

THINK BURLESON EXPRESSED VIEW OF PRESIDENT

Demand for Repeal of "Drastic" Provisions of Volstead Act Regarded Intimation of Administration's Stand.

San Francisco, June 22.—Postmaster General Burleson's statement today at San Antonio regarding democratic platform issues drew particular attention among party leaders here for the national convention next week because of its frank declaration for modification of the Volstead prohibition enforcement act.

Mr. Burleson's demand for repeal of "drastic" provisions of the act expressed in more direct fashion views which some of the party leaders here, who have been working privately, coming from a member of President Wilson's cabinet, the statement was regarded as a possible intimation of the administration's attitude on the prohibition issue before the convention.

Senator Glass of Virginia, who is due here tomorrow, is understood to have been entrusted with a formal expression of President Wilson's views as to the platform. On other occasions, however, the postmaster general had been the direct spokesman of the president on important issues and democrats here were inclined to take his expression as to the prohibition plank as more than a statement of his own views.

Unanimity of Opinion.

The preliminary convention discussion in progress here, while wholly informal in character, has shown a striking unanimity of opinion on two points thus far. The first of these is that the platform struggle will be the real fight of the convention; the second that the prohibition plank will be the chief issue in that fight, outrivaling the league of nations declaration in interest among delegates.

On the league issue W. J. Bryan already is standing directly opposed to President Wilson's views as to the party attitude. That dates back to the Jackson day dinner, when Mr. Wilson urged that the democrats enter the campaign on the issue of the ratification of the league covenant without material reservation. The former secretary of state stood just as strongly for acceptance of the republican senate reservations.

as a basis for ratification and in order to keep the league covenant out of the campaign. Mr. Bryan's If Mr. Burleson's statement is to be accepted as representing the president's views on prohibition, delegates said, it now was evident that Bryan and the administration forces were to clash over that plank in the party platform. Mr. Bryan's views have been known to be rigidly against any weakening of the prohibition laws.

Third Point of Issue.

There is also, it was said, a third point on which the president and his former secretary of state might clash horns at the convention. It was recalled that when the president asked congress for authority to accept a mandate over Armenia under the league of nations, Mr. Bryan promptly issued a statement in flat opposition to such a program. It has been regarded as possible that the president might seek to have the convention endorse his course as to Armenia and if so, it was said, the Nebraska leader could be expected to exert his influence against such action.

Pending arrival of Senator Glass, Mr. Burleson and Mr. Bryan, all of whom will reach the convention city during the week, the few party leaders and delegates already on the ground have been exchanging only gossipy comment and expressions of personal opinion on issues to come up. There have been no conferences as yet and there is still little activity among workers for various candidates for the presidential nomination to distract attention from the platform outlook.

Senator Owens Sends Forth First Volley of Shrapnel

Presidential Candidate Is Against: President Wilson, Senator Harding, "Wets," Supreme Court, Republican Platform and Dealers in Necessities and Then Some.

By WILLIAM PHILLIP SIMMS, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

San Francisco, June 22.—Senator Robert L. Owens of Oklahoma, first of the democratic candidates for the nomination for the presidency to arrive here, today fired his opening broadside. Among the victims of his shrapnel, direct or by ricochet, were:

President Wilson, Republican Nominee Warren G. Harding.

The "wets" and the "drys." The supreme court.

The republican platform makers. Dealers in the necessities.

And then some.

"I am opposed," he said, his dark eyes snapping, "to the league of nations or liquor being carried into the campaign as the main points in dispute. The real issue is the high cost of living.

Must Make Changes.

"I favor a plank calling for the ratification of the treaty on terms acceptable to the majority of the senate. The treaty question must be out of the way of the election."

"I favor a plank declaring for the strict enforcement of the 18th amendment and if the Volstead act isn't strong enough then I favor making it stronger. I think it is sufficient, however, he added with a sneer, "for a hotbed of beefsteak contains more alcohol than is allowed under its provisions."

"I favor federal control by license of all concerns distributing the necessities of life making it possible for the public to procure what it needs at a fair price.

After Supreme Court.

"I oppose a few men, appointed for life, governing this country. I mean the supreme court and I say it without apology. It is not the supreme court's fault, however, but the fault of congress and of the people because neither the one nor the other offers any complaint. The constitution does not have to be changed to remedy this. Congress can do it very simply by drawing a line beyond which the supreme court is not to go."

Senator Owens did not mention

ILLINOIS CAUGHT BETWEEN M'ADOO AND COX BOOMS

Ohio Delegation Meets Sucker State Train at Colorado Springs — Alabama Contingent Arrives.

By E. O. PHILLIPS, Chicago Tribune-Omaha Bee Leased Wire.

Pueblo, Colo., June 22.—Illinois was caught in a jam this morning at Colorado Springs between the Cox and McAdoo booms. Sharp and swift diplomacy on the part of George E. Brennan and other Illinois leaders prevented a collision.

When the Brennan special with the Illinois delegation on board pulled into Colorado Springs at 7:30 this morning, five minutes ahead of scheduled time, 400 Ohio democrats were on the station platform, whooping it up for Governor Cox. They had a red-coated band and there were big drums. Senator Pomeroy was the chief of the Ohioans. He rushed to the car where the Illinois leaders have their headquarters. "You are with us," Senator Pomeroy said, "aren't you?"

"We may have a candidate of our own," George Brennan answered. "At the moment the Alabama special train pulled in with 200 democrats on board, all decorated with McAdoo badges and banners. Governor Kilby of Alabama and National Committeeman W. T. Sanders at once sought the Illinois cars.

For McAdoo to End. "We don't believe that McAdoo has quit," was their suggestion. "We are for him to a finish. No man is big enough to take himself out of the presidential contest. Alabama will place him in nomination when the roll call of the states starts."

All of this was interesting enough to the Illinois democrats whose first choice, it is now agreed, will be Attorney General Palmer, but it was not convincing, so that nothing happened except some judicious hacking and filling by Brennan, Dennis, Eagan, Congressman Rainey, "Bob" Switzer and others of the Illinois delegation.

The Tammay contingent had departed from the Springs a few moments preceding the arrival of Illinois, Ohio and Alabama. The New Yorkers left the word behind for direct communication to Illinois that they are glad that McAdoo has quit—that the quit in time to save himself the trouble and that the convention may now proceed to nominate a candidate without having to take orders from anybody.

Want Co-operation.

This message, somewhat confidential in its details, was indicative to the Illinoisians who analyzed it that the New York delegation is prepared to combat at every turn any attempt to nominate the president and wants definite assurance of Illinois' co-operation in such an undertaking.

Such a promise, expressed or implied, has not been given by responsible Illinois leadership and a set of circumstances may arise, so the big fellows say, whereby Illinois would resume the state's responsibility of 1912 at Baltimore and put through the president for another term.

The Illinois spokesmen feel, as they express it, that with their 38 unpledged votes and their position in the roll call, the state's delegation will hold the most strategic point on the line at Frisco and they will play the game on that basis of assumption. That Illinois will be courted by every presidential possibility is fully evidenced by the morning's proceedings at Colorado Springs.

Aside from Illinois, Ohio and Alabama, parties of delegates from more than 20 states were swarming through the Garden of the Gods and up Pike's Peak. Mayor Thomas of the Springs, who was at the head of a large reception committee at the trains, estimated that more than an actual quorum of the Frisco delegates were in Colorado Springs between yesterday morning and today noon, when the coast-bound trains departed over the Denver & Rio Grande in six sections.

Washington, June 22.—(Special Telegram.)—Senator George W. Norris, accompanied by his wife and young daughter, left for the north woods under the peremptory orders of his physician. ## BLUFFS YOUTH IS TREATED FOR HYDROPHOBIA

Examination Indicates That Dog Was Mad When It Attacked Boy, Say Health Authorities.

The dog which attacked Leroy Hartman, 6 years old, during the hot weather about ten days ago, was suffering from hydrophobia, according to a report from the Iowa state university laboratory, where the head of the animal was sent for examination.

Leroy is the son of Mrs. Lydia Hartman, 1239 East Broadway, Council Bluffs. The animal which bit him was a stray dog, apparently, since police could not locate any person to claim ownership. The lad was placed under a physician's care at once and Dr. G. G. Miller, assistant state veterinarian, sent the dog's head to Iowa City.

Dr. A. P. Hanchett is now treating Leroy twice a day with serum injections to prevent the development of the disease in the boy's body. The preventative serum is furnished by the state university. The boy was seriously ill for several days after being bitten, but he recovered and his present condition is encouraging.
