Typography Talk No. 1

Webster defines Typography as "the art or ART of expressing by means of types or symbols." Since the days of Guttenberg, the inventor of type, this art has been advancing with the times, and typographical artists today have at their command thousands of different styles and faces of types, each designed for a certain expression in the printed form. The knowledge of the proper use of these types constitutes the artist; and the modern printer knows that correct typography is most essential to the production of perfect printing.

Wallace Reid Proves He Is Speed Demon as Well as Comedy Star

WALLACE REID in "EXCUSE MY DUST" A PARAMOUNT AIRCRAFT PICTURE

Wallace Reid proves that he is a speed demon of parts as well as an entertaining comedy star in his new picture, "Excuse My Dust," which opens a seven days' run at the Strand theater this evening.

Mr. Reid has the role of the young manager of the "Darco" auto agency. His business rivals, the "Fargot" people, are most anxious to secure a sketch of the new "Darco" motor, supposed to be a marvel for speed and power. Accepting a challenge for a road race, Wallace is fouled by his rivals, but manages to cripple them so that Theodore Roberts, in the role of "The Bear," president of the "Darco" company flashes over the line a winner.

Ann Little makes an exceedingly attractive leading woman. Tully Marshall and Guy Oliver are also in the supporting cast. Not the least important member of the company is the talented little child-actor who plays Toodles, jr., in the films, Will M. Ritchey adapted the picture from a magazine story by Byron Morgan. It is designed as a sequel to "The Roaring Road," Wallace Reid's previous auto racing picture. Sam Wood directed and it is a Paramount Aircraft.

A tool box, which can be locked, is included within one of the doors of an up-to-date automobile.

Women Stick to Douglas County Criminals With Steadfast and Unwavering Devotion

Wives of Kirk, Grammer, Donaghue, Bigamists, and Attackers All Remain True.

"The love of woman is past finding out," said the philosopher. And men have been quoting the saying for centuries.

In the courts of Douglas county it is a continual source of wonder among men that women "stick" to even the worst criminals with a steadfastness that is beyond the comprehension of men.

"I have never known of a criminal case where the man's wife did not stick to him, with the exception of a few where the husband was accused of wife and child abandonment, and one or two where the man had been unfaithful to his wife," said County Attorney Shotwell.

Accepts No Charges.

"As long as the man still professes devotion to his wife, nothing can make her abandon him to his fate and she won't believe anything against him, no matter who the witnesses are."

"A woman came into my office a few weeks ago and asked to have her husband brought back from another state. He had abandoned her and their five small children. She was so insistent that we sent and had him brought back. He declared he was suffering from tuberculosis though he didn't look it."

"Then the woman changed. She asked to have the case dismissed and, on the husband's promise to support his family, I dismissed it."

Now Sends Him Money.

"No sooner was the fellow free than he fled from the city again. We located him in Denver and were about to send for him when his wife came in. She said she didn't believe her husband was well and that she was sending him money to help support him in Denver. We dismissed the case."

Mr. Shotwell also mentioned a recent case in which a man was arrested and charged with bigamy. Within a few months he had married two young women in Omaha. And neither of these was his lawful wife. His lawful wife was living in another state.

Complaint was brought against the man by the last wife he had married, a beautiful young woman, many years younger than the bigamist.

Omaha Officials Cite Specific Instances in District Court of Faithfulness.

The Douglas county district court illustrated the devotion of a wife. The man, middle-aged, was accused of attacking a 14-year-old girl. His wife sat by his side all through the trial and did everything in her power to secure his acquittal.

"I would consider it a phenomenon if I saw a man being tried, and did not see his wife standing by him," said Mr. Coffey. It's rather different when a woman is on trial. The husband remains very much in the background. I recollect a case about a year ago where a married woman shot another married woman because the latter was "vamping" the husband of the former, she alleged.

"The husbands of the women did not appear in the court at all, though the husband of the woman who was on trial lived here in Omaha and the husband of the other not far distant."

Bootleg Drives Him to Dance Unclad In Streets

Denver, April 3.—"Wonderful bootleg" was the explanation offered by Frank Tucker, 36, when police found him, sans clothing doing an interpretive dance in the Greek theater that graces Denver's civic center at 6 a. m. with the mercury hovering around zero.

The "anti-freeze" he had imbibed probably prevented him being frozen to death, police said.

Several Appersons Used In Production At Strand This Week

According to information received from the producers, several Appersons were using in the exciting road race shown in Wallace Reid's latest success, "Excuse My Dust," which is being exhibited at the Strand during the coming week.

Some of the old-time followers of the racing game will no doubt call to mind the fact that the Apperson Bros. were among the first automobile manufacturers to enter the racing game years ago. In 1905 and 1906 Appersons won a number of the races held in the east and, according to the opinion prevalent among the race fans in Omaha, the Apperson was the first car to negotiate the coast-to-coast trip. In 1909 the Apperson pulled down first money in the Santa Monica race, held at Los Angeles.

The Apperson people claim credit for building the first four-door automobile, first chummy roadsters, the first custom-built bodies, the first to use electrical ignition and the first to use the now universal float feed carburetor.

According to the Apperson Motor Company of Nebraska, the Apperson also holds first place in the estimation of the multitude of motorists, and to further this idea they have just leased a much larger building at 2526 Dodge, for the purpose of rendering better service to Apperson owners.

Kuropatkin, Friend of Late Czar, Is Now a Bolshevik Governor

London, April 3.—General Kuropatkin, commander-in-chief of the czar's imperial armies during the Russian-Japanese war, and lifelong personal friend of the Romanoffs, has been appointed bolshevik governor of Turkestan. His appointment by the Lenine government follows his capture by the bolsheviks when he was acting as Turkestan governor under the old regime. He was condemned to death by the revolutionaries, and his personal popularity with his soldiers was the only thing that saved him from being shot.
