

JUDGE ADVISES WHIPPINGS FOR BOYS' SENTENCE

Sound Thrashing Will Teach Lads Not to Steal, Court Tells Mothers, Who Promise to Do It.

Mrs. John Piletosky, 3414 V street, yanked her 12-year-old son, Barney, by a series of jerks and cuffs from the juvenile court room yesterday. She did this as an evidence of good faith to Juvenile Judge Sears who had just let the boy go on condition that his mother would "give him a good, sound, satisfying thrashing."

"I'll certainly do that, judge. Leave it to me," she said. "I'll teach him to go stealing things."

Parents of Morris Vanlong, 3618 T street, and William Butkers, 3504 U street, made similar promises. The boys had admitted stealing $6.50 from the home of Mrs. O. Osterling, 4605 R street, a week ago.

Something to Remember.

"Don't be afraid to lay it on thick," said Judge Sears. "Give them something to remember. Some boys can be admonished out of doing wrong and some just have to be thrashed out of it. I think this is a case where the thrashing prescription applies best."

"Doesn't matter if they can't sit down for a day or two after you teach them this lesson. Do them good to stand up."

"And you, Barney, Morris and William, let this teach you that the way of the transgressor is hard. You knew you were doing wrong when you stole these things. You thought you were so sly and clever that you wouldn't be found out. But you weren't, were you? No, you were just a lot of fool boys. You're bright boys, but you're not bright enough to fool the world.

"This licking you're all going to get is just a little reminder of the fact that punishment, in one form or another, is sure to come to you if you disobey the laws of the world. It's to keep you from keeping on doing wrong until you're men when the punishment may be much worse than a whipping."

The parents were told to be in court with the boys two weeks hence to report on the whippings administered and the subsequent behavior of the boys.

Dunn and Foster Lead Early Official Count Of Police Judge Vote

Henry Dunn, formerly chief of police, and Charles Foster, at present a police judge, are favored for the republican nomination for police judge, as indicated by complete official returns from the 14 precincts of the First ward, tabulated up to noon yesterday by the canvassing board in Election Commissioner Moorhead's office. However, Julius Cooley and Joseph Marrow are running strong and Cooley will be still stronger in some of the other wards, it is believed.

In the First ward the results were as follows: Dunn, 584; Foster, 562; Cooley, 319; Marrow, 306.
