Hotels Declare They Have No Room 13, on Account of Superstition of Patrons.
Who is the "Woman in Room 13?"

Sun, Theater, Excitement Center!

"Who is the Woman in Room 13?" This question is on the lips of thousands who are going to solve the mystery by seeing this greatest of all modern mystery photo dramas at the Sun. You have, no doubt, resolved to see this wonderful picture some time this week, but we are requested to urge you to come early in the week. Women especially are strongly urged to attend the matinees.

Crowds? Yes, of course, there will be crowds, for nearly everybody in town is talking about it. You'll get a seat, though, if you hurry down early this afternoon or tonight! And the best part of it, you'll never regret it! It will live in your memory for days, weeks, months!

The management of the Sun has requested us to announce that they will make every effort to seat everyone. Do not be impatient if you have a wait of a few moments before being seated, for the slight inconvenience will be forgotten in a flash when the plot of the great production begins to unfold. And, of course, you will want to see the famous "Bringing Up Father" comics, for the first time in motion pictures. "Father Close Shave" the title, and it is certainly rough room!—A.G.v.
