER OATH:

"It has been some time ago that I was easy to see how your Plapao-Pada made the muscles firmer. I am now 66 years the muscles firmer. I am now 66 years old, and you don't know how much better old, and you don't know how much better values of years old, and was afflired with hernia since I was a child 5 years old—practically all my life, and you can imagine the freedom I feel since I gave Stuart's plapao-Pada a fair trial."

Bring About These Results

When the PLAPAO-PAD is successfully

MR. IRIS CLAUD, WING, ARK., DECLARES UNDER OATH:
"I am nineteen years of age, and had been ruptured for several years. I wore many different trusses, and only got temporary aid from any of them. Now I am well and sound and do sincerely express my gratitude for the relief given me by Plapao-Pada."

MR. L. C. JONES, MERRILL, WIS., DECLARES UNDER OATH: "I was cured while engaged in the hard-est kind of work, and now my doctor says

MR. CASPER HOELSCHER, RIVERIA, TEX., STATES UNDER OATH:

"The Plapac-Pads which I ordered from you sometime ago have done all in my case you claimed they would do. I find myself cured of a rupture of long standing at the age of sixty."

When the Plapac-Pad is successfully applied these wonderful benefits quickly follow:

—The ruptured parts are sustained and held together.

—The weak muscles recover their elacficity and strength.

—The unsightly, painful and dangerous

ticity and strength.

The unsightly, painful and dangerous protrusions disappear.

That horrible "dragging down" sensation is banished, never to return.

You recover the vigor, vitality, energy and strength you have lost.

Tou look better, you feel better, and you are better in every way. Everyone remarks upon your improved appearance. And relieved from the pain and discomfort of the rupture, and your dread of the consequences, you once more are able to enjoy life without fees of trouble.

To The RUPTURED

We want you to make a personal test of this remarkable scientific treatment at our expense, and the more severe the test the better we will like it. No matter if you have worn truss after truss and tried many "so-called cures" without benefit, don't give up hope.

We want to prove to you that you can conquer your rupture, right at home while going about your daily duties, and at the same time rid your-self of the disagreeable, torturous truss forever. This trial costs you nothing—now or ever. Nothing to be returned. Don't put this off—WRITE TODAY—RIGHT NOW—USE COUPON BELOW.

Once upon a time there was a Merchant-a Mer-for some time, in fact, ever since I left high school, and I've come to the conclusion that this little old town and your moth-eaten business are just a little bit too small for me, and much too slow, so I'm going to move.

"Oh, I've thought about this for a long time, and pretty carefully, too, and I've decided to leave town. No, I don't know just where I'm going, or when I'm coming back, but some day, Dad, I hope to come back.

"In the meantime, Dad, I want you to promise me something—you'll promise me, won't you? I'm going to be very busy—trying to make good—and if it's just the same to you, I'm not going to write to you unless I need you very much. And don't you write to me either, Dad, unless, of course, something goes wrong at Home, or you need me in the Business. You understand, don't you, Dad?"

It is needless to go into details. The Son left the Father in a very much surprised and thoughtful state of

It didn't take long for 10 years to go by, and in the meantime the Son had gone to the Big City, engaged in all kinds of work, from swamper on a wagon to a high executive position, and finally became an active member of Civic Organizations and Club Work in general.

After he felt that he had accomplished something

Real and Worth While, he decided to go Home and show Dad the success he had won for Himself; and the first thing you know he was on a Train speeding West, and arrived at his Former Home.

The train hadn't stopped before he was off the platform, and on a dead run to his Father's store. But in place of running into the old, musty, unkempt-appearing sort of a building front, he was amazed to find in its place a six-story, white-tile, modern Class-A building. When he tried to open the door, he was surprised to find a boy at the other side to pull it open for him. He was dazed. He couldn't understand it all. After a fond embrace, congratulations, and a lot of wild and loose talk, both by the Father and Son, the Father said, "Well, now let's not talk any more about this; I won't tell you a thing about it, but let's go Home. I'll have my car brought around, and tonight, after dinner, you and I are going to talk things over." And they did.

'You know, my boy, that was an awful 'kick in the shins' you gave me about 10 years ago, when you said that you were tired of my old ramshackle, moth-eaten, note-in-the-wall that I called a Business.

"I worked hard to build up my business, but you got me to thinking, and I did some real hard—and, I think, yes, I know, I did some real Constructive Thinking. got to chasing myself around, mentally, trying to find myself, and one day I did.

Do you know what it was I had to find out first of all, Boy? I had to learn that I was engaged in a worthy vocation. In other words, I had to know that my business was a Community Benefit. I also began to appreciate that this community looked upon me to supply it with the goods that the World had to offer for the Everyday Needs of the People.

"You see, I got to thinking along those lines, and I came to the conclusion that if Mine was a Worthy Vocation, I really ought to love my work. After I found that my Vocation was Worthy, I really did love my work, and did appreciate that my business was an Opportunity to serve Society, and to be a Benefit to the Community. "I never really noticed that I was a 'Celluloid-Collar Dub;' that my clothes were a bit mussed up; in fact, I noticed a little bit of egg on the lapel of my coat. I felt that I wasn't taking quite as good care of myself as I should. Possibly a few more Baths a week wouldn't have done any harm. I noticed that my shoes weren't

"Another thing I found in my Inventory of Self-Improvement-you know what a great fellow I was for talking politics and finding fault with anybody and everybody who tried to do anything-well, I jacked myself up one day and found that I wasn't voting as often as I should. Fine American citizen I was, wasn't I?

Remember how I used to find fault with things around town because they weren't progressive, and we were not doing things? Well, I really never did bring the Message Home to Myself, until one day I woke up and found out that I wasn't a member of the Chamber of Commerce. But I am now, you bet!

"My boy, after I got to sprucing up, and looking really like somebody, a sudden desire came to me in the way of ambition. There came to me the ambition to succeed. No, not only for the profit—in fact, the matter of profit didn't enter into the feeling at all. I felt the responsibility that My Business was a Community Representative, therefore it was my duty to make it success-
