ADVERTISING YOUNG WIFE'S EXPERIENCE

Sickness and Suffering all Removed by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Plainwell, Mich.—"I had such severe pains in my back and head that I could hardly stand on my feet before my baby came. I could do just a little work and then had to sit down. I took doctor's medicine without relief and my mother advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The first bottle helped me so much that I got more and now I have a son eight months old, the picture of health. I have also found that Vegetable Compound relieves pain at monthly periods. I tell all my friends who are suffering what it has done for me."
—Mrs. LILLIAN DOUGLAS, 318 Plainwell Street, Plainwell, Michigan.
Young women who suffer as Mrs. Douglas did should not hesitate to give this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a trial, as the evidence that is constantly being published proves beyond question that this grand old remedy has relieved more suffering among women than any other medicine.
For confidential advice write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of their forty years experience is at your service.

Automobile Riding.
Dear Miss Fairfax: We are two girls in the junior class, 16 and 17. We are in love with two young men in town. We want to know if, when we are out riding in a car that is crowded, if it is wrong to sit on their laps? Is it wrong to allow them to put their arms around us? And if so, what should we do? We are not in town? They gave us a diamond ring and a diamond locket for our birthday. Should we accept them? What kind of a dress would you suggest for a junior-senior banquet? How late should we stay out car riding? Should they come to the door with us or say goodnight at the car?

Thanking you for your advice.
MUTT AND JEFF.
When these young men are out of town it would be a good chance to get in some healthful out-door sports and early hours for sleep, don't you think? You probably neglect these very necessary things when you are out car-riding so often. Otherwise I see no reason why you should not go out with other young men. Right now you ought to be laying the foundation for a wholesome woman-

Give yourselves a chance to develop physically and mentally and you will soon instinctively know, right or wrong. If you must necessarily ride in a crowded car I see nothing particularly wrong about sitting in the young men's laps; but why ride at all under such conditions? It can't be either comfortable or enjoyable. You should not allow the families you speak of and you should not accept expensive gifts from these men. Girls your age should be in by 11. The men should accompany you to the door when returning from a ride. For your high school banquet light-colored georgette or voile would be suitable, made in a simple girlish style; organdie is less expensive and very pretty too.

Clothes for Travel.
Dear Miss Fairfax, Omaha Bee: Like many others, I shall come to you for advice. My mother and myself are going to visit Europe during the summer months. I am five feet, nine inches; light-haired and blue-eyed. I want to know what kind of material you would advise to get for a "steamer" suit? Also what color and how to make it? I have a nice dress suit and I want one to stand the weather and wear. Please advise me in The Omaha Bee. Thanking you in advance, I remain, a READER.
Blue serge or tricotine in good quality would be an excellent choice for steamer wear. You would look well in brown, and might prefer a brown duvetyne. You will wish to have at least one dinner gown. I should think a black taffeta, with short sleeves, becoming style, would give you good service. Being tall, you will wear drapes and overskirts well. Fashion books are full of good suggestions for the making.

Asked-to-Find-Out—The girl you speak of should be less critical of her mother and more helpful. Sixteen is early in life for a girl to get out and work, but if the mother is a widow and has smaller children to support, the 16-year-old girl should certainly do her part toward helping.

Marcie: If you are tired at night don't do the exercise. Don't when you are already exhausted will only make matters worse and you will not stick to them. Can't you do them in the morning on arising—just before the bath or after? If you will do them mornings I'll wager you will not be so tired at night—providing, of course, you get your necessary amount of sleep every night.

Those wonderful ways that Mother had of making "meal time" mean so much to us—

Mother was a wonderful gardener. Never will we forget those big green peas that came from Mother's garden—but it's not the memory of that carefully cultivated vegetable patch which keeps fresh in our minds those thoughts of her—it is the sweeter memories of those wonderful ways she had of making "meal-time" the happiest hours of our lives that stick with us so forcibly.

Mother's "Pea Boats" were famous—and the pride and joy which came from their deliciousness stamped indelibly Mother's mastery of kitchencraft.

Mother's every hour was made rich in anticipation of seeing us kiddies devour the goodies she made in her kitchen—the beaming sparkle in our eyes, the fat little faces all covered with smiles and happiness, fanned Mother's love into almost superhuman accomplishments.

Mother's love was a part of her bread recipe—it was that most wonderful ingredient which made it possible for Mother to establish the Bread Standards of the World. Can it be wondered at, then, that she found so many wonderful ways of serving bread dishes?

But times have changed. Today the bread-baking is done in the bakeries—those wonderful modern kitchens, so spotlessly clean and all snow white, equipped so scientifically that the utmost in deliciousness and nutriment is a certainty. Try a loaf of Tip-Top or Hard Roll Bread today—we make them so good that they will bring back to you those memories of Mother's breads, and will, for that reason alone, make your enjoyment in them the greater.

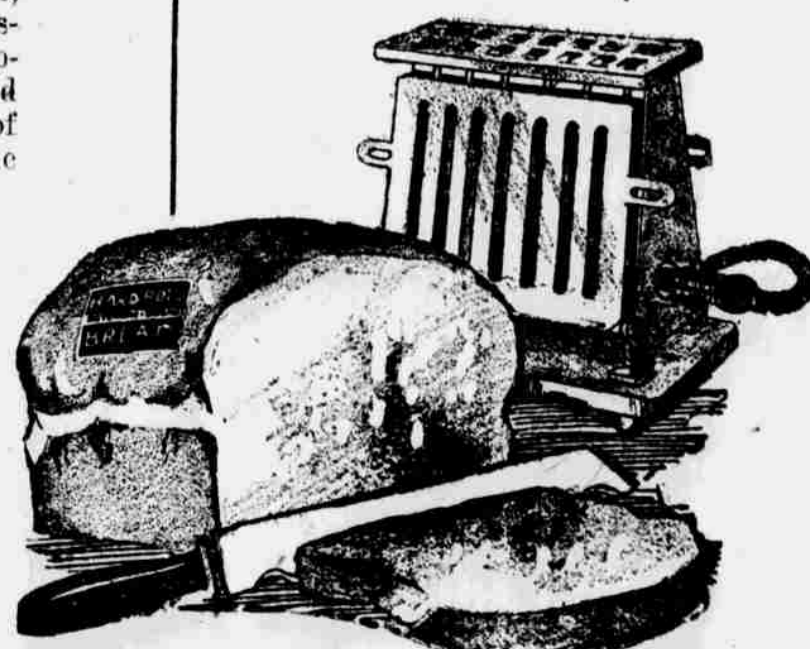

Petersen & Pegau Baking Co.

Mother's recipe for "Pea Boats"

Pea Boats were Mother's Pea Patties—and to serve them adds just that little distinctiveness to your meal that brings a realization of thrift, love and enjoyment in your work.

Cut from day-old bread slices of from an inch and a half to two inches in thickness; trim off all crust, toast outer edge and bottom all around. While still warm take sharp knife and trim out the center, being careful not to puncture bottom. Sides should be about a quarter of an inch in thickness. Fill with creamed peas just before serving.

These bread boats also serve creamed chicken, or scalloped oysters, in wonderful taste. Try them on the family and you'll find them most attractive for small party functions.
