Police Raid on North Side Home Reveals Fermenting Mash in Wholesale Quantities With Whisky and Yeast.

TWO MEN ARRESTED ON LIQUOR CHARGES

Pair Turned 200 Quarts of Booze Into Retail Channels in Omaha Underworld, Police Declare.

The largest still ever found in a moonshine plant in Omaha was confiscated by police about 6 yesterday evening in a raid at 3416 Pratt street. The still with a capacity of 60 gallons was equipped with an eight-foot copper coil and was ready for operation.

In addition to the still the police officers confiscated 225 gallons of fermenting corn mash, one gallon of corn whiskey and four pounds of yeast.

L. O. Stephens, 501 South Thirtieth street, and James Carson, 1228 Parkwood avenue, who police say were in charge of the moonshine plant, were arrested. In addition to a charge of illicit manufacture of whiskey a charge of drunkenness was filed against Stephens and a charge of carrying concealed weapons against Carson.

Carson is better known to police as Jimmy Carroll. Police said Stephens had been drinking some of his own brew.

When arrested by Sergeants Samuelson and Summit, in charge of the police raiding squad, both men declined to talk. According to police the pair were manufacturing and selling more than 50 gallons of booze daily.

Chinese Are Warned Not to Storm Peking in Case of Uprising

Peking, July 10.—(By The Associated Press.)—Warning has been given the government by the diplomatic corps here that in case of an uprising, there must be no fighting in this city and that Peking must not be subjected to bombardment. Forces commanded by Tuan Chieh-shan, former premier and minister of war, are surrounding Peking.

General Wu Pei Fu, who has been relieved of the command of government troops in Chih Li, near Pao Ting Fu, 30 miles south of here, but whether fighting occurs there will depend, it is said, upon the acceptance by Wu Pei Fu of his dismissal as general. Tuan Chieh-shan's attitude is a result of the government's dismissal of General Hsu Shu Cheng, as resident commissioner for Inner Mongolia. He is a leader of the Anfu element which received a defeat when the appointment of Chow Shumu to the premiership was announced.

Sheep Herder Killed in Fight on Idaho Range

Boise, Idaho, July 10.—Weak with loss of blood and recovering from a sheep herder, has given his first account of a running fight in the hills of Owyhee county, in which Joe Sinsis, a Spaniard, was killed, and Jim Stevenson, a camp tender, wounded.

In an altercation over the right to a range, Morrow says, the Spaniard drew a revolver and fired at Morrow, striking his arm. Morrow, armed with a rifle, tried to bring it into play, but before he pulled the trigger was shot again. He then fired at Sinsis, wounding him, and went down with a bullet in his head. Stevenson, the camp tender, seized Morrow's gun and turned upon Sinsis, firing. He, too, was wounded by the other, but Sinsis was picked up dead and was said to have three bullets in his body.

Many Omahans Can Trace Ancestry to Pilgrims Who Came in Mayflower

Scores of Descendants of John and Priscilla Alden, Samuel Fuller, Peregrin White, William Brewster and Other Original New England Folk Found Here—Plan Centenary Celebration of Landing on Plymouth Rock.

The forthcoming tercentenary celebration of the landing of the Pilgrim Fathers at Plymouth Rock is causing unusual interest at this time in "who's who" among those who can establish relationship to those who came over on the Mayflower, 300 years ago.

The Native Sons of California, the First Families of Virginia and other organizations of similar genealogical interest will all have to sit on the side lines for the nonce while the spotlight is thrown upon the descendants of Brewster, Carver, Miles Standish, Bradford and other heroic pilgrims who came to this country to be free from the autocratic rulers of Europe.

Omahans are rummaging through their family trees to brush up on their lineal history and it has been revealed that the Gate City of the west has a goodly quota of citizens who can establish their descendancy from the Pilgrims.

Plan Float Parade.

Omaha is going to mark this tercentenary event next fall by holding an imposing float parade which will depict scenes of the time of the Pilgrim Fathers. John L. Webster, chairman of the Nebraska committee, is receiving names of all Nebraska descendants of the Pilgrims. The list is beginning to appear formidable.

It is anticipated that some of the Omaha descendants will ride on the floats next fall, representing persons who were identified with the days of the Pilgrims.

It is notable that there are descendants of John and Priscilla Alden living in Omaha. Mrs. A. L. Fernald, 2217 Capitol avenue, states she descended from Rebecca Alden who was of the fifth generation of the Aldens and who lived to be 101 years old. Rebecca Alden married Henry Pendleton and their son, William, was Mrs. Fernald's maternal grandfather.

Other descendants of the Pilgrims at the Fernald home are Mrs. Sarah

Washington, July 10.—Five thousand draft evaders have been convicted in federal courts and given sentences of from 30 days to one year in prison, according to reports compiled today at the Department of Justice. Thirty thousand cases remain to be investigated.

About 25 per cent of the men listed as delinquents were found to have enlisted in the American or allied armies without the knowledge of their local boards. About 40 per cent are accounted for on the score of the floating population. Some 20 per cent are considered those who failed to perform their duty through ignorance. The balance is made up of cripples and willful delinquents.

NO HOPES FOR ARMY BONUS NEXT WINTER

Failure of Party Platforms to Declare for Legislation Destroys Chances of Favorable Action on Part of Congress.

BILL NOW RESTING IN HANDS OF COMMITTEE

Believe Wilson Would Veto Measure If It Passed Senate—Republicans and Democrats Refused to Indorse It.

Washington, D. C., July 10.—(Special.)—All chances of the passage of soldiers' bonus legislation next winter seems to have gone glimmering.

Failure of the party platforms to declare for the proposition seems to have destroyed all hopes of favorable action by congress.

Supporters of the bonus bill had relied implicitly on the political conventions taking a stand on the subject. They had gone on the theory that political pressure from the ex-service men would be so strong that both parties would be sure to declare for some form of adjusted compensation. With the political parties back of the proposal passage of a bill in the next session would have been made likely.

The soldiers' bonus bill as passed by the house a week before the recent adjournment is pending in the senate committee on finance. The senate finance committee has given the bill no consideration and may prefer to allow it to slumber without action during the coming session. Officers of the American legion, however, are certain to agitate and probably will force the committee to report the bill to the floor of the senate.

Wilson Would Veto.

Even in case the bill in some miraculous manner should get through the senate and a conference report is approved by both houses its veto by President Wilson is considered certain. The administration's view of the proposal has been made clear through a letter sent by Secretary of the Treasury Houston to the house ways and means committee flatly opposing any bonus legislation, and also by the attitude of the administration spokesmen at San Francisco in the drafting of the platform.

Both the republican and democratic platforms declare for proper treatment of the ex-service men, but both carefully avoid any specific mention of either the cash bonus scheme or any form of adjusted compensation designed to aid those who suffered no wounds.

The republican platform pledges the party "to discharge to the fullest the obligations which a grateful nation justly should fulfill in appreciation of the services rendered by its defenders on sea and land."

Plank Unfavorable.

This much of the plank in the republican platform would appear to be broad enough to cover any form of bonus legislation. However, the plank goes on to declare that "liberal legislation for the care of the disabled."

The Passing Show of 1920

DOCTOR HENRY WRITES AGAIN ABOUT WOMEN

Aged Omaha Physician, Who Divorced Wife for Young Girl, Puts Female in Her Place.

The "Female of the Species" is again the subject chosen by Dr. W. O. Henry, formerly of Omaha, in a new literary effort, entitled "Woman" or "Her Place in the Economy of Nature and God's Plan For Her."

Dr. Henry, who recently secured a divorce in Los Angeles after a sensational trial in which he affirmed his love for a young Omaha nurse, declared "it would seem that woman was made for man in order to do some things in connection with him which he could not do alone, such as establishing a home."

Husband Should Rule.

He is against the omission of the word "obey" in the marriage ceremony and quotes the scripture to prove the husband should rule over the wife.

No true woman can ask or want a higher or more honorable position than God gives her and requires man to accord her," he says.

Place Is in Home.

He still insists the woman's place is in the home, however, declaring that "when woman strives to do the work of men, take the man's place in the home, the state, the business world or the church, they are stepping down from their high and holy calling to lose the highest and best of which they are capable to gain lower honor in the class where they do not belong and for which they were never intended."

COMPLETE TRAIL TO YELLOWSTONE PARK THIS YEAR

Maximum Grade of 7 Per Cent Over Improved Highway, Tourists Are Promised.

Before the season is ended automobile tourists from Omaha can make the drive to Yellowstone national park over improved roads, with 7 per cent as the maximum grade of any stretch in the mountains, the Chamber of Commerce has been notified. The last sections of the trail will be brought to grade and surfaced this summer.

According to explanation received from the Buffalo Wyo., commercial club, the stretch between that city and Worland, 60 miles over the Big Horn mountains, the highest and most scenic part of the road will be finished by the government shortly. Three crews of workers are on the road now. The improvement on this section was started by the government two years ago, when $320,000 was appropriated for bringing the road to grade, straightening it and providing a good surface. Thirty miles already have been finished and work on the remainder is being pushed.

Another improvement in this section that will be opened during the summer is the Buffalo-Gillette cut-off, which saves 25 miles between two places. The improvements are being made on the Black and Yellow trail, which goes through the Black Hills and northern Iowa to Chicago. This trail is intersected by the Washington highway, which runs north through Omaha.

Senator Borah Scores Democratic 1920 Platform

Boise, Idaho, July 10.—In his first speech at Idaho's capital city since his return from the east Senator Borah declared that "international courtesy" dwelt upon in the democratic party would prevent the United States, if a member of the league of nations, from making any decision for itself on questions of the rights of small nations or self-determinations of persons even if the deliberations of the supreme court did not affect such determination. It was his first public mention of the democratic platform.

PRESIDENT OF HANOVER BANK UNDER ARREST

Fugitive Official of Defunct Kansas Institution Caught After Seven-Week Nation-Wide Search.

Topeka, Kan., July 10.—August Jaedicke, jr., fugitive president of the defunct Hanover (Kan.) State bank, is under arrest at Shreveport, La., according to information received today at the state banking department here.

The capture of Jaedicke concludes a nation-wide search of seven weeks. He left Hanover, hatless and coatless, in his automobile upon being informed that his bank had been ordered closed on the morning of May 17, and drove to Beatrice, Neb., where he left his car and took a train. Examination of the bank's accounts revealed a shortage of $180,000, the banking department reports.

Soon after his departure a letter was received from Jaedicke by his wife, purporting to describe his losses, due, he claimed, to loans on which he could not realize. It was revealed within a few weeks he had sent large sums to a Chicago bank, and there were indications that Jaedicke had been victimized by sharp dealers. Later a warrant was issued for C. E. Shugart of Lincoln, Neb., alleging he obtained money from the bank illegally.

FRIENDS OF IRISH OPEN BOOTH ON SIDEWALK

Urge Delegates to Recognize Cause—Harley Christiansen of Utah Named Permanent Chairman of Organization.

Chicago, July 10.—After two hours of argument over rules and permanent officers, the convention of the committee of 48 adjourned at 3 p. m. for lunch, to meet again at 5 p. m. and complete organization.

Speakers said the convention must guard against charges being spread that all work done here was by "packed" committees. Debate grew heated at times while the western delegates continued to demand representation on the procedure committee.

A motion by Mrs. Frank Page, Massachusetts, to name a committee member from each state, was defeated overwhelmingly.

While the convention got under way, the Friends of Irish Freedom arrived, set up a booth on the sidewalk and unfurled banners urging the third party to "recognize Irish freedom."

Charles F. Hoffman of Florida presented to the convention, a committee report on rules and procedure which occasioned much debate and some amendments before its adoption. By it, the vote in the convention was fixed at 539, a majority of 270 being declared as sufficient to nominate or carry a motion.

Utah Man Chairman.

Mrs. Lillian Ascoug of Missouri presented the report of the committee on permanent organization, naming Harley P. Christiansen of Utah for permanent chairman; Frank Stevens of Delaware, secretary; Mrs. Ina P. Williams, Washington state, assistant secretary.

Permanent officers of the convention were installed without oratory when the convention assembled for its second session.

C. J. France of Seattle introduced a formal resolution of appeal to the labor party convention which opens Sunday, asking its delegates to unite as a body with the committee of 48 gathering. It was read amidst cheers and adopted by a rising vote.

"We realize that there is no material difference in opinion in purpose or real between us," it said, in part. "We feel deeply the obligation resting upon us both to compromise any slight differences which might keep us from uniting into one great successful political movement."

Suggest Subcommittees.

"Shall we give our common enemy, the unutterable joy which would follow our failure to unite in a solid phalanx?"

"With these thoughts, which we know are your thoughts, we suggest that your convention provide for a subcommittee selected from your platform committee to confer with the subcommittee selected from our platform committee; that these two committees meet with a firm determination to attain a platform of fundamental upon which we can both unite, a method for concerted political action and common candidates."

"We further suggest that all through the proceedings of our two conventions such joint conference committees be appointed from time to time so that we may work in mutual harmony and that our two conventions may come to (Continued on Page Two, Column Six.)
