CARD INDEX KEPT OF LOOT BY SILK M A S K BURGLAR

Chicago Police Seek Two Women Pals of Man Killed After Battle With Police.

Chicago Tribune-Omaha Bee Leased Wire. Chicago, April 27.—"Harry James," the silk mask burglar, who staged a most dramatic battle in a police station Sunday night and finally died with 20 bullets through his body and brain after seriously wounding two policemen, was not a "lone wolf" in the field of crime.

He was identified as James Harrigan, former operative for a big loop detective agency. There had been hopes the body would be identified as that of Edward Moore, the "Hoosier Kid," whom police and numerous victims would be pleased to identify as a corpse.

Numerous witnesses have been found who had seen Harrigan, and two women, always in a big limousine, driving about the "Gold Coast," presumably locating the residences that were to be robbed at convenience.

Harrigan rented a warehouse in which he stored the stolen property, loads of oriental rugs, expensive draperies, furs, clothing, trunks filled with jewelry and silver, hundreds of pairs of silk stockings and many silk skirts.

The police today hauled out three patrol wagon loads of this loot for identification. Harrigan kept a list of his stealings, the date, name, and where the stuff was sold. In addition to loot worth many thousands, he has disposed of the stolen property in his storehouse, valued at more than $100,000. The police say it would have been impossible for one man, even as fast a worker as Harrigan, to have accumulated so much property. Much of it is believed to have been stolen in other cities by a gang of which Harrigan was the head.

Omaha Lad Who Lost Leg Is Discharged From the Army as 'Temporarily Disabled'

When Harry S. Pickard of Omaha entered the United States army for the world war in September, 1917, he was a young man of athletic build and in excellent health.

He came back from France in April, 1919, with nerves shattered, one leg off and the other dangling useless.

When Harry Pickard went into the army three years ago he was told the United States government would take the best of care of him if he happened to be wounded in fighting Germans.

Two weeks ago he was discharged from the base hospital at Ft. Sheridan, Ill., with papers announcing he was "temporarily disabled."

Cursory Examination. The rating of "temporary disability," Harry Pickard says, was given him after a cursory and seemingly perfunctory examination by a colonel of the army medical corps, serving as one of the officials at the Fort Sheridan hospital.

Under the papers discharging him as "temporarily disabled" Ex-soldier Pickard is receiving from the government $80 a month. If he had been rated as "permanently disabled," as his friends contend he should have been, he would be getting a total of $157.50 a month.

Ex-Soldier Pickard is alone in the world, so far as financial help is concerned. His only relative in this country is a brother in Chicago, deeply enmeshed in providing for himself and his family. Other relatives in Scotland have no more than enough for their own support, he says.

The wounds, which literally took Pickard's physical and financial support out from under him, were received in the thick of the Argonne drive, 18 days before the armistice was signed. A German long-range shell exploded in the midst of Pickard's company, scattering shrapnel about and wounding 24 men, five of whom died later.

Two pieces of shrapnel lodged in Pickard's left leg and made amputation of the limb necessary. Three other pieces were picked out of his right leg by surgeons, but the shrapnel had so damaged the nerves of the leg as to make it permanently useless. He received many minor wounds on his right hand and arm.

No defense of the action of Fort Sheridan officials in discharging Pickard as "temporarily disabled" is made by Dr. John F. Allen of the United States public health service,

WILSON BLAMED AT SUGAR PROBE FOR PRICE RAISE

Failure to Sanction Purchase Cuban Crop and Concurance In Louisiana Increase Reason Assigned.

Chicago Tribune-Omaha Bee Leased Wire. Washington, April 27.—Apprehension over the rising price of sugar and further increase predicted led to the summoning to Washington by Attorney General Palmer of sugar refiners of the country, who conferred for hours Monday with Howard Figg, special assistant to the attorney general in charge of profiteering and high cost cases.

Following the conference the Department of Justice and the refiners were silent concerning their deliberations. The department, it is understood, asked co-operation from the refiners in eliminating sugar profiteering and hoarding. The unnecessary middleman and the sugar speculator are also understood to have come up for discussion.

Take No Action. The representatives left the meeting with no definite plan of action yet agreed upon. The session will be continued.

Representative Tinkham of Massachusetts, republican, who introduced the resolution to investigate the action of Mr. Palmer in connection with the price on Louisiana sugar, has prepared a survey of the sugar situation, in which he places the blame for the present high prices and the scarcity of the commodity on the non-action of the president of the United States in August and September last, and in part to the action of the attorney general in November last.

President Is Blamed. In August and September last, the sugar equalization board recommended in two communications to the president the great desirability of purchasing the Cuban 1920 crop. Otherwise, it asserted there would be a very great increase in the price of sugar and a great scarcity in 1921.

It is stated that the Cuban crop could be purchased for six and one-half cents per pound at that time, which was an advance of only one cent per pound above the 1919 price and would have allowed sugar to retail in the United States in 1920 at 11 and 12 cents per pound.

Raps Palmer Action. In November last when sugar was selling at retail at 10 cents per pound in the United States under the control of the sugar equalization board and at 6 1/2 cents per pound in Cuba, the attorney general concurred in the price of 17 cents and 18 cents at the plantation for Louisiana sugar, thus giving as it were, an official government price for raw sugar. The effect of this action in part was to advance the Cuban price. In December the Cuban price had advanced over 11 1/2 cents per pound and it is now quoted at 18 1/2 cents.

Does It Catch You in the Back? It may be that you are mysteriously attacked by pain in back (lumbago), or limbs, "neuralgia" pains—shooting anywhere, or swollen and painful feet. Pain and backache of any kind are often caused by kidney disorder, which means that the kidneys are not working properly. Poisonous matter and uric acid accumulate within the body in great abundance, overworking the sick kidneys.

Obtain Anuric at any drug store, or send ten cents to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., for trial package. Listen to this: BEATRICE, NEB.—"For about two years I have been having kidney trouble. The uric acid spread through my system causing rheumatism in my joints. It would affect my limbs, also my arms. This would make me very miserable. I would also have pains in my back and through my kidneys. I just recently started taking Anuric and it has taken the aches out of my joints, and my back does not bother me; Anuric is rapidly removing the uric acid from my system. I think it a splendid kidney remedy. I have also taken 'Favorite Prescription' as a woman's tonic and it proved very good. I am glad to recommend Doctor Pierce's medicine."

Alkali in Shampoos Bad for Washing Hair Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle. The best thing to use is Mulisified coconut oil shampoo for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.
