Americans in Practice

Matches on London Links London, June 14.-The American professional golf players, Walter Hagen and Jim Barnes, today engaged in practice matches on the St. Andrews links with local experts. In the morning Hagen, paired with J. Sorley, beat Barnes and Ina Munro, two up with a score of 72. In the afternoon Hagen and Denis Kyle beat Barnes and Munro two up and one to play with a score of 71.

The St. Andrews golf committee met with the United States delegates and an agreement was eventually

CARPENTIER IS NO MATCH FOR JACK DEMPSEY

Win After Losing Four Exhibition Here Displays Fact That Frenchman Is Great Boxer. But Not in Champion's Class.

By J. A. SHANAHAN.

Georges Carpentier, heavyweight boxing champion of Europe and the two on, sent the Dodgers today, demonstrated in a three-round exhibition last night in the city auheavyweight champions.

In his brief bout with Jules Lemauns, a sparring partner, the Frenchman shot over a dozen welldirected punches every minute. Carpentier is fast, clever and aggressive but he lacks the stamina, the rugged champion.

Comparison Ridiculous. When a person thinks of the dainty, refined French hero fighting in the heavyweight division he pictures the Frenchman exchanging blows with Jack Dempsey. The comparison borders on the ridiculous. wonderfully. His every action is well-timed, well directed. Not a motion is wasted. His defense, as far Carpentier uses his feet and hands as one could judge from the brief exhibition last night, is good. But his narrow, undeveloped back, his pallid countenance, his weak chin all tell that he is not a match for the powerful Dempsey. Carpentier and "Phantom Mike"

Gibbons would probably put on a wonderful fight if they were ever to meet. But Carpentier and Dempsey should never be matched. The Frenchman's legs are wonderful. They carry his lithe body about the ring as quickly and as flashily as those of any bantamweight or flyweight. His arms are well developed. His stomach muscles are good. But his face and his back are not those of a world's heavyweight champion.

Doesn't Exert Himself. The famous warrior didn't exert himself any last night. He pounded away at Lemauns' face and ribs just as he would at a punching bag. When he had cuffed his partner around the ring for three two-minute rounds he suddenly decided that

Managers Cannot Sign Amateurs After Today

A wild scramble for amateur base ball players was started yesterday afternoon and promises to do likewise today and tonight, for this will be the last opportunity that the managers have for signing players or the season.

Practically all of the teams in the various leagues are in need of players as many of them have released players and are under the 12-player

Managers who intend to sign players after today will find the road rough and rocky, as it was an-nounced that the rule will be strictly enforced this year. On account of using ineligible players in their game Sunday against the Stroud & Co., Manager

Custard has protested the game with the Bowen Furniture Co. It was reported that the Bowens used three men who were not allowed. A meeting of the City league managers will be held this week at which time action will be taken. Although the Kirkendall Shoe Co. base ball team of the Commercial league, by violating the rule, lost three games by protests last week they again violated the rule last Satstrength of a world's heavyweight urday in the game with Orchard-Wilhelm team, by pitching Banz, one of the players barred in that circuit.
