LITTLE WOMAN GAINS 17 POUNDS TAKING TANLAC

Only Weighed Ninety Pounds and Was Badly Run Down -Health Restored Now.

"Before I began taking Tanlas I only weighed 90 pounds, but today I weigh 107 pounds, and have just finished my fourth bottle,' sa'd Mrs. Harry Leath, 2216 South Sixth street, St. Joseph, Mo.

"For a year I had suffered from stomach trouble and nervous indigestion. My appetite was very poor and even the little I did manage to eat began to sour almost at once and I would bloat up with gas until I could hardly breathe. I also suffered with severe pains around my heart and in the small of my back. My head ached nearly all the time and I often became so dizzy it was an effort for me to stand up. My kidneys worried me a great deal. I was Officials Fail to Solve so nervous I could get but little sleep, and always got up feeling tired and wornout. I continued getting worse, until finally I became so badly rundown and weak I not only could not do my housework, but was actually unable to walk across the room without assistance. "A friend who had taken Tanlac with fine results, advised me t8 try it, which I did, and the im-Olsen admitted his presence in provement in my health has been Fremont at the

State Must Pay Lawyers Employed in Will Case

Lincoln, May 16.--((pecial.)--If Arthur Mullen of Omaha and Max. V. Beghtol of Lincoln are paid attorney fees for representing the state in a case wherein Charles Genuchi had by will left the State Home for Dependent Children a small estate, it will have to come from the state treasury and not out of the estate, as is sometimes the case.

The property was left by Genuchi to the Home for Dependent Children and the children of the deceased WITHDRAW BOND contested the will. The State Board of Control engaged Mullen and Beghtol to fight the case and the supreme court in an opinion holds that the state is liable for the fees, which amount to $1,500.

HORSEMEN RAP TRACTOR PEOPLE AT BIG BANQUET Charge Propaganda Sent Out To Discourage Use of Horse

At Annual Association Dinner Here.

That much propaganda, some illegitimate, has been spread over the trucks and tractors to discourage the use of horses was charged by Wayne Dingmore, national secretary of the Horse Association of America, speaking at the first annual banquet of the Omaha branch of the association at the Hotel Fontenelle Saturday night.

An article in the November 22 issue of Scientific American, which de-clared that "horses had been largely done away with on farms" and a re-port that an ordinance prohibiting the use of horses in Denver had been passed were cited by Mr. Dinsmore as unfair examples of propaganda circulated against the use of horses Tractors Can't Replace Horses.

"I admit that both the tractor and ruck has its place on the farm, but hey can never replace the horse, declared Mr. Dinsmore, "Aside from the fact that horses have been proven more practical in most cases on farms, the use of horses should solve the problem of the high cost of labor on the farm. High wages in truck, tractor and automobile factories of the country are taking labor from the farms or placing it at a premium. Work done with horses will reduce the demand for labor and the drain on transportation, he-sides making a stronger market for grain and hay." Walter Jardine of Omaha in a short talk declared the horse could not be replaced, even in the city. "The city needs a well-bred horse that has sense," said Mr. Jardine. "The horse must have sense, because the drivers of today do not equal those of days gone by."
