

MID-WEST GROUP OF FARM BUREAU HEADS HOLD MEET

Outline Plans for Forming Association to Buy and Sell Farm Products on Nontrust Basis.

Ames, Ia., June 27.—(Special)—A series of conferences were held here by the American Farm Bureau federation. National President Edward Howard and Secretary Coverdale were present. Farm bureau heads from 14 states, comprising what is known as "the mid-west group," also were in attendance. These states are: Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, North Dakota, South Dakota, Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa, Missouri, Kentucky and Oklahoma.

Will Hire Solicitors.

Hiring of four to 10 solicitors to assist communities in establishing co-operative grain elevators.

Financing strongly enough to handle the business of the entire community.

Putting elevators in position to carry their proportion of grain for the period of marketing, to the period of consumption, eliminating the need of speculative capital.

Plan Big Plants.

Make plants large enough to carry their production of grain from a very favorable year, when excess production occurs, to a less favorable season, when carry-over is required.

Promoting the joining together of these elevators to own the required terminals, coal mines, saw mills and other business that may be essential to the welfare of the entire community.

Establishing a clearing house to begin operation as soon as enough farmers' elevators already established and those to be established warrant its success; this clearing house to function as a brokerage connecting the producer with the consumer along the line of least resistance.

Meet at Lansing.

In other words the American Farm Bureau federation proposes to form an association for buying and selling on a nontrust basis. There will be no dividends; the profits automatically being liquidated by additional improvements, elevators, factories, mill, etc.

The next meeting of the federation is scheduled for July 27 and 28 at Lansing, Mich. One committee member-at-large, appointed by the national president, and one committee member from each of the "midwest group" of state farm bureaus, will make up the convention. It was also unanimously decided to invite the heads of every known grain dealing, stock-buying or co-operative organization of any kind among the farmers, to attend the Lansing meeting.

Gothenburg Shipper Finds Omaha Market Best for Stockmen

Among the shippers to the Omaha live stock market last week was J. H. Norsworthy of Gothenburg, said to be one of the oldest and largest shippers in the state. He brought in a six-load shipment of cattle, 87 head of which was high grade shorthorns, which averaged 1,367 pounds and topped the market at $16.25.

Mr. Norsworthy for the last 28 years has been a shipper of cattle and hogs to the Omaha market and he spoke of the many changes he has experienced during that time.

"A fluctuation of 10 cents in the price of hogs was regarded as a great or a big piece of luck in the days when I first started to ship," said Mr. Norsworthy, "while now the market is constantly changing and causes no great disturbance. I remember the first load of hogs I shipped there was a raise of 25 cents a hundred and stock raisers deemed it phenomenal at that time. I have been in the game a long time and nothing surprises me any more."

"I have been shipping quite a number of hogs to the Pacific coast," said Mr. Norsworthy, "and though the prices have been very good, it hardly pays to take the risk of losses on such a long haul."

Emerson Breeder Tops Omaha Market With His Cornfeds

Ernest Lass came in to the Omaha live stock market last week with a load of mixed shorthorns from his ranch near Emerson that averaged 1,633 pounds and topped the market for the day at $16.25.

Mr. Lass said he bought the cattle as feeders on the market here last September for $11.50, when they averaged 1,096 pounds, which netted him a gain of 517 pounds. He said the extra weight was put on by a short time on pasture, followed by feeding in a corn field and later a full feed of corn and alfalfa.

Walworth Stockman Says Wheat Good in Loup County

Henry Hyde of Walworth brought in a mixed load of cattle and hogs to the Omaha live stock market last week and he said the crop prospects in Loup county were the best in years.

"All the way to Aurora and even beyond I never saw the wheat look better," said Mr. Hyde, "and the recent rains and cool weather has been excellent for the small grain."

Truck Caravans With Live Stock Increase To Omaha Stock Yards

For the last two weeks the daily caravan of live stock trucks to the South Omaha market has daily increased and the number of hogs to the load has become larger.

Thursday 1,130 head of hogs were brought in by truck and about the same number the day before and some of the hogs were brought in from farms as far as 75 miles away from Omaha, from points in Iowa as well as Nebraska. One load of sheep were brought in that covered 125 miles between the farm and the market.

The roads in every direction have been in excellent shape, according to drivers and they report all the main traveled roads into Omaha as smooth and hard as new city pavement, which makes it impossible for trucks with pneumatic tires to make faster time than the average train. The recent rains are said to have helped the roads considerably.

University Notes

Assistant Professor A. A. Bunting will teach through the two terms of the summer school at the State university. At the end of the second session he is planning to visit his son in Pittsburgh, Pa. Professor Bunting has large classes in manual training and mechanical drawing this summer, in which both men and women participate. It is planned to make some new desks in the manual training class for use in the mechanical drawing classes.

Charles A. Selk, assistant in the Wood laboratory, is aiding Professor Bunting with his work in the summer school.

Assistant Professor J. A. Lucy, Associate Professor J. W. Haney and Professor P. K. Slaymaker are testing tractors this summer at the state farm. The first is engaged in calculation and testing of kerosene; the second with the dynamometer and the last named with calculations incidental to the tests.

Hastings College.

The summer conference closed Sunday night with a communion service and the delegates have gone home. In many respects it was more successful than previous conferences, as the weather was greatly appreciated and the evening inspirational addresses added much to the study and conference spirit of the week.

Dr. French is now located in the home occupied by President Crone for the last eight years. Mrs. French arrived last week. Mr. Crone has been assisting Dr. French in the care of the conference. Many students have been coming in and making arrangements for next year. Twenty-three have been engaged to depart for their new homes on the 29th of next year and it is apparent now that the enrollment will repeat the past year which was the record-breaking enrollment in the history of the college.

Dr. W. W. Lawrence of the Westminster church of Lincoln led the summer school chapel Friday.

The June issue of the Outlook is now off the press. It gives a full write-up of the activities of commencement week and is being mailed to the friends of the institution.

Dr. Farmer is now on his way to Colorado in the interests of the college, while Dr. Kitcher is working in Nebraska.

WELL TRAINED CLERKS WANTED BY BUSINESS MEN

College Trained Men and Women Get Preference in Big Commercial Concerns.

"Give me one well trained clerk rather than a half dozen applicants who have not been actually taught how to do business." The speaker was an office manager, under whom hundreds of higher up office men and women have advanced.

"The greatest trouble we have with new help is that they come to us so raw that it requires a teaching staff in the office to lay the fundamentals which any office success must have before a real understanding of methods can result. We have quit trying to teach our own employees and have adopted a system of depending on a high-grade and established business training which can only be acquired by real study under competent instruction."

"Life is so short to train our own employees in the fundamentals. We would rather pay for that training in salaries, and have them come to us recommended by a business training college upon which we can rely."

"When Boyles Business college sends a young man or woman to us and says, 'Here's one that we can say knows the game thoroughly, and will adapt themselves to your system,' we know that our troubles in that department are over."

Boyles Business college gives that inside information of business methods that the student unconsciously absorbs in the regular work, which ordinarily can only be attained by years of close observation. This absorption of details is always valuable at some time in the business career of the student and marks the difference between the high and low-priced clerical help. This school will continue throughout the summer months, both day and evening classes.

Kearney Normal.

Prof. R. W. Powell, head of the department of rural education, is on the N. E. A. program at Salt Lake City in July. He says the fact that he has been in Nebraska a very short time has won immediate recognition.

With an enrollment two and half times as large as that of the regular year, Kearney's regular faculty has been forced to find additional staff members for the summer term. Supr. R. R. McGee of the David City school has just arrived to take the overflow classes in secondary mathematics. Miss Elizabeth Cummings, A. B.

Seniors

You who are graduating from High School or Prep School—toward what goal does your ambition point? Do you lean toward a career in business or in one of the professions? Is it your intention to become an educator, a scientist, an agricultural expert? Do you plan to prepare yourself for the strenuous battle of life by thorough special training in any line? There has never been a time when such training was more essential, when its advantages were more apparent, in a world new-born after the cataclysm. Profound changes have been wrought. Trying times, and times of glorious opportunity, are just ahead. The University trained man or woman will approach these trials, these opportunities, equipped with sound training and sure knowledge. And in comparison with these advantages, the time, the effort, the money involved in securing such training will count as little. Your State University, time-honored and hallowed in tradition, offers a well rounded education in your chosen vocation together with a host of pleasant and worth while activities for your leisure hours. A comprehensive curriculum, an unexcelled corps of professors and instructors, athletes, debating societies, music, dramatics—all these await you at Lincoln. Especially interesting to you will be the literature describing the University and its manifold activities, which is now ready for distribution to 1920 Seniors. Send for your copy. It will be of help to you in making your plans for the future.
