

COLLECTING MANY THINGS, INCLUDING DOLLARS, FOOD, WOOD AND HUSBANDS

A picture from a frame in this group of Smith College Alumnae in the costumes of 1922. From left to right the girls are: Miss Agnes Pike, 1919; Miss Hazel Toolan, 1917; Miss Sylvia Smith, 1917; Miss Sophia Smith, 1913, who is related to Sophia Smith, founder of the college; Miss Esther Ann Wherry, 1910; Miss Belle Coale, 1908; Miss Ruth Dietrich Tuttle, 1909; Miss Elizabeth Hillis, 1919. They gave a unique tableau at a luncheon in the Hotel Pennsylvania, New York City, to further their campaign for the $4,000,000 endowment fund.

Poor people of Vienna, after cutting wood all day in a forest near Vienna, waiting to take the car back to the city. The forest in which they gather the fuel lies several miles from the capital. It was the royal preserve of ex-Empereur Charles. Those desiring to procure fuel and willing to work for it, trudge out to the forest, cut their supply and depart homeward. Thus do some of the poor solve the problem of getting fuel to keep them and their families from freezing.

A pitiful sight in Erivan, Armenia, showing starving children of the city in the children's bread line. Often they must stand in line for hours to receive a morsel of bread.

Miss Flora Payne Whitney, prominent member of the younger set and daughter of Harry Payne Whitney of New York and Newport, whose engagement to Roderick Tower of Philadelphia has been announced. Mr. Tower is the son of Charlemagne Tower, former American Ambassador to Germany, Austria and Russia. He is a Harvard graduate and served as an officer in the U. S. Air Service during the war.

Miss Helene Landry, who has been appointed as an attache to the French Ministry of Marine by her father, M. Landry, head of the marine department in the new Miller cabinet. This is the first case of a woman holding such an appointment in France. The new attache has the necessary qualifications for the post. She is a licentiate in philosophy and law, and well informed on matters of marine law and procedure.

Miss Megan Lloyd George, the pretty young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd George, is at present at school in Paris. Miss Lloyd George has acted as private secretary to her mother, and was very active during the war.

This unique, home-manufactured automobile is attracting much attention whenever seen in the streets of London driven by its builder. A window shade on a roller is used to keep the engine warm. The body is of hardwood and is carved and decorated in a picturesque manner.

Photograph recently received from Berlin showing hundreds of orphaned, starving children, or those whose parents are unable to care for them, about to depart for Norway, Denmark and Sweden, whose governments and people have offered them help, and, in many cases, adoption. Nurses are giving the little tots goodies to help cheer the journey to the Scandinavian countries.
