with "Dugs batr In order to enjoy today's disorder spectators should be on speaking terms with the rules. Baseball has made nimble strides since the Pilgrim Fathers discovered that their feet just fitted the rock up Plymouth way. In the old days there were five rules on each hand and players exercised the power of referendum and recall on the ump by using his skull as the foundation for a new brick bungalow.

But base ball is no longer a weed growing in the garedn of civilzation. Boston, April 17.—Boston defeat- They've surrounded the game with rules until it looks like a raisin in a vat ed Washington, 2 to 1, Saturday, of beevo. The old-time gorilla who used to shake hands with his spikes Hooper's single to deep center field has given way to the athlete who parts his hair with the grain and never speaks or bats above a whisper.

> In order to prevent the pitcher from soiling the ball, the rule crocheters have succeeded in soiling the afternoon. No pitcher can put a condition on the leather with the aid of a borrowed chew and a knowledge of chiropractics. If a pitcher rubs the baseball against his uniform it's a violation of ethics like a male toe dancer. This rule is tough were do on the twirlers who merely used to scratch emselves in a friendly way with no thought of deceiving the batter.

Throwing to first with no runner on is a ball. This will compel the pitchers to divide their attention between the grandstands and the baselines. The use of any chemical on the ball is forbidden by the new rules. The pitchers can detour this amendment by drinking ether and wood alcohol and then breathing on the pill. There is no law against breathing if you stay away from Ocean Grove or Philadelphia on Sunday.

All the legislation seems to be slung at the pitchers. An infielder or outfielder can boot 'em railroad, Bronx or cuckoo time, but a pitcher must make his overthrows according to rules. The only mistake the owners made this spring was sending their pitchers south instead of to the Laughing Room in the Carnegie library.

The rule makers seem to be working with the idea of making two teams lose one ball game. The umpire wears two rule books for shin guards and fines players 10 alphabets instead of dollars.

It may be base ball, but the old time bugs will soon be yearning for the old days when knuckles were bouquets and a sour decision was immediately sweetened up with a barrage of young cobble stones.

CAR

A Scientific Development

Your eyes alone will tell you that our new "Glenbrook" is one of the handsomest/five-passenger cars that has ever been designed. But in order to really appreciate this model, you must take an actual demonstration on the road.

Then-and then only-will you understand what our engineers have accomplished in three years of patient experiment work and testing. Then-and then only-will you realize what giant strides have been made in motor and chassis development.

The "Glenbrook," you must remember, is a strictly modern car. It was developed during a period of world wide mechanical research and represents the last word in automotive science. It is actually and literally a motor car developed by the war.

Just what these new standards of engineering have accomplished will be quite evident in a single demonstration. It will prove a liberal education, we believe, if you will permit our dealer to arrange for an appointment.
