Former Heavyweight Champion Declares French Champ Is Good Enough for Title Fight Now.

Chicago Tribune-Omaha. He heard him. New York, March 29.—James J. Corbett is positive that the contemplated fight between Jack Dempsey and Georges Carpentier will not be a one-sided affair.

Not Picking Winner. "I want it distinctly understood that I am not attempting to pick the winner of the Carpentier-Dempsey fight," said Corbett when asked regarding his impressions of the Frenchman.

"Carpentier is heavy enough to battle with any heavyweight for the championship. Of course, a man to aspire to the title has to have a certain amount of weight behind him, but a man of Carpentier's weight is heavy enough.

"Carpentier weighs 173 pounds and probably would step into the ring against Dempsey at that weight. Dempsey's weight is about 15 pounds more than that. When I fought Peter Jackson in 1891, I weighed 138, five pounds less than Carpentier.

Is Very Scientific. "However, I do not want to create an impression that I do not believe Dempsey is clever and that I am picking a winner for the fight. But what I want emphasized is the fact that I believe reports that the battle will be uninteresting because Carpentier is not heavy enough are not well founded.

However, the boys will gamble on the base ball games, and quite a few sticks of chewing gum and cigarette cards changed hands on yesterday's game. It was the best tableaux of the series, but first we want to chirp you about the umpire situation which now seems to be well on the road to recovery.
