

BROTHERS FACE EACH OTHER IN DISTRICT COURT

Father and Son Accuse Their Brother and Cousin of Assault and of Painting Fine Bull Yellow.

The old drama of thrills and heart throbs, "Brother Against Brother," seemed to be on the boards in county court yesterday, where Charles A. Lonergan and his son, David, were accused of assault with intent to inflict great bodily injury upon William Lonergan and his son, Hugh. William is a brother of Charles, and they have lived for many years on adjoining farms five miles northwest of Florence.

Charles and William have not spoken a friendly word to each other for 10 years," said Attorney J. C. Kinsler for the defendants.

The feud started when their father died, and William was displeased at the provisions of the will. William has beaten Charles with clubs. He has prayed for the day to come when his son, Hugh, would be strong enough to thrash his brother, Charles.

Painted Five Bulls Yellow.
"Once a fine bull belonging to Charles wandered to the farm of William. He painted it yellow and put a sign on it, '$30,000 Hog-Maybe'."

Charles Lonergan is the owner of a famous hog for which he has been offered $30,000. He is also prominent as a pure bred cattle owner.

The alleged assault occurred the evening of March 24 on a bridge near the scene of the murder of Mrs. Claude Nethaway, north of Florence. It is now known as the "Nethaway bridge."

William Lonergan, 62 years old, testified that he and his son, Hugh, were driving home from Florence in a buggy. Arriving on the bridge they found his brother, Charles Lonergan and his son, David, their automobile apparently stalled in the middle of the bridge so they couldn't pass. He testified they waited 35 minutes but, as the other Lonergans declined to get out of the way he backed up his team to go home by another road.

Brother Strikes at Brother.
"My son, Hugh, was at the rear of the wagon, keeping it in the middle of the bridge as I backed when Charles came and struck at him," he testified. "His son came back and helped him and before I could get out they had knocked Hugh down and were kicking him. Then I took a heavy oil can and hit my brother with it."

Robert Hughes, a salesman for the Hughes Grocery Co., arrived at the scene just after the fight.

"Charles Lonergan came up to my car and said, 'Get out and I'll lick you, too,' Hughes testified. "He appeared to be drunk. Hugh Lonergan was unconscious, lying at the edge of the bridge with one leg over the edge."

At the conclusion of the hearing, County Judge Crawford said he saw strong reasons for binding Charles and David Lonergan over to the district court.

Two Boys Injured by Two Motorists Monday In Separate Accidents

Clarence Inquist, 8 years old, 3313 California street, was slightly injured yesterday afternoon at the intersection of Thirty-third and Cumming streets when he was struck by an automobile driven by R. W. McCasky, salesman, living at the Rome hotel.

The boy ran directly in front of the car after he had been chased by a dog.

One of his front teeth was knocked out and he suffered a slight gash on the forehead.

McCasky was taken to the Central police station by Detective Nelson and booked on a charge of reckless driving.

Angelo Connova, 6 years old, son of Vincenzo Connova, 1305 South Twelfth street, was slightly bruised when struck by an automobile driven by Mrs. W. H. Maurer, 831 Second avenue, Council Bluffs, at Sixteenth and Dodge streets at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Maurer was taken to police headquarters but was not held. She is the daughter of former Mayor Tom Maloney.

Practice Midshipman Cruise For Naval Reserves May 1

A midshipman's practice cruise for naval reserve men will begin on May 10 and last for four months. Six battleships, the Connecticut, Michigan, Minnesota, Kansas, South Carolina and New Hampshire, will be used for the cruise, which will lead from the Caribbean sea through the Panama canal, along the Pacific coast and to the Hawaiian Islands.

Members of the naval reserve wishing to volunteer for the cruise should write the commandant of the Ninth, Tenth and Eleventh Naval districts, Great Lakes, Ill., and report for duty at the nearest recruiting station, where transportation will be furnished them, according to Lieut. Com. R. O. Lawder, of the local navy recruiting station. Only 1,500 reservations will be allowed to make the cruise.

MAYOR DECLARES HALF HOLIDAY ON MAY 1 FOR PARADE

Wholesale Houses Will Close And Retailers Will Release Employees to March.

Mayor Smith, in a proclamation, declares that next Saturday afternoon shall be a half holiday on account of the observance of "Americanization Day."

"Let us carry aloft the banner of Americanism, do honor to the Stars and Stripes, and pledge ourselves anew in support of the principles of true Americanism," the proclamation reads.

All citizens are urged to observe the occasion.

The committee in charge of the big American day parade wants every home and every business house in the city to display a flag on May 1. Thousands of marchers in the parade will carry flags.

All packing houses, wholesale houses and manufacturing plants yesterday agreed to close at noon on the day of the parade so their employees, many of whom saw service, will have a chance to march.

Although the Omaha retailers decided not to close during the parade, they have agreed to allow all employees desiring to march or who belong to organizations that will participate, to have the time off.

Barber and His Alleged Common Law Wife Arrested

Mrs. Freda Jones, an accountant for the Nebraska Telephone company, and Harry Bouchard, a barber, were arrested yesterday afternoon at 2414 Cass street by Detectives Troby, Potach and Francl.

Mrs. Jones told the detectives that Bouchard took her from Chicago to Milwaukee and then to Omaha upon a promise of marriage.

The couple was taken before United States Deputy District Attorney Peterson. After Bouchard promised to marry the girl they were taken back to the Central station and booked. Their troubles will be aired before Police Judge Foster today.

Aged Brother Held to Trial on $500 Bond For Assault in Feud

County Judge Crawford yesterday bound over Charles Lonergan to the district court under $500 bond on a charge of assault with intent to inflict great bodily injury on his brother, William Lonergan, and the latter's son, Hugh. The judge dismissed the charge against David C. Lonergan, son of Charles.

The man bound over is well known among pure-bred hog dealers as the owner of a hog for which he has refused an offer of $30,000.

The Lonergan families occupy adjoining farms five miles northwest of Florence. The feud between the two families dates back 10 years.

They met on the "Nethaway bridge" north of Florence March 24 and engaged in a fight in which Hugh was knocked unconscious and William was badly bruised. William is 62 years old and Charles 53.

Women Will Control G. O. P. Convention in Omaha

The republican county convention to be held in Omaha will be run by the feminine sex, according to the official canvass now in progress in the election commissioner's office. The canvass of the first four wards show that out of 63 delegates elected, 40 are women, while the men won only 23 places. The women believe that other wards will show a similar proportion.

The "Overalls club" and "Calico club" movement is gaining momentum among the boys and girls of Commercial High school. Daily applicants are received in these newly organized clubs. The "Overalls club" was recently organized by the boys and was quickly followed by the girls, who organized a "Calico club." At present 22 girls have enrolled in the "Calico club," while 22 boys have registered as members of the "Overalls club."

The "Overalls club" movement at Central High school is being eliminated and a more practical movement is being inaugurated, according to J. G. Masters, principal. An "Old Clothes club" is being started. A meeting of all boys will be held Wednesday afternoon in the high school auditorium. Principal Masters will put the proposition up to the boys. They will decide whether they want an "Overalls club" or an "Old Clothes club."

"I am personally in favor of the 'Old Clothes club,'" said Mr. Masters yesterday. "I would join the boys in the movement. It is too expensive to buy overalls for the remaining five weeks of the session."
