

THOUSANDS AT CORPUS CHRISTI LAWN SERVICE

Impressive Ceremonies Conducted by Catholic Prelates in Open Air at St. Cecilia Cathedral.

Fully 3,500 persons attended the open air services of the feast of Corpus Christi, one of the most joyous celebrations of the Catholic church, at St. Cecilia's cathedral, Fortieth and Burt streets, yesterday afternoon.

With the Stars and Stripes waving, a procession of Holy Name members, flower girls wearing veils, acolytes, priests in surplices carrying the Blessed Eucharist, borne by Rev. E. J. McCarthy, beneath a canopy, followed by Rt. Rev. J. J. Harty, archbishop of Omaha, walked from the entrance of the cathedral to three decorated altars, in the vacant terrace back of the cathedral.

Boys Choir Sings. Rev. J. H. Stenson, pastor of St. Philomena's church, was master of ceremonies. As the procession passed through the throngs of worshippers' heads were bared and cantatas sung by St. Cecilia's boy choir and a group of mixed voices.

Hundreds of automobiles were lined in the streets about the cathedral, their occupants watching the ceremonies. The feast of Corpus Christi is significant in biblical times of Christ walking through the fields and towns of Palestine and in medieval times of the processions of the Holy Eucharist among Catholic parishes.

Benediction Service. At each of the three outdoor altars benediction of the Blessed Sacrament was bestowed upon the thousands who knelt in prayer, by Father McCarthy. The following Catholic parishes were represented by members of the Holy Name society: St. Marys, St. Annes, St. Agnes, Holy Name, Holy Angels, St. Peters, St. Johns, St. Philomena, St. Patricks, St. Bernards, Sacred Heart, St. Bridgets and St. Cecilia's churches.

Dix Says G. O. P. Meet Lacking in Pep

(Continued From First Page.) tion reached Johnson headquarters at the Auditorium it alighted from its motor cars and passed into the hotel as quietly and dejectedly as the mourners in the first carriage. It was dusty and travel-worn. Its "I'm for Hiram" banners drooped like the wings of the dove of peace over the palace at Versailles. Somebody essayed a feeble cheer, but the man who knows all about convention maneuvers told the crowd to cheer leader of the Hicksville high school could do a better job.

New York's delegation is due next. The optimists are whispering that "bring the real punch with it," but the conviction is slowly manifesting itself that the punch that is brought by any of them will be brought on the hip.

Speaking of Bubbles. Figuratively speaking, the word boom is soaring. Every visitor to the headquarters of the genial general is presented with a crimson or blue feather. I have it on reliable authority that Mrs. Wood thought the idea of the general's presidential chances being borne aloft on the wings of the morning a pretty one, hence the quills which will adorn the feminine desks of the middle-west.

They fly so high, they nearly reach the sky, then, like my dreams, they— A lot of people are saying the same thing that happened to the bubbles is going to happen to the general's boom. (Copyright, Wheeler Syndicate.)

Nebraskans in Mad Scramble for Tickets

Governor McKelvie Speaks. Other well known Nebraskans already on the ground for the big show are Sam Metick and Bud Lindsay of Lincoln. John W. Towle of Omaha, a delegate at large, and who probably will have a place on the committee of rules also is here.

Gov. McKelvie took a turn along presidential row yesterday, his comments to the candidates, if they were gettable and if not to some lieutenant in command. The governor was one of the speakers at a banquet of the Three Score and Ten club Saturday night, where a bureau national convention was staged, the leading presidential candidates being impersonated by members of the organization.

Gov. McKelvie declared that only the establishment of a sound economic condition in the United States would save the country from the evils of bolshevism. It's Anybody's Race. Word has been received here that Burt Mapes, of Norfolk, will not be able to attend the convention on account of illness which will give his alter ego, E. C. Bergema, of Columbus, a chance to vote his presidential preference.

So far as surface indications go there has been no change in the political destinies of the several candidates in the last 24 hours. It is anybody's nomination and the organization of the candidate who will have a personal interview with the majority of the delegates will pull down the bacon. The delegates to this convention have a larger element of responsibility than ever before. They must make the nomination without the guiding voice of a leader or boss. If there be any such, he is very much in the background. The old ship is adrift without an efficient captain at the wheel. Maybe he will appear in good season and take command. He certainly is greatly needed right now.

Happy Family Reunion

Five generations are not common in Nebraska or any other state. From Mrs. Katherine Williams, 91 years old, the great great grandmother down to the little tot sitting on his mother's lap, five generations are represented.

Left to right they are: Mrs. J. J. Roberts, Mrs. Swan Monson, Mrs. Katherine Williamson, Mrs. W. M. Terry and Elmer W. Monson, sitting on his mother's lap. Mrs. Williamson also has two other great great grandchildren, Carl and Bernice of Paxton.

Bay State Delegates Lose Booze When Dry Agents Frisk Them

Chicago Tribune-Omaha Bee Leased Wire. Chicago, June 6.—After taking the most elaborate precautions against a possible drought in crossing the great American desert, the Massachusetts delegation narrowly escaped a complete "deboozing" today. When the special train carrying the delegation and its moist cargo reached Detroit, a flock of zealous rum ferrets in the employ of the local dry enforcement office swooped down upon them. A most thorough raid of hip-pockets and suitcases followed.

Indignant protests failed to make a dent in the searchers' determination. Finally members of the delegation appealed over the heads of the officers to their chief. After many plaintive pleas about the dangers of snake bite and flu the chief yielded and ordered the return of an amount sufficient for the delegation's medicinal requirements.

The Bay State delegation reached the city with most of its "likker."

British Warships Bombard Positions Of Nationalists

Constantinople, June 6.—British warships opened fire on nationalist positions near Touza, on the Sea of Marmora, 38 miles west of Ismid, late Friday night.

Constantinople was aroused by the heavy firing of the guns of the British warships. The nationalists had approached close to the British encampments along the Gulf of Ismid, where many British units are stationed to protect the troops guarding the railroad. The collapse of the Sultan's troops leaves the British unable to defend the railway terminals opposite Constantinople. Many Armenian and Greek refugees have entered Ismid after escaping from the nationalists.

Wolves Becoming More Numerous in Missouri

Jefferson City, Mo., June 12.—Wolves are growing more numerous in Missouri. Despite the fact that more than 50 of the animals were killed in central counties of the state recently, farmers still are losing many young pigs and lambs. The depredations of the wolves in Saline county have run unusually high.

Situation in Chicago Is One Grand Muddle

(Continued From First Page.) ing tomorrow night that his radicalism is not as radical as painted. All camps hope to get an early break among delegations which, on the first ballot or two, will be for "favorite sons."

Indications that as second choice Lowden is stronger in New York than his rivals. A growing conjecture that the convention may not be so protracted as expected, that Saturday may see the winding.

But it is dope; plain, pure, unadulterated dope. As a matter of fact, none of the candidates has behind him any large group of delegates ready to stick to the last ditch if ever a hand wagon is heard there is nothing like the "Gen. Grant's 304 stalwarts," who deadlocked the 1880 convention so tight that it took 36 ballots and the picking of Garfield, a dark horse, to break it. From this some of the veterans are beginning to reason that once a drift of importance sets in toward some candidate the end may come faster than expected.

Must Spend Money.

As to the two Missouri delegates who went south with the Lowden campaign funds, the theory has been that this would weaken Lowden materially with the delegates because the democrats would grab it for exploitation during the campaign. But as delegates from the agricultural states, where the electorate is most sensitive, came rolling in they indicated otherwise. For example, one Cedar Rapids editor in close touch with sentiment in Iowa said: "It hurt Lowden for about 24 hours, when the people after mulling it over, came to the conclusion that Lowden was simply victimized by a couple of political sharpers. Under direct primaries, money must be spent if a campaign is to be made—stamps cost money, so do halls and railroad fares—and a candidate can't protect himself against all the unscrupulous. Lowden is no more to blame than he had been held up by a footpad; the people know it; and they are not going to be bunked by politicians."

JOHNSON'S SENSE OF FAIR PLAY BIG HIT WITH WOMEN

Chairman of Working Women Tells Why She Is for Californian.

Chicago Tribune-Omaha Bee Leased Wire. Chicago, June 6.—In a statement to women delegates to the republican convention, Mrs. Raymond Robins, president of the International Congress of Working Women, outlined her reasons for supporting Hiram W. Johnson, Mrs. Robins is joint chairman with Mrs. Eleanor Patterson Gizzycka of the Women's Johnson division.

"I am for Hiram Johnson, first, because we have his record in deeds covering his seven years' services as governor of California and his further service in the senate of the United States," she said. "His great sense of fair play runs through the various laws enacted in California during his administration. It is because they know he plays fair that both workers and business men trust him."

"Hiram Johnson is a man governed by sustained conviction, and he has a way of finishing a task undertaken. Since 1895 he has worked for the enfranchisement of women, as citizen, as governor and as United States senator."

"Further, recognizing the need of dealing intelligently and continuously with two of the great problems in America, Governor Johnson created the committees on industrial welfare and immigration and housing."

"As a member of the foreign affairs committee of the United States senate he studied deeply all questions of our international relations, and the knowledge which came to him as a member of that committee he shared with his fellow citizens, believing in no secret diplomacy. His statements on Shanghai and Russia are illuminating."

"In the face of certain misunderstandings and abuse, he started his fight for the return of our soldiers from Russia and Siberia, and he never rested until the task was done and the soldiers at home in America."

"Senator Johnson's opposition to the league of nations is well known; I decline to subscribe to a document which would send the youth of America into the four quarters of the globe at the best of, or at the direction or command of foreign powers," he told the voters in the primaries. "My Americanism would have us ever alive to humanity's cry or civilization's call, quick to respond to suffering and ready to resent wrong; it would view with sympathy the struggles of peoples for freedom or self-determination."

WOMEN MOVE TO SECURE PLACE ON COMMITTEE

Will Not Stand for What They Call Camouflage of Democratic Party—Pass Resolutions.

By LEOLA ALLARD.

Chicago Tribune-Omaha Bee Leased Wire. Chicago, June 6.—The republican woman will not stand for what they call the kind of camouflage that the democratic party is throwing over the women of their convention. Today they met at the Auditorium and adopted resolutions drawn up by their shrewdest politician, Mrs. McNeill McCormick, and providing for action to get a place for a woman or two on the national committee.

"We can't get equal representation now," Mrs. McCormick told them, "but we can request the rules committee to so change the rules of the national committee as to allow us on the national committee. It is possible to have a women vice chairman of the national committee. The men created two places, eastern and western treasurers, for themselves. Why not have an eastern and western secretaryship for the women?"

"Another thing, executive committee to women delegates to the republican convention, Mrs. Raymond Robins, president of the International Congress of Working Women, outlined her reasons for supporting Hiram W. Johnson, Mrs. Robins is joint chairman with Mrs. Eleanor Patterson Gizzycka of the Women's Johnson division."

Dentists Are Using More Platinum Than Jewelers

Chicago, June 12.—Twice as much platinum has been used in dentistry as in jewelry. This statement by Dr. George Frederick Kunz in a recent report on precious stones and minerals. The estimates cited by Dr. Kunz, which he considers too low are that of the 5,000,000 or more ounces of platinum in existence, catalytic processes have claimed 500,000 ounces, dental uses 1,000,000 ounces, chemical apparatus 1,000,000 ounces, electrical devices 500,000 ounces and jewelry 500,000.

At $105 an ounce the minimum price set by the government, the value of the metal consumed by dentistry is $105,000,000.

Cockroach King Has A Lifelong Job At England's Castle

London, June 6.—Monarchs may come and queens may go, but M. Descaria remains the cockroach king of England. He has a system. So good, in fact, that King George has contracted with Descaria to keep Buckingham palace rid of cockroaches and beetles.

When a chef in London 30 years ago Descaria invented a vermin killer. Now he has eight assistants who share his hate of the cockroach and who go forth with little bellows. They squirt dust into cracks and crevices and out come the cockroaches, bugs, beetles and crickets. And in the words of the aforesaid monarch: "Zey joomp—two, three times, p'raps—zen zey joomp neavire no more—" all fin—sweep 'in oop—tousands an' thousands—zey mus' come from zer holes or zey suffocates. Ver' queek dying— you neavire saw nozing like!"

He now has 300 contracts, mostly annual, to keep hotels, steamships, postoffices and gardens free of vermin. "What is the vermin killer made of?" his majesty was asked: "Ah-h, zat is our secret!"
