Rourkes Drop First Game of Series to Joplin Miners

OSCAR FUHR IS KNICKED FOR 13 HITS AND 9 RUNS

Schenberg Is Tight, Allowing Omaha But Four Hits; Miners Commit Four Errors.

Joplin, Mo., June 10.—(Special Telegram.)—Jack Lelivelt's cripples were unable to hit Schenberg and the Miners won, 9 to 3.

Lelivelt was put out of the game by Umpire Buckley for continued argument over a play at first in the sixth inning, when Lelivelt contended Strong interfered with Platte, who had forced Weidell at second. The Omaha club played the remainder of the game, but Lelivelt announced he would file a protest on it.

Weidell and Donica were both in the game, but neither was in condition to play in his usual form and Maullin was out entirely.

Stutz, a shortstop obtained from the Three I league, played with the Miners. Manager Hamilton benching himself and sending Yockey to third. Krueger got a home run in the first and Schenberg got another in the third. Both were lucky, the ball taking bad hops in the right center field. The visitors got their first run when Mason walked, went to second on Lingle's sacrifice and scored when Krueger booted Fuhr's grounder into right field.

They bunched a single by Donica, a double by Lelivelt and a sacrifice fly by Lee in the fourth for another counter, and scored their last run in the seventh when Mason tripled and scored on Strong's wild heave to third in relaying the ball from right field.

Strong, Miner first baseman, who has been suffering with a badly sprained finger, was taken out in the seventh to let Boehler bat and the big Joplin pitcher delivered a sacrifice fly that scored Snyder with the third run that inning.

With the Pugs

London, June 10.—Led "Kid" Lewis defeated Johnny Basham, the British welterweight champion, in their fight for the welterweight championship of Europe last night. Basham was badly punished. His seconds threw up the sponge at the end of the ninth round.

Willie Jackson and Johnny Dundee are going to fight again. They will battle 12 rounds to a decision at Boston on Monday night.

Frank Mulkern, the Milwaukee promoter, is anxious to book up Benny Leonard for a contest with Eddie Fitzimmons for his next big attraction. He has offered the champion a guarantee of $15,000 for his end to fight the New York knockout artist.

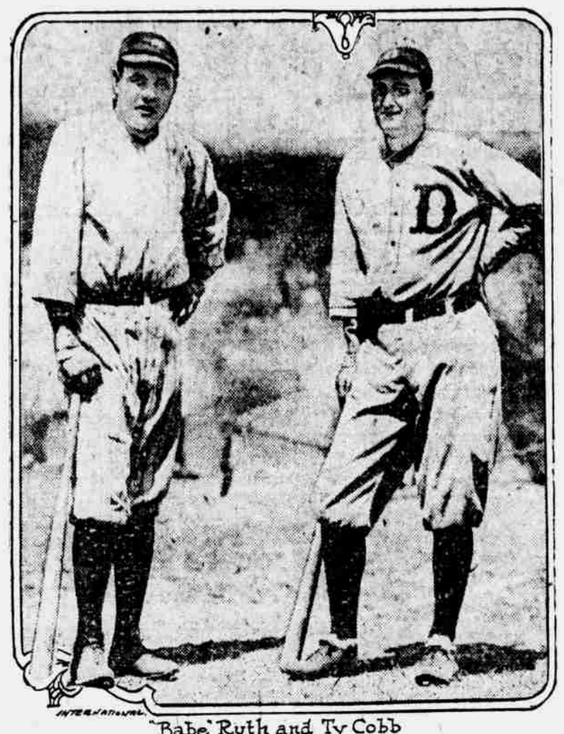
Here's a Fortune in Ball Players, Ty Cobb and Ruth



Babe Ruth and Ty Cobb
Half a Million Dollars Worth of Ball Players.

Among those present when George Herman Ruth emitted his 15th home run at the Polo grounds the other day was Michael Angelo Donlin, a famous socker of bygone days.

"Turkey Mike's" appearance at ball games are infrequent now. He is a very successful Thespian.

"I'm just an outsider looking in now," said Donlin, "but I still love a ball game and I came out to see Ruth 'kiss' one. I'll say the Babe is accommodating."

We know of no one better qualified to discuss the art and science of batting more learnedly or interestingly than Mike. He could hit a few himself.

"I'll tell the world fair that this bird gets more into a punch than anybody I ever saw," declared Donlin after Ruth walked up and hit one into the stands off Dutch Leonard. "And remember that I was around when Lajoie, Delehanty, Wagner and those other smackers were good.

"It seemed to me that no more than two seconds elapsed between the time that Babe leaned on the ball until it caromed off a seat in the stands. I don't believe I ever saw a batted ball travel more swiftly. I'm ready to believe anything now, even a booking agent.

"I never thought there would be a ball batted into those centerfield bleachers, but I expect to hear of Ruth doing it any day. In fact, he might have cleared any fence in the park with that hit today. Did you notice that it was still rising when it struck?

"I have a good reason for pulling for the Yanks to get somewhere this season. You know I sort of raised Sam Vick and Muddy Ruel for this team when I managed the Memphis club. I still think that Vick is one of the best hitters I ever saw and I understand that he has made a big improvement in his fielding. Ruel is a snappy catcher and hits nicely at a ball. He tells me he is putting on more weight, so I expect to hear good reports on his hitting when he fully matures. I like that kid at third base, too.

"The Yankees may not be a wonderful team, but they play interesting ball. Give the mob the old base hit and they'll overlook a lot of shortcomings."

Before the game Donlin mitted Ty Cobb and inquired about the health of Ty's batting average.

"It's very poor," declared Cobb. "I ought to be moving faster than I am. What do you suppose is wrong with me?"

"I'll take a look," said Mike, "and maybe I can tip you off."

Cobb did not get his hit until the fifth inning and then it was a doubtful slam which Peckinpaugh straddled. In the seventh Ty came up with a runner on.

"One trouble with Cobb is that he is all tied up," criticised Mike as Ty crouched at the plate. "A batter who doesn't relax handicaps himself, because he isn't able to make quick shifts. When Cobb is in his stride he has an easy stand and doesn't appear anxious. Look at him now. He's got an awful grip on his bat and he's crowding the plate. Wait until the hot weather thaws that baby out and notice the difference in him up there."

MOVIES

Could anything be lovelier than Mary Miles Minter in this new picture? It's hard to believe that anyone could even accuse Mary of being so temperamental that she spoiled a film. But that's what one of her former producers declared recently when Mary brought suit to recover $5,000 back pay. The producer claimed that Mary laughed in the wrong place, deliberately, because she was peeved. Mary will soon be seen at the Sun theater in her new picture, "Jenny, Be Good."

Rialto—"A Master Stroke."

Earl Williams, as Yale Durant, in the picture, has a sense of honor of strange brand. He seems to think it is all right to steal securities left in his charge by his dearest friend, a friend who believed in him enough to leave his entire fortune to his care, but he balks at refusing to help out a man who once saved his father from ruin. That moral obligation must be fulfilled at any cost. Then he tells the girl he loves and who loves him that he is engaged to another girl and that he absolutely must go through with his half of the bargain. From this quixotic interview, he walks out of the room into the very arms of the girl's father who informs him his fiancee has just eloped with another man. "Bad news," he answers the trusting father, "I should say not," here his face lights up, "no—good news," and clasps the other girl to his manly breast. For all of this, "A Master Stroke," is enjoyable. There are some big moments of suspense, which make you forget the day is hot, and the nights worse.

Empress—"The Little Cafe."

Max Linder is more than funny in "The Little Cafe." He is cast as a waiter in a small cafe in Paris. The fun all comes from a contract he has made with his employer that he will forfeit 500,000 francs if he ever quits his job. Then he falls heir to 2,000,000 francs, and he decides he must do something to get himself fired. Mr. Linder is appearing in the first picture he has made in two years.

Twenty-five women and men, residents of the Old People's home, were guests yesterday afternoon of the management of the Sun theater, at the matinee show of "Old Lady 31" and the current "Jiggs" comedy. The women made an attractive group with starched white dresses and tiny bonnets. They were taken to and from the home in automobiles furn
