

Jealous Wife Hangs Self and 2 Children; Husband Guiltless

London, March 17.—A married woman's groundless jealousy led to an unprecedented tragedy at Magda-burg, Germany. Arthur Fruhbuss, a teacher of dancing in the town, recently entered into partnership with a dancing mistress, formerly employed in the Municipal Theatre.

Fruhbuss's wife was under the impression that he was paying un-due attention to his business partner, and violent scenes frequently occurred between the couple.

When Fruhbuss returned home from the dancing academy recently he was horrified to find the dead bodies of his wife and two children hanging from a gas chandelier in the drawing room, and his two months' old baby drowned in the bath.

Fruhbuss subsequently appeared before the Magistrate and proved to his satisfaction that his wife's suspicions of his infidelity were entirely devoid of foundation.

Ex-Housemaid Seeks Parliament Seat Now
London, March 17.—Along with the ladies and duchesses being "mentioned" for the House of Commons since Lady Astor took her seat there is an ex-housemaid.

Miss Jessie Stephens left domestic service to win a place on the Bermondsey Borough council.

"A seat in Parliament will come later," she says. She would eliminate stone steps that have to be scrubbed, make it illegal for houses to have corners that collect dust, install central heating and climate coal grates and make a municipal laundry take care of everybody's wash.

Rabbits Dead at Cliff Bottom; Suicide Report
Hagerstown, Md., March 17.—The discovery of several hundred cotton-tails at the bottom of a cliff 100 feet high, at Sharpsburg, near here, has aroused much discussion of the question "do rabbits commit suicide?" Many persons declare the rabbits deliberately jumped over the cliff. Hunters, however, ridicule this idea and declare the "bunnies" slipped on the ice-coated cliff.
