

ONION, RADISH AND CARROT PRICES IN AIR

Array of Asparagus, Parsnips, Cabbage, Lettuce, Turnips And Other Vegetables on Market This Week.

The fragrant green, onion, blushing radish, and healthful carrot may no longer be despised, for they are away out of the class of cheap vegetables now and rank with the most expensive that may grace the family table. Green onions, radishes and carrots are on the market in considerable numbers now, but the long railroad trip they take reaching Omaha makes aristocrats of them. All sell at about 15 cents per bunch.

A veritable array of vegetable treats awaits the marketer this week. Asparagus is now to be had and parsnips are just coming into their own season. The latter is plentiful and is being sought by housewives. To the new arrivals must be added cabbage, lettuce, turnips, and the others that have been available all winter. Cabbage is still selling at 10 cents at most groceries, and head lettuce, still plentiful, at about the same price asked last week.

Fruit Prices Tumble.

Whether the grocers' drive on the H. C. L. was responsible is not known, but during the past week fruit prices suffered a slight tumble. Oranges, selling at about 90 cents per dozen a week ago, may be had this week at about 80 cents. Grape fruit is also down a few cents, but lemons remained steady. Potatoes, on the other hand, took the advent of the drive and the appearance in the field of a federal fair price commissioner as a time to go up in price, and are generally quoted at a slight increase over last week's prices.

Poultry Off Market.

Wholesalers put beef prices up about 5 cents on the pound during the week, meat dealers decline, but at many markets the increase has not yet been passed on to customers. Lamb is scarce, the butchers say, and prices have been growing gradually. Pork remained steady. Poultry is almost off the market, according to reports. Hens sell wholesale at about 38 cents, and roosters 5 cents cheaper. These prices are slightly lower than those of a few weeks ago, in spite of the decrease in the supply.

One of the sure signs of spring reported by grocers is a demand for garden seed. Seed racks have been set up in many stores, and early buying indicates that Omaha acquired a habit when it began planting war gardens a few years back.

Omaha Girl Is Given $3,000 Damages From Los Angeles Hotel

How many dollars should a pretty girl be entitled to collect as damages for being forcibly ejected from a hotel? Miss Irene Stecher, daughter of Mrs. Anna Stecher, 2927 South Twentieth street, has been awarded a verdict for $3,000 by a Los Angeles jury. She brought suit for $10,000.

The judgment was against F. M. Dimmick, lessee of the Clark hotel. It was alleged by Miss Stecher that she had been unjustly asked to give up her room for violation of a house rule.

It was set out in the complaint filed by Miss Stecher that, with her mother, she left Omaha July 12 for a western trip. In Los Angeles Miss Stecher met a young man who occasionally visited her at the hotel. While he was present one evening, it was alleged, hotel employees ordered the young woman from the room, falsely accusing her of conduct imputing guilt of impropriety and immorality.

No Charges Filed Against John Lehnars, Salesman

John Lehnars, stock salesman, arrested on the South Side Monday for the alleged passing of a worthless check upon Henry Boren, 2425 N street, has been released from custody. No charges were filed against him.

Lehnars states that the story that he is the man who sold the passenger elevator privileges of the W. O. W. building to a farmer is "bunk" and that his arrest was a frame-up.

No Stolen Goods Found at 205 South Twenty-Fourth

Detectives recovered two trunks filled with stolen goods at 204 South Twenty-fifth street last Tuesday instead of at 205 South Twenty-fourth street, as was erroneously given out by police.
