PRIESTS PURSUE THIEF WHO LOOTS CHURCH RECTORY

Bonds and Cash Totalling
$1,400 Are Taken From
St. Philomenas Catholic Church.

Bonds and cash totalling $1,400 was stolen from the rectory of St. Philomenas Catholic church, 1334 South Ninth street, yesterday.

Rev. James W. Stenson, pastor, was awakened at 3 a. m. by the noise of prowlers in the kitchen of the rectory. Reaching for his trousers to dress hastily and make an investigation, Rev. Father Stenson found them missing.

He roused his assistant, Rev. Michael Quinn, and together they made a search of the house. They had hardly started when two dark figures dashed madly for the front door and made their escape.

Cash and Bonds Gone.

When the lights had been flashed on they found Rev. Father Stenson's trousers and a bureau drawer from his bedroom in the kitchen.

Five $100 St. Cecilia cathedral bonds were discovered missing, along with one liberty bond valued at $350 and a canvas money bag containing $21 in cash, all belonging to the church.

Two hundred dollars worth of war saving stamps, $400 worth of Liberty bonds and $12 in cash, belonging to Rev. Father Stenson, were also stolen.

Overlook Collection.

The burglars had overlooked $150 in change, part of the collection for last Sunday.

The housekeeper at the rectory, Mrs. Schaffel, said she saw the two marauders disappear into the shadows of the church.

Entrance to the rectory was gained by breaking a lock on the library window.

Colorado Farmers to

Quit Raising Hay and

Plant Sugar Beets

Jack Savage came in from Fort Morgan, Colo., Tuesday with a shipment of fed lambs and he said present indications promise a short crop of alfalfa in his section next season and that there will be a scarcity of hay next fall and winter.

In explanation Mr. Savage said a large majority of farmers were going to put their land into sugar beets. He said that fields that for many years around Fort Morgan, had been big producers of alfalfa, were being plowed up and planted to beets, their owners having signed contracts with the sugar company.

"This condition not only exists in my locality," said Mr. Savage, "but prevails in other alfalfa districts of the state. Farmers are turning from hay to beets because they believe the latter crop will bring them more money. Many thousands of acres around Fort Collins, Eaton and Greeley will be plowed up this spring to make room for a larger beet crop."

Pastor Badly Shaken Up

In Table Rock Accident

Terumseh, Neb., April 27.—(Special.)—Rev. George S. Price, pastor of the Terumseh Baptist church, was considerably shaken up in a train accident at Table Rock, Friday night. Mixed train No. 120, on the Burlington, had run into Table Rock and taken the Y switch from the Lincoln-St. Joseph line to the St. Joseph-Oxford line.

A string of box cars had been left on the main line. Train No. 120 was under considerable way, backing, when the coaches were run into these cars. A Mr. Ellis of Table Rock had his shoulder dislocated and two ribs broken, and Miss Laura Kowanda, of the same town, was rendered unconscious and taken from the train in that condition.

The compact broke a number of windows in the coaches and threw the passengers from their seats. The Terumseh man escaped injury. The line of box cars on the main track were said to have been protected by either flagman or lights.

Tecumseh Community Club

Is Busy Raising $3,000

Tecumseh, Neb., April 27.—(Special.)—The finance committee from the Tecumseh Community club, including Messrs. C. E. Stewart, S. B. Parker and Frank Dufoe, have been soliciting funds for a budget from the local business and professional men. This city has never had the budget plan. The club asked for $3,000 to finance 1920, of this amount the committee has $2,500 at this time.

The club will set aside $900 for the band, $500 for base ball, $1,000 for a Fourth of July celebration, some for street springing and so on. Propositions not having the endorsement of the club will find it "hard sledding" to raise funds in Tecumseh.

Elkhorn River Flood

Interrupts Traffic

On Railroad Line

Norfolk, Neb., April 26.—(Special Telegram.)—Flood waters in the Elkhorn river rose so rapidly Sunday night that traffic on the main line of the Northwestern railroad was held up in Norfolk because of the damage caused to a section of a bridge five miles west of the city. Approximately 400 passengers stayed in the city over night and walked across the bridge late Monday morning to a train waiting on the other side.

At 9 Monday morning the water had receded about an inch as compared with the high point of Sunday night when the rain made it impossible to venture repair work on the bridge. At O'Neill and points west the water was receding very slowly, but indications are that the crest of the flood has passed Norfolk and that the highest water in 20 years was pouring down on points east of Norfolk, including West Point, Wisner, Beemer, Crowell and Arlington.

Stromsburg Telephone
