

MAY PUT STRICT EMBARGO UPON COAL EXPORTS

Departments of Government Considering Move to Relieve Serious Fuel Shortage in United States.

Washington, June 15.—An embargo on coal exports as a means of relieving serious fuel shortages in various sections of the country, notably in New England, was taken up for consideration by several departments of the government.

Reports from New England received the past few days by the Interstate Commerce commission have told of a coal shortage so serious that in some municipalities only two days' supply is on hand.

The railway congestion, from which the country has not fully recovered, and the strike of marine workers in a number of Atlantic ports, are held to be the principal contributing factors to the present situation.

Eradication of the harmful influence of these two factors was the subject of a conference today between Attorney General Palmer and members of the Interstate Commerce commission. Means of dealing with rail congestion and marine labor troubles were understood to have been agreed upon, although no statement was issued after the conference.

Restoration of normal transportation conditions by rail and water, however, officials conversant with the situation said, would not bring complete relief from the coal shortage and for that reason the question of an embargo similar to that in effect during last fall's coal strike is considered.

During the war, the fuel administration was possessed of power to declare an export embargo on coal, but some local experts hold that no official now has power to declare an embargo, and cite as support of their contention the effort made in the closing days of the last session of congress to pass a bill providing for such an embargo.

Members of the Interstate Commerce commission are said to hold that the commission could not put an embargo on export coal except indirectly by means of car assignment orders, which would eliminate the supply of cars for the transportation of such coal to the ports.

Should the emergency become sufficiently great, some officials declare that the attorney general might act under the Lever food and fuel control act to place an embargo on coal.

SETS THE PACE FOR GRACIOUS OMAHA

Where Harding Stands

Chicago Tribune-Omaha Bee, Leased Wire. Washington, June 15.—A summary of the policies for which Senator Warren G. Harding, republican presidential nominee, stands as disclosed by his voting record in the senate follows:

Foreign Affairs—Senator Harding voted with the majority of republicans on the various test votes on the peace treaty. While he was at heart almost a "bitter-ender," he supported the Lodge reservations. When the vote was taken on the resolution for ratification of the peace treaty with the Lodge reservation March 19, 1920, Senator Harding did not vote, but was paired with Senator Penrose, who was absent and ill. Announcement was made in the senate at that time that Senator Harding would have voted aye while Senator Penrose would have voted nay.

Commenting on the peace treaty in a speech November 19, 1919, Senator Harding said: "I think as originally negotiated it is the colossal blunder of all time, but recognizing the aspirations of our own people and the people of the world to do something toward international co-operation for the promotion and preservation of peace, and a more intimate and better understanding between nations, I have wished to make it possible to accept this covenant. I could, however, no more vote to ratify this treaty without reservations, which make sure America's independence of action, than I could participate in a knowing betrayal of this republic."

Supported War Legislation. War legislation—Senator Harding supported war legislation generally with minor exceptions. He voted for arming merchant ships; he supported the espionage bill and selective draft law; voted for food control legislation; to sever relations with Germany and for the declaration of war; for the war revenue bills, opposing several amendments for 60 and 75 per cent taxes on war profits.

Labor Legislation—Senator Harding provoked criticism from organized labor by his attitude on the railroad bill. He supported the original Cummins bill with its anti-strike clause. Explaining his vote for the anti-strike clause, Senator Harding said: "Is it not wholly consistent and fair that the same

NONPARTISAN LEAGUE TO BACK STATE TICKET

Expected to Get Behind All La Follette Candidates in Wisconsin — Delegates Instructed for Blaine.

Madison, Wis., June 15.—The Wisconsin branch of the Nonpartisan league is expected to go on record here tomorrow as endorsing the entire state ticket of the La Follette faction from James Thompson for the United States senate and J. J. Blaine for the governorship to the most minor office.

The delegates from 38 counties came here instructed for Blaine. The convention, the first real outward political affair held by the league in this state since its initial drive for members four years ago, was called to adopt a platform that is said to be practically the same as that upon which the La Follette candidates will make their race.

The platform includes planks for the repeal of the Espionage and Sedition acts, immediate repeal of federal espionage and sedition acts and liberation of political prisoners, opposing guarantee of profit to any individual or concern and scoring the Esch-Cummings act; declaring for public ownership of railroads, utilities, packing plants and stock yards, demanding a referendum on the question of national prohibition, urging development of co-operative trade and industry and better enforcement of compulsory education laws.

Edw. J. Hoover had kept still he would be in a position now for the democratic nomination. He would be a man around whom the whole of the west and all of the states dissatisfied with the Wilson administration could rally.

MENTION HOOVER AS NOMINEE AT FRISCO POWWOW

Former Food Administrator May Be Tammany Candidate Against McAdoo.

Chicago Tribune-Omaha Bee Leased Wire. French Lick, Ind., June 15.—Herbert Hoover as a possibility for the democratic presidential nomination has been mentioned here with all seriousness in political circles, where Charles Murphy, Tammany leader; Alfred E. Smith, governor of New York; Thomas Taggart, Indiana, democratic candidate for United States senator, and other leading democrats of the country are present.

Hoover's name has not been suggested as the man that the Tammany-Taggart combination is likely to back against Wm. G. McAdoo at San Francisco, but has been brought into discussion as one of the strongest men the democrats could nominate. Hoover had not been discussed in the conference until tonight.

"I don't know how the democrats around the country would take to it," one of the leaders at the conference said. "In my opinion he would be the strongest man we could nominate and in the event of a deadlock at San Francisco, which I anticipate, his name could be brought forward and put over with Cummins act; declaring for public ownership of railroads, utilities, packing plants and stock yards, demanding a referendum on the question of national prohibition, urging development of co-operative trade and industry and better enforcement of compulsory education laws.
