By CHARLES D. MICHAELS. Chleago Tribune-Omaha Bee Leased Wire, Chicago, June 23 .- Sentiment in grains was radically bearish at the start and corn dropped 214@244e under general commission house and local selling. Some stop loss orders were uncovered around $1.67 for September, but under that figure there was an excellent class of buying. Later rye started upward and with reports of a strike of switchmen on some of the western roads, a wave of short covering swept over the market. The close was at the top with net gains of 134@1%c and the bears had much less confidence in their position at

Oats were lower early with corn and higher later, gaining 1/4@54c. Rye advanced 11/2@254c and bar-The bulge was due more to the tech-

The bulge was due more to the technical position than anything else. The tendency to oversell on the breaks has been pronounced for months and has almost invariably been followed by sharp oulges. Railroad embargoes were issued that were as much bearish as bullish, and in the same market the July cash spread narrowed to around 2½c at the last, against around 6c at the close the previous day.

Sample Values Lower. Sample values were 1@2c lower and failed to rally more than fractionally from the inside figures despite the upturn in futures. Receipts, 178 cars, with shipping sales, 11,000 bushels.

shipping sales, 11,000 bushels.

Free buying of September cats at 84c on resting orders combined with slightly less favorable crop reports and short covering on the strength in corn made a higher market after an easy start. Trade was not large at times. Country offerings small with 10,000 bushels No. 3 white for August shipment at 3c over September, track Chicago. Sample values unchanged to 1c lower with receipts, 49 cars. Shipping sales, 42,000 bushels.

Persistent buying of July by houses with cars. Shipping sales, 42,000 bushels.

Persistent buying of July by houses with seaboard connections advanced that delivery to 30c over September at the last, the spread being about the widest known. Germany was after rye at the seaboard with sales of 100,000 bushels, and 50,000 bushels were sold in all positions in the west and northwest to the seaboard at 14c over July, track Baltimore, guaranteed July shipment. Bartletes, Fraizer, Co., have a report from B. W. Snow in which he says that crop conditions in Illinois could not be more mixed, ranging from very fine to practical failure. Early sown oats give I fair promise, while late seeding are in all stages of growth, but generally small and unthrifty. Ground badly crusted. Only earliest can make good crop.
