Indianapolis, April 7.-The nomination of a republican candidate for president at Chicago will be made Only Hoover and Johnson are only after many ballots, and perrunning in California, and the conhaps he will be a candidate now not actively in the running, Joseph B. Kealing, former national committeeman of Indiana, said here today. Kealing's statement attracted wide ittention because of his recognized political wisdom. The former national committeeman did not state his preference, but it is believed he will favor General Pershing as compromise candidate

Besides General Wood the candidates to be voted on in Indiana include Senator and the proceeds divided among the Harding, Governor Lowden and senator Johnson. South Dakota Blizzard

Admittedly General Wood's chances to carry the Hoosier state have been dimmed by his severe reverse in Michigan. He is further handicapped by the fact that in the next three weeks he must compete with three candidates running before their home electorates-Lowden in Illinois on May 13, Pershing in Nebraska on May 20, and Hardng in Ohio on May 27

The campaigns of Lowden, Per-shing and Harding are all pitched on the theory that any one of them would make a wide popular appeal as the party nominee and none of them are so-called favorite sons, and that each of them will win the test in his home state seems certain.

Has Hard Fight. If General Wood is unsuccessful his effort to take the home delegations of Lowden, Pershing and Harding, counting Michigan, he would come to Indiana with a record of four straight defeats. None of the candidates except Wood are making a direct fight for the Indiana delegation. What Harding, Lowden and Johnson want is an uninstructed delegation. In this they are supported, by the two United states senators. Watson and New, and Governor Goodrich.

With four candidates in the race it will easily be seen that this is next to impos-sible. If none of the candidates gets a clear majority the delegation will go to Chicago uninstructed.

South Daleota Coal Vein Struck by Well Drillers

Aberdeen, S. D., April 7.—(Special.)—While drilling a well on the farm of Henry J. Kienast, about six miles south of Wetonka in Edmunds county, workmen struck, about 300 feet below the surface, a vein of coal about 40 feet in thickness. The spread of the vein has not been determined, but it is believed to be very large. The samples brought to the surface by the drill show that the vein is more like anthracite coal than lignite, being considerably harder than the latter.
