

FORM PLANS FOR EXTRA SESSIONS OF CONVENTION

Republican Leaders Foresee Possibility That Deadlock Will Carry Meeting Over To Second Week.

Chicago Tribune-Omaha Bee Special Wire. Chicago, May 29.—Frank H. Hitchcock, federal manager for General Leonard Wood, arrived in the city today and "Presidential Row" immediately began to take on fresh activity. Mr. Hitchcock's appearance in advance of a national convention is generally accepted as a signal that the real battle is on. He talked very little, but doubted that the senatorial investigation into campaign expenditures would have much influence on the situation.

Talk of a "dark horse" continued to spread during the day, despite the assertion of Alvin T. Hart, of Kentucky, that a "dark horse" was out of the question. Former Gov. Frank B. Willis, of Ohio, came in for considerable attention as a possible candidate. He has been defeated twice by James M. Cox, who stands out prominently as a democratic presidential possibility. Willis would have solid backing of the dry interests.

The telephone is passe in Wahoo, Neb.

It is merely Roland A. Anderson instructing his class in wireless. Oscar Soderholm, prominent business man, is president of the club.

Father and Son Race. Last year when labor was scarce and contractors feared inability to complete paving before winter, Mr. Soderholm, with an organization of business men, filled the gap in the ranks of the laborers. Continual work about home by his son, Gerald, one of the youngest members of the club, induced the president to take up wireless and father and son are now engaged in a tight race for honors in speed. Roland A. Anderson, vice president and chief electrician of the club, is a native son and has spent most of his life in Wahoo with the exception of a few years at a technical school in Milwaukee. While at school he continued his

ROADS COMPLETE ARGUMENTS FOR RATE INCREASE

Further Hearings Suspended By Interstate Commerce Commission Until June 7—Need Raise at Once.

Washington, May 29.—Railroads of the country today closed their case before the Interstate Commerce commission for increased freight rates aggregating $1,017,000,000 annually. Further hearings were suspended by the commission until June 7, to give shippers and state railway commissions time to prepare for cross-examination of witnesses for the carriers.

During the hearings which began Monday testimony was introduced by the railroads to show the increased income is needed immediately if the roads are to handle the nation's commerce satisfactorily, for otherwise government ownership is inevitable. Relief only can come in the form of increased rates or out of the treasury of the United States, the carriers claimed. Only the roads that are strongest financially can borrow money, it was stated, and then only at high rates of interest. Efficient service and ultimate saving in operating expenses was promised. Rate increases asked do not include the wage demands of the employees under consideration by the railroad labor board estimated at $1,000,000,000.

Rate increase of 32.82 per cent and treatment separate from the western group which is asking an advance of 24 per cent were requested by 38 carriers of the south-west. Columbus Haile, vice-president of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railroad, presented the application which asked "that the total revenues derived from advances in freight rates of the western classification territory as a whole may be so distributed as to more nearly approximate the needs of the carriers in the various sections."

Rifle Squads Scour Chicago "Jungles" For Famous Gangster

Chicago Tribune-Omaha Bee Special Wire.

Chicago, May 29.—Rifle squads from the police department and crack shots from the detective force are scouring the "jungles" back of the stock yards for "Gene" Geary, notorious labor slugger, gunman and gangster, with orders to kill him on sight and explain afterwards. Geary was recently acquitted of the murder of Leonard Tripple, a cab driver, with whom he had quarreled over a woman. Thursday night he started on a fresh rampage, killing Harry J. Rockas, a man he had never before met, but who happened to fall under his murderous gaze. After slaying his man, Geary walked away whistling, passed through Jim O'Leary's saloon and stepped out of the back door into that mysterious port of missing men that harbors several other murderers.

Geary's entire life has been marked by brutality. He formerly conducted a saloon, with rooms above, and there were many shootings and beatings in that notorious resort. He was especially useful as a labor slugger and is supposed to have been closely connected with two other murders, although his peculiar immunity enabled him to escape both times.

Advocates Embargo On Importation of Airplanes Into U. S.

Washington, May 29.—Laws prohibiting the importation of all foreign-made airplanes and material for 10 years except those used for experimental purposes were urged before the house ways and means committee by Brig. Gen. William Mitchell, chief of the aircraft division of training and operations. Such legislation, General Mitchell said, is necessary for the preparedness of the United States for war.

"Any nation that wishes to maintain its independence is pushing ahead with its aircraft program," General Mitchell said in urging that legislation be enacted immediately to prevent the British from selling at low cost a large quantity of their war surplus machines in the United States.

World Is Puzzling Over Allied Course With Envoy of Soviet

London, May 29.—Statements regarding the scope of negotiations between British officials and Gregory Krassin, Russian bolshevik minister for trade and commerce, continue contradictory, some insisting they involve general recognition of the soviet, while others emphatically assert they relate merely to trade.

It is believed Premier Lloyd George will meet M. Krassin, but it is stated that the interview will be wholly personal. It is recalled that the negotiations concern the supreme allied council as a whole, and it is with this body that M. Krassin will negotiate, and not exclusively with representatives of England.

Wife Makes Plea to Save Wayward Husband From Jail Sentence

Love for a wayward husband was displayed to a strong degree, in South Side police court yesterday when the wife of Morris Loneragan, 1710 Missouri avenue, pleaded with the judge to allow her to straighten out her mate, instead of sending him to jail for 30 days.

Loneragan was arrested at 3 a. m. Monday asleep in an automobile at Thirtieth and W streets. Charges were filed against him for intoxication and vagrancy.

At his trial yesterday, upon the pleadings of his wife, the judge withdrew the vagrancy charge, but sentenced Loneragan to 30 days in jail because this is his second offense for intoxication.

NATIONAL SEXTET BUILT IN FIVE CUSTOM BODY MODES

Designed for the Comfort of Seven

While the strikingly low National Sextet touring car is exceedingly good to look upon, its pronounced style has not been gained at the sacrifice of comfort.

From hub to hub, the Sextet measures 130 inches, which is ample for mounting custom-styled bodies of roomy dimensions.

One hundred and thirty inches, in fact, is accepted as the ideal wheelbase length, since it imposes no restrictions on impressive appearance, seating and riding comfort, and ease of operation.

The seats of the Sextet are set twelve inches below the upper body edge so that the passengers ride in the car and not on top of it.

These seats are tilted back at just the right angle for lounging ease, and are wide and deep. Double non-sag springs, curled hair and pleated leather are used for upholstery.

A desire to afford unusual riding comfort, above all else, fixed the weight of the National Sextet touring car at 3,600 pounds. Consequently, the car has sufficient poundage, scientifically distributed, to ride the roughest roads with amazingly little bumping or sideway.

The semi-elliptic springs, all around, are exceptionally long, measuring 38 and 60 1/4 inches, respectively, while their cushioning power is further augmented by the use of heavy Hartford shock absorbers, front and rear.

The National Sextet, in fact, will carry you as fast and as far as you wish to go without discomfort and without fatigue.

A demonstration is most convincing proof of this. May we not have the pleasure of giving one?
