BUSINESS MEN OF GERMANY SCARED BY RISE OF MARKS

A Few Weeks Ago They Feared Worthlessness of Money, But Increased Value Causes New Pessimism.

By PARKE BROWN.

New York Times—Chicago Tribune Cable Copyright, 1920.
Berlin, May 12.—Having recovered from the fear that the mark would become almost worthless, German business men are now suffering from a new form of pessimism. It is diametrically opposite reasoning, for it is that the recent 100 per cent increase in the value of the mark will bring catastrophe. As the clearest symptom they cite the small amount of sales at the Frankfurt fair which they say indicate the new rate of exchange has completely closed the export markets. They further predict a big drop in domestic prices with consequent losses for men with large stocks on hand, which may start rumors of bankruptcies.

Closes U. S. Markets.
"As an example," says a Berlin manufacturer, "the material of one article of manufacture, bought in America three months ago cost $1, which then meant 100 marks. Other costs brought the price to 200 marks, or $2. But now 200 marks equals $4, which exceeds the price of the same article made in America. How can I expect to find an American buyer?"

"In the same way my competitor now can buy the same material for 50 marks in America and can sell the product here in Germany for 150 marks. That closes the local market to me."

Face 25 Per Cent Loss.
"I am threatened with a 25 per cent loss. There are many instances that are fatal for many German manufacturers forced to invest every cent of their available capital in order to obtain sufficient materials."

Many experts are of the opinion that the betterment of the German rate can't continue. The cessation of exports, they say, means that the money of other countries will stop coming in, and, on the other hand German money will start to flow outward. If this should develop a gradual readjustment of prices it is possible it will be without serious results. But even then the pessimists say the high wages granted because of the present high prices spell trouble. They predict the prices won't come down to the world level without a reduction of wages.

"Bill" Nye, Chief of the Secret Service, Quits; More Money Outside

Washington, May 12.—Joseph M. Nye, chief special agent of the State department and for many years an active figure in the secret service of the federal government, has resigned because of a desire to accept better financial opportunities in private life. The resignation has been accepted by Secretary Colby, effective June 1.
Familiarly known as "Bill" Nye, the retiring chief has been entrusted with many important missions. During the war he did many highly confidential services and later was responsible for the safeguarding of the king and queen of the Belgians and the prince of Wales during their visits to this country.

May Erect Large Tank For Storage of Gas Oil

The Metropolitan Water board is considering erecting a storage tank for gas oil at the gas plant, after city control becomes effective, July 1. The reservoir will contain 1,500,000 gallons, and will serve in case of a shortage. If the tank is erected it will serve the policy of the water board which resulted in a six months supply of coal being available at the pumping station last winter when the strike occurred.

After Implement Show

Efforts to bring the first annual show of the National Implement and Tractor association to Omaha during the coming winter have been started by the chamber of commerce through its publicity bureau. The association proposes to make the exposition the largest display of farm implements and tractors ever assembled. Membership includes virtually all manufacturers of such machinery.

Mrs. Deitrich Returns From Campaign in Connecticut

Mrs. Charles Deitrich of Hastings, Neb., stopped in Omaha yesterday on her way home from the "flying squadron" campaign in Connecticut for the ratification of the federal suffrage amendment. Governor Holcomb of Connecticut, who is 79 years old, told us when we had our hearing with him that he would gladly enfranchise all women if he had it in his power," Mrs. Deitrich said.

"But the men who surround him and advise him on all public questions fear the advent of suffrage for women in that state," Mrs. Deitrich continued. "Especially would they like to keep women out of the election in November."
Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, who headed the campaign there, used as her leading argument that in the international suffrage convention to be held in Europe this summer, the United States would be the only English-speaking nation where the women were without full suffrage."

Royal Highlanders Rate Case Will Be Appealed

Lincoln, Neb., May 12.—Counsel for two Lincoln men who sought to enjoin the Royal Highlanders, a fraternal insurance organization, from charging a new schedule of rates, announced an appeal would be taken to the state supreme court from a decision given late yesterday by the county district court denying a restraining order. The two Lincoln men charge the new rates are discriminatory against the older members of the order.
