HELP SHORTAGE CREATES HAVOC IN WINE CELLARS

Fear of Losing Servants Prevents New York Victims of Robbery From Prosecuting.

New York, April 12.—An increase of 25 per cent in burglary insurance rates which has just been put into effect has brought to light the fact that employers, made timid by the shortage of domestic workers, are tolerating thefts from their ward-robes and wine cellars in order to retain the few servants they have "in captivity." Officials of indemnity companies, who give this explanation, declare that in many cases emitted the evident assent of Creek Rabson. ployers have refused to allow the servants in their households to be questioned about thefts, through

The committee has compelled the The committee has compelled the administration to abandon publication of 111 out of 226 periodicals at a saving of $1,200,000 annually, has curtailed the allowances for field printing plants $898,100 and reduced the output of the government printing office to such an extent that $908,184 was saved on print paper alone this year.

alone this year. Stop Publication.

The committee caused Creel to cease publication of the official United States Bullentin April 1. 1919, but soon found that it was being continued as a private enterprise under the name of the United States Bulletin by Roger W. Babson, chief of the information and education service of the Department of Labor.

"The prime mover in the secret negotiations by which the Bulletin was turned over to Babson without a cent of compensation to the government appears to have been Ed-ward S.
