They were accompanied by Miss Jean Kennedy, daughter of Mrs. Alfred C. Kennedy. She has been a student at Mount Holyoke college during the past year. Many are the interesting stories these girls have to tell of their school experiences and letters relating these incidents are treasured very much by their parents. The following are excerpts from a letter written by Camilla Edholm to her mother, shortly be-fore the closing of the school year at Simmons college.

Russian Children Summers in East Have Scout Troops

American Girl Scouts received the irst word from their Russian coleagues in more than a year when faurice Ross of Brooklyn, who has ust returned from Siberia, called at the Girl Scout national headquarters in New York City recently, bring-ing the greeting of the combined troops of Sibera. The headquarters of the Siberian Girl Scouts are at Irkutsk, a city of 150,000 people and the capital of Siberia. Irkutsk lies in the midst of the vast Siberian steppes near the shore of Lake Baikal, five days' journey from European Russian.

According to Mr. Ross, no girl scout organization had ever been formed in Siberia, until a book on scouting, by Sir Robert Baden-Powell, which had been translated into Russian, found its way into the city. The Russian girls were so enthusiastic that they organized themselves into troops and persuaded the boys to join them. During the time when the armies of Admiral Kolchak were fighting with the bolsheviki for possession of Irkutsk, the boy and girl scouts rendered valuable servthey did in this country during the

Mr. Ross organized a playground in his work for the children of Ir-kutsk in which the Boy and Girl Scout sassisted him. The Russian Girl Scouts learned with great in-terest from Mr. Ross of the proficiency of their American Girl Scout sisters in domestic activities, cooking first aid, dressmaking and child nursing and wanted to be taught these things in their own troop work. All of the Russian Girl Scout troops are drawn from the intelligent classes of Siberia and are non-bolshevik in sentiment, according to Mr. Ross.

Dr. Anna Shaw Memorial Is Defined

Mrs. H. C. Sumney is the Nebraska state chairman for the Dr. Anna Howard Shaw memorial. An appeal for this memorial, sent out rom the national committee in charge, says:

"Dr. Anna Howard Shaw has won er long fight.

"She toiled for four decades that women might be free. All that the women had struggled to attain through the years she gained for heir heritage.

That other women might know he joys of achievement, she broke new trails to far horizons. A beloved pioneer, she led in securing higher education and the opening of new professions for women. She always maintained a steadfast and unshakable belief that God created all men and all women equal. "So simple, sincere and true was her faith, it did not matter to her that she traveled so much of the distance alone. Forsaken by her family and friends, she faced cold, hunger and personal sacrifice to become a minister of the gospel.

"From the little parish on Cape od, she went to Boston to study medicine. She made the war easier for the women physicians who came after her.

"Guiding force of a new era, she faced the endless tedium and dullness of long campaigns that the messages of the political equality of women might go forward. And always, even when she faced the sunset, there was one great inspiration in her life-what this would means to the women who would follow her. "Anna Howard Shaw was a great igure in the history of the women who have helped to make America. The memory of her life will live in
