

WILSON SURE PEOPLE WILL CONDEMN G. O. P.

President Confident Democratic Convention Will Welcome Making League Campaign Issue.

word that America has given to the rest of the world.

"The thinly veiled rejection of the principle of the league of nations by the Chicago convention will not fool any one. The attitude of Senator Lodge and that of Senator Johnson differ only in degree. Both are really opposed to it in any form. One of these gentlemen is disingenuous and evasive and the other candidly hostile.

"It must be a trifle disconcerting to some republicans," he added, "to have their party propose now to repudiate that which was approved a few years ago by some of their most important leaders. I am as confident today, as I was when I returned from Paris finally in July last, that the people of not only America, but of the entire world, are in favor of the league of nations; that they would feel a greater sense of security if its benefits should be guaranteed; that they would not approve, with their votes, of the policy of the republican party which is wholly political in intent and purpose, to deny them the protection that the league of nations measures.

"The republican congressional policy," he added, "was more significant for evasion of joint responsibility in grappling with the problems that confront the country than for any moral appreciation of the responsibility itself. Republican leaders in congress cried aloud for the repeal of some of the measures which they well knew protected the people from more serious evils than they would have the country know.

Praises Lever Act.

"The Lever food control act has proven to be one of the most effective agencies in preventing deprivations at the expense of the people than almost any other measure now in operation. Time for repealing it is not yet.

"Republicans chorused a ponderous note of protest against the administration enforcement of the espionage act and some other measures that were of vital necessity during the war. Yet I defy the republicans to prove that the power given the government during the war has ever been unjustly used against the people; that a single citizen has been unwarrantedly punished for any act of aggression or disloyalty against the nation; that any man has been punished for expressing his opinion. I have read charges to the contrary, but in each instance I have had the matter thoroughly looked into and am in position to contest the accuracy of any statement that the rights of a single individual have been unjustly invaded.

"The United States senate has for 11 months had in its hands the power to end conditions that are unmistakably irksome to a great many of our citizens because, with the ratification of the peace treaty, the operation of laws that were enacted to safeguard the interests of the country in the war would automatically cease.

Must Enforce Laws.

"As long as these laws are on the statute books they must be enforced. They have been, and are being.

ing, enforced with as little injury to the welfare of the country and rights of individuals as possible. I don't know that I would even care to defend any policy that I have deemed essential to the fullest protection of the national interest. That would be too much like offering an apology where one is not needed. I do not believe my course calls for an apology of any kind.

"The republican and not the democratic policy, has been responsible for any bad effects that have resulted from the failure of the republican senate to ratify the Versailles treaty and the covenant of the league of nations. The republican policy of negotiation has been persisted in for the sole purpose of advancing republican chances for winning the coming presidential election and has never reflected a sincere desire to ameliorate the effect of measures adopted for protecting the country in time of war. The republican policy has been rather to exaggerate the effect of these measures.

"The president declined to discuss candidates for the democratic presidential nomination.

"I have the greatest faith," he said, "in the intelligent appreciation by the delegates who will assemble at San Francisco two weeks hence to write the platform and nominate the standard bearers of our party. They will have before them the republican platform, and will have estimated the effect of it on the people generally. They will have from whom to select candidates for the presidential and vice presidential nominations a number of excellent men. I should not want to express any preference or opinion regarding either individuals or platform expressions which might influence the minds of the men whose votes will ultimately decide both.

Wants Progressive Platform.

"I hope and believe that the platform to be adopted at San Francisco will be more progressive and clearer in understanding than that enunciated by the republicans at Chicago. The character of the men who will sit as delegates in the San Francisco convention should be sufficient guarantee that the issues upon which the campaign is to be fought will be met with definite and concrete statements and not cloudy and ambiguous terms as was the case in the Chicago convention.

"The republican convention," he added, "was the apotheosis of reaction. It was the direct antithesis of what I hope the democratic convention will turn out to be. The leaders, who call themselves progressive and who pretend to speak for the progressive element in the republican party, sacrificed every principle that made attractive the movement of eight years ago in order to gratify the ambition of some of the present day leaders to prevent the people of the United States from fulfilling their honest obligations to the rest of the world and to themselves. The abandonment at Chicago of the progressive spirit was woefully tragic. I hope and believe that the democratic convention will provide the object lesson in this direction that will not be overlooked."

President Wilson also declined to discuss in detail the subject of prohibition, woman suffrage or the high cost of living. He expressed the opinion that the party leaders "will provide a platform sufficiently broad, progressive, liberal, just and thoroughly democratic to convince the people of the country of the complete honesty of the democratic purpose and of the difference between it and the republican party."

Labor Chief Beaten On Railroad Issue

$60 per week and their traveling allowance from $6 to $8 per day. This was declared to be necessary owing to the high cost of living.

The convention called upon congress to enact "necessary legislation to establish the United States employment service as a permanent bureau in the Department of Labor with ample appropriations."

The council will also aid civil service employees to obtain "the right to a hearing and to appeal from the judgment of officials in cases involving demotion or dismissal."

The federation adopted a decision that the "rights of free speech and free press and assembly are inalienable and are beyond the power of any judge, court, legislative body or administration official to qualify, modify, abrogate or suspend."

Duncan Proposal Beaten.

The proposal of James Duncan of Seattle for an "initiative and referendum" clause in the federation's constitution was defeated after a lively debate. The proposal would have permitted the submission of any "given proposition to the whole membership" of the organization upon demand of 5 per cent of the local unions.

Military training in the schools was condemned as "the first step in the development of mechanical and unquestioning obedience which results in the killing of initiative."

Compulsory military training was also declared "unnecessary, undesirable and un-American."

The "moral support" of the federation was voted to the 10,000 striking fur workers in New York City.

The membership of the executive council was ordered increased from 11 to 15 members, by the addition of four new vice presidents.

A resolution to elect the officers of the federation by "popular vote of the membership" was defeated.

Removal Sale!

THE remarkable growth of this business in the last five years has been so steady and rapid that for some time it has been up to the limit that we could attend to in the limited space at our command. Furthermore, it has not been as convenient for our patrons as we would wish, and was not as comfortable for our friends as might be.

WE ARE NOW very pleased to announce that we have secured very much larger quarters in a most convenient location—the entire second floor of the Brown Block at 16th and Douglas, over Brodegaard Bros.' Jewelry and directly opposite the Brandeis Stores.

IN securing this we have been able to retain the great advantage of the low rent the second floor location affords, and will be able to continue in the future, as in the past, our policy of securing for you the best merchandise at a much lower price than is possible in a street level shop.

IN addition, our new shop is an absolutely daylight store, where you can judge of colors and shades under clear daylight. This new shop is being designed with the one idea in mind of convenience to our patrons, and we can safely say you will not find a better arranged or more conveniently equipped shop west of Chicago.

WE HAVE determined that not a single garment will be removed from our present location to the new shop. This will mean a clearance of all lines, and the values we offer will be such as to make each sale a genuine economy event.

Union Outfitting Co. Will Exhibit Newest Pathe "Miracle" Phonograph Saturday

Latest Phonograph Wonder Does Away With Tone Arm and Sound Box.

Music Can Now Be Heard As It Was Originally Played by Artist.

Just as scientists are continually striving to perfect the aeroplane, plant life, etc., so have experts of acoustics been endeavoring to create a "life-like" phonograph.

Months ago word came forth that the Pathe Laboratories would soon have an announcement of importance for the musical world and this promise reaches fulfillment Saturday at the Union Outfitting Company in a public exhibition of the Pathe Actuelle.

The Actuelle (pronounced Ak-shew-el) actually reproduces with life-like reality, the living, breathing voice of the artist.

The "Actuelle" does away with the Tone Arm, the Tone Box and Tone Chamber we are familiar with on old style phonographs.

You are cordially invited to come and see this newest Phonograph sensation. Free souvenir to all visitors.

The Union Outfitting Company never considers a transaction complete until the customer is fully satisfied. As always, you make your own terms.
