I'M THE GUY!

By R. H. ALLIE.

I'M THE GUY, the cashier, who never says "thanks" when you pay your restaurant bill. Why should I? You're only a customer. You've what harm does it do, anyway. Just because you think you're en-titled to "thanks" is no reason why I should say it. What do you want for your money, anyway? Good service, good food and a whole lot thanks and you won't be disap-pointed. Or if you do, wait until some other cashier's on the job, or go elsewhere,

He had a long white beard and red cheeks, and long robes, with a mitre on his head; and he smiled at the children, who crowded around him and followed him in a noisy procession down the street.

Does An Apple Turn Brown When Peeled? (Copyright, 1920, by The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

This action is similar to that which takes place when water or moisture remains upon iron. In the latter case we call the result-ant brown deposit "rust," it being a highly important process for which it is necessary to have a special term. The air has much the same action upon the pulp of the apple that water has upon iron-al-"Not until tomorrow," said Father though, of course, the brown deposit is not of a metallic nature. The color is due to the chemical action which stars as soon as the oxygen in the air comes in contact with the "enzymes" or fer-menting fluids in the apple itself. After a few moments, a longer or shorter space of time dependent upon the nature of the fruit it-self, this action turns the surface of the pulp brown. As long as the peel is unbroken, the inside of the apple is protected against this chemical change and remains white and firm. Incidentally, the brown coating has no effect upon the edible or natritive quality of the fruit.
