

HAD TERRIBLE COUGH AND NIGHT SWEATS

Cough about gone, eats and sleeps well, and gained 12 pounds.

"In December, 1918, I had a fearful cough, and my physician ordered me to change climate immediately. I went to San Antonio, Tex., and entered a sanatorium. Left there and came to Oklahoma City in October, 1919. Had no appetite, could not sleep, had night sweats and was losing from one to three pounds a week. I also had catarrh of the bowels, which the doctors had been unable to relieve.

"Relatives urged me to try Milks Emulsion. I did so and began to improve, slowly at first, but steadily. My weight has increased 12 pounds. I have no temperature, and my cough is about gone. I can eat heartily, sleep well, and am working at my trade again."—V. W. Neff, 610 No. Dewey St., Oklahoma City, Okla.

Pay Car, Abandoned by Government Control, Is Revived by Railroad

For the first time in more than a decade a pay car is going over the Kansas City and Omaha division of the Missouri Pacific, paying off all employees and checking names to make sure that no "straw" men are carried on the rolls.

This method of payment was abandoned years ago by virtually all railroads. Employees were paid by checks sent to agents at various stations, or to divisional executives. It is understood that the Missouri Pacific pay car, an honored institution in former days with all roads, will not be permanent, and will be withdrawn as soon as a check of employees has been made.

Other methods with much the same end in view are being carried out by all railroads, as part of the necessary auditing connected with the resumption of private control.

According to Union Pacific officials their system of auditing continued in effect during the period of government control and no special inspection is required at this time.

WOMAN AT WHEEL AS HIGHJACKERS BATTLE POLICE

Make Their Escape at Florence Field Following Gun Fight With City Detectives.

Covering the retreat of their gang in a high-powered automobile driven by a woman, three highjackers engaged pursuing detectives in a gun battle on a lonely hillside at the entrance to Florence field early yesterday morning. The gang and the rear guard both escaped.

Tall weeds, through which the trio slowly retreated, and the darkness of the night, destroyed the detectives' aim, and they failed to find a target for the score of bullets they fired into the field.

Officers Baldwin, Franks, Graham, Jensen, Toland and Trapp, on the night detail of detectives scouring the city for highjackers, suddenly came upon two automobiles parked at North Thirtieth street near Van, at a yesterday morning.

Surprised at the appearance of the officers, the larger car, piloted by a woman who crouched low over the wheel, made a record getaway in a cloud of dust and smoke, its high power evidenced by the loud bark of the exhaust.

The smaller car was jammed against the curb and could not escape. Three men leaped from it, ran up the hill into the tall weeds, and the battle began.

The deserted automobile was later identified as having been stolen from M. Tuchman, Twenty-fifth and Harney street, Tuesday night.

Both cars were badly wrecked.

The Ampico Reproducing Piano is The Only Instrument That Fully and Exactly Reproduces The Playing of the Great Artists, Just As They Play on The Concert Stage

This exclusive perfection has been publicly demonstrated by many comparison recitals. Here the pianist, whose art was being reproduced, played a selection personally, and, immediately, the Ampico repeated the same composition for direct comparison. The great musical critics could distinguish no difference.

The Ampico is the only instrument that would admit this absolute test. It is the only instrument that has proven its genuine reproducing ability.

A piano in your home, seldom played, sometimes played indifferently, does not produce MUSIC.

The Ampico in your home, will.

It will play for you the world's best music, as the best living masters of the pianoforte play it. Its music will take possession of you, turn out all the ills that pile in upon you when things go wrong, make you see things in a better light, and give you the rest, confidence and strength you need for your daily tasks.
