Problems That Perplex

Answered by BEATRICE FAIRFAX

An Indifferent Suitor. Dear Miss Fairfax, Omaha Bee: I am 20. There is a young man I like very much. He makes engagements and constantly breaks them, and never writes an apology. In case I call him up he always finds some excuse which is quite impossible. When I am with this young man he is attentive. When out to an affair he nearly always is with me in preference to other girls.

A Reader. The young man seems to be in different and lazy. I'm glad he does not add to his other pleasant methods of reciprocating your affections the rudeness of hurting you by slighting you in public. Don't you think it would be wise to decide that he just doesn't count as a factor in your life?

A Plea for Dignity. Dear Miss Fairfax, Omaha Bee: I am private secretary in a large office. The majority of the people never writes an apology. In case I call him up he always finds some excuse which is quite impossible. When I am with this young man he is attentive. When out to an affair he nearly always is with me in preference to other girls.

A CONSTANT READER. If you are dignified people will respect you, and if you fall in this, they are likely to judge you according to your own conduct and the things it suggests. Perhaps you dress too conspicuously. Perhaps your manner is an invitation and a challenge. Try to find out where you are at fault and try to alter your conduct accordingly.

Swift & Company's Profit From all Sources. THESE figures show the small effect that packers' profits have on either the price paid to the producer or the price paid by the consumer. The packer is not responsible for high prices. Swift & Company "turned over" its invested capital (capital stock and surplus) about six times in 1919. This fact, coupled with our large volume of business, made it possible to operate on a profit of 1 1/2 cents per dollar of sales. Our books are audited by certified public accountants. We want the public to know and to understand our business. Swift & Company, U. S. A. Omaha Local Branch, 13th & Leavenworth Sts. A. W. Gross, Manager.
