

EMPLOYEES ASK SCHOOL BOARD TO PAY IN CASH

Finance Chairman Obtains Tentative Promise From Banks to Cash Warrants at Par.

Janitors and others on the payroll of the board of education flocked to the county treasurer's office Thursday morning, demanding payment of their salaries in cash.

When the rush began Thursday, Endres and C. O. Talmadge, chairman of the finance committee of the school board, called a hurried conference with Walter W. Head, president of the Omaha National Bank, and Fred Davis, president of the Clearing House association, and a tentative agreement was reached to cash at par the small number of warrants now being issued.

Members to Retire. Endres told Talmadge that the school board must shoulder its own burden, after the startling condition of the school finances had been revealed at the conference.

Talmadge said it would be only a short time until all members of the school board, except himself, would retire, and that under present conditions it was unreasonable to expect men to carry the burden of school board membership for any great length of time.

Bonds in Doubt. To complicate matters, Endres says, the $6,000,000 bonds voted for the new High School of Commerce building and several grade schools can not be disposed of because of the present money stringency.

Salaries of Omaha teachers on the summer payroll total about $60,000, which Mr. Talmadge says he believes he can arrange with Omaha banks to handle. "But what is to be done next fall and winter, I am sure I don't know," he said.

It is claimed there are now outstanding registered warrants totaling approximately $1,000,000, which are to be paid out of taxes collected this month. It was recalled that the schools have been in financial trouble ever since the revenue from saloon licenses was discontinued.

BLACKMAIL, REPLY OF AUTO DEALER IN ASSAULT CASE

George Reim Says Charges Made by Woman Are Ridiculous.

George Reim, former Omaha automobile man, who is under arrest in Los Angeles, his present home, on a charge of attacking Mrs. May Cosboom while riding with her in a car, will claim attempted blackmail on the part of Mrs. Cosboom as his defense, it became known yesterday.

Reim is now head of the Reim-Thompson company, a large automobile body and top company in Los Angeles. His wife obtained a divorce here several years ago and he married again and moved to Los Angeles.

Mrs. Cosboom claims Reim asked her to ride with him and then turned off the main boulevard and attacked her. The district attorney says he will introduce as evidence Mrs. Cosboom's clothing, which is said to have been badly torn in the struggle.

Reim says it was broad daylight and nobody but a crazy man would have attempted to do what the woman charges him with having done. Farmers were at work in the fields nearby, he says. He is at liberty under bond.

Falconer Expected to Cast Deciding Vote in Dunn Case

Final disposition of the case of Captain John Dunn, police detective, is expected at an early date as City Commissioner Falconer returned to Omaha Thursday.

During Falconer's absence, an effort was made to oust Dunn from the department on a charge of misconduct, but the vote stood three to three, making Falconer's vote necessary for a decision.

Mr. Falconer said Thursday that he was not in the best of health and might not be in his office for a few days.

Plan New $40,000 Stock Pavilion at Columbus

Columbus, Neb., July 8.—(Special.)—The new stock pavilion in Columbus will cost about $40,000, according to estimates made at a meeting of the directors of the company. The plans provide for a brick structure 88 by 130 feet in dimensions, with a seating capacity of 500, a sale ring 18 by 30, with an office and a women's rest room on the main floor.

OMAHA CITIZENS FORCED TO SERVE IN GREEK ARMY

Trio Compelled to Enter Military Service While on Visit, Letters to Friends Say.

Steve Abriotes, one of the proprietors of the Olympic Candy Kitchen, 1518 Harney street; John Rogers of Rogers Bros., who conduct a confectionery store at Twenty-fourth and Farnam streets; and George Seladis, proprietor of the Palace pool hall, 1318 Douglas street, are being forced to serve in the Greek army against their will, it became known here Thursday.

The three men, with four companions from Fort Dodge, Ia., left in April for Athens, Greece, their former home, for a visit. A cablegram and a short time later a letter, announced their arrival in Athens. Nothing further was heard from them until Gust Bescheis of the A. B. Sweet Shop, a cousin of Abriotes, received a letter from him Wednesday night saying he and all of his companions had been forced to enter the army.

Business associates here say Abriotes and Rogers had taken out final citizenship papers and Seladis had taken out first papers. Their friends believe they will appeal to United States authorities at Athens for release from the army.

Seladis is said to have married soon after his arrival in Athens.

Make Plans to Entertain Nebraska Editors in Omaha

The annual summer social session of the Nebraska Press association, composed of newspaper men throughout the state, will be held for three days, beginning Monday, July 26, in Omaha. More than 300 have asserted their intention to attend.

On Monday the men of the association will be entertained at the Ak-Sar-Ben den. The women attending will be taken to a large theater party and later to a chop suey supper. The sight of activities is centered at Krug park on Tuesday, and tour of the packing houses and the Live Stock exchange has been arranged for Wednesday, the closing day of the event. The guests will also be taken to the Lakuma Country club during the afternoon.

'FUNERAL HOME' IS NUISANCE, JUDGE SAYS IN RULING

Injunction Made Permanent And Undertaker Again Is Without Location.

A "funeral home" under that or any other name is a nuisance, District Judge Sears declared yesterday, in ruling on the injunction asked by residents in the vicinity of 2118 California street, against Willis G. Crosby, undertaker, restraining him from opening an undertaking establishment at that address.

Crosby earlier had planned to move his business to 2018 West street, but residents of that neighborhood also protested.

"An undertaking establishment by any name is undesirable in a residence district, and calling it a 'funeral home' does not change its objectionable character," said Judge Sears.

Witnesses declared the undertaker moved into the house on California street at night and opened for business the next day, Sunday, when no legal action could be commenced immediately.

The temporary injunction, granted several days ago, was made permanent.

Suspend Policeman Who Saved Mayor's Life Night of Riot

Police Chauffeur Russell Norgaard, credited with saving the life of Mayor Smith the night of the court house riot last fall, has been suspended from the police force for 10 days.

Norgaard is charged with assaulting William Helgerson, a tinner, 2908 Vinton street, in the sergeant's office at Central police station after Helgerson had been arrested several days ago.

Inspector Pattullo demanded a complete report of the affair from Norgaard. Chief of Police Eberstein announced the suspension yesterday.

Harding Worthy of Any Trust, Business Man Writes

Elmer E. Foshier, 2056 Farnam street, has received a letter from William T. Jones, business man of Marion, O., who wrote in reference to Senator Warren G. Harding, republican presidential nominee:

"Senator Harding compels the profound admiration of all with whom he comes in contact and by his unswerving devotion to public duties he holds the admiration of all that know him. He has progressed from one public trust to another. I feel that he will surround himself with the safest, sanest and ablest men of the party. With Senator Harding at the head, American ideals will be safeguarded. His life is one of splendid service in the places where he has served."

Onions Are Cheap!

Buy Onions! The one food product on the market today that can be bought at retail for less than it cost to produce.

The large crop this year has placed on the market more onions than a normal demand can consume. Growers have already lost hundreds of thousands of dollars, and will be discouraged in replanting unless the public comes to the rescue.

Onions bought now will supply the home with food of great value at a great reduction in price, and will help keep the price normal next year.

Onions are healthful and nutritious. They can be prepared in various appetizing ways—creamed, fried, baked, and should be used in soups and salads. As a pickle they supply to the winter diet many needed elements of value.

Save money—buy onions now and help reduce the high cost of living.
