

COMMITTEE OF 48 WILL NOT FORM FOURTH PARTY

Plan to Confine Labors to Congressional and Judicial Campaign Action—Adopt Resolutions.

By GRAFTON S. WILCOX.
Chicago Tribune—Omaha Bee Leased Wire.
Chicago, July 15.—After an all-day session devoted to heated discussion of its position following the formation of the farmer-labor party and the nomination of a national ticket, the committee of 48 determined not to form a fourth party. Although many of the 48ers were disappointed and chagrined over the outcome of the amalgamated convention in its failure to nominate Robert M. La Follette, the committee of 48 after repeated threats of an open breach with the farmer-labor party, finally passed a resolution to confine its activities to congressional, legislative and judicial campaign action, with a provision for calling of a national convention, should the national executive committee deem it advisable. The resolution adopted contained no endorsement, however, of the farmer-labor party which nominated Perley Christensen, of Salt Lake City, for president and Max S. Hayes, of Cleveland, for vice president. Neither did the resolution contain any repudiation of the farmer-labor ticket but it did include a declaration that the committee of 48 had not fully accomplished its original purpose to nominate a ticket acceptable to all the people. This was interpreted by many of the 48ers as an implied repudiation of the Christensen-Hayes ticket. An effort to have the resolution amended by striking out this reference failed in the closing moments of the session. After a motion to adjourn had been carried, one delegate sought to put the convention on record as definitely endorsing or repudiating the Christensen-Hayes ticket. He was howled down as the committee broke up in confusion. The resolution of procedure was drafted by a committee of 15 headed by Howard Williams, and J. A. H. Hopkins, chairman of the committee. The resolutions in substance was as follows: The committee of 48 was organized to form a new political party for all the people of the United States, regardless of sex, creed, color, or class in opposition to the republican and democratic parties, on an economic program. Not having fully accomplished this purpose, the committee of 48 will continue its organization and efforts toward accomplishing this end. The committee on permanent organization will continue and qualification for membership will consist of signing membership cards pledging support to the St. Louis platform of the committee of 48 as a basis of political action. The convention, when adjourned, will be subject to call of the national executive committee, the resolution recommending that the organization meanwhile direct its functions particularly in connection with legislative, judicial, congressional and state campaigns. Details of organization procedure completed the resolution adopted by a viva voce vote.

Postal Officials Explain Fate of Police Summons

Postal officials cleared the mystery which surrounded the failure of 60 alleged traffic violators to appear in Central police court Thursday to answer "golden rule" summons sent them by mail. The officials called Chief Eberstein Thursday and informed him there were a bunch of letters from his office at the postoffice each of which needed one more cent in postage before delivery could be made. Judge Fitzgerald expects a bevy of visitors at his next session of court.

Complainant of Blackmail Charge Himself Fined $10

Joseph L. The blackmail charge against Coffman was dismissed but he was fined $50 on a charge of aiding and abetting his wife in immoral conduct. "I don't know which one of you two fellows is the worse," Judge Fitzgerald told Coffman and Sandell. Mrs. Coffman was not in court. Coffman is a switchman for the C. & N. CONGRESSMEN HOLD HEARING IN STOCKTON, CAL.

Committee Probing Japanese Immigration Returns From Visits of Several Colonies Maintained by Japs.

Stockton, Cal., July 16.—The house of representatives committee of naturalization and immigration having spent the past few days at Sacramento in hearing testimony on the Japanese situation in California was to resume its labors here today. Up to date the committee has viewed numerous towns and country sections where, according to the evidence, Japanese merchants and farmers were in the majority. It has been the guest of George Shima, a leader among the Japanese in California and reputed to be the wealthiest of the many colonists.

Taken Much Evidence.

It has also heard the evidence of and met socially with numerous officials of the state of California, including Governor Stephens and members of the state board of control which recently completed an extensive survey of immigration conditions here with special reference to Oriental problems. The committee has not formulated any report yet as its work is still in progress, but five of the members have stated publicly that they believe, from their investigations, that steps should be taken to curb the influx of Japanese and to regulate the social and economic life of those already here.

Farms Delta Lands.

In the course of its inquiry the committee has toured the delta lands of the Sacramento region, where thousands of reclaimed acres are controlled and worked by Japanese; it has seen a Buddhist temple and a Japanese school, both maintained for residents of that race; it has seen at least one town where but one American merchant continues in business and it has heard officials testify on oath that the Japanese are good farmers but their presence depreciates property; that they are hard workers but take their women into

Omahan Engages in Terrible Struggle With Ferocious Pike—Has Mark of Fray

Deputy Sheriff Charles Johnson returned yesterday from two weeks at Lake Jefferson, Minn., with some startling fish stories. He exhibited to friends two deep injuries to one finger of his right hand. "That's where a big pike I had caught bit me," said Charlie. "Yes, sir, I had just pulled him out, and my partner, 'Bill' Walters of Cedar Rapids, Ia., was helping me hold him while I took the hook out. The pike swished his tail and jumped up and bit me. After a desperate struggle we subdued the fish." "Did he bark or roar when he bit you?" asked Deputy Foster. "Well, he did make a kind of queer noise if I remember right," said Mr. Johnson. "How big did you say he was?" inquired Sheriff Clark. "Well, we didn't have a tape measure, but I should say at a rough guess he was about three and a half feet, maybe four," said the fisherman. "That guess sounds 'rough' enough," said the sheriff. Mr. Johnson remembered his Omaha friends with samples of his fish. To Sheriff Clark he sent a black bass 18 inches long and 13 inches in circumference.

CITY STARTS SUIT TO COLLECT $300 PROPERTY BOND

Prosecutor Murray Starts First Action Against Harry Windham, Whose Brother Jumped Bail.

Suit was filed yesterday in district court by City Prosecutor T. B. Murray for payment of a $300 property bond put up in Central police court six weeks ago by Harry G. Windheim, president of the Nebraska Seed company, for the appearance of his brother, Philip, in court. Philip was arrested about six weeks ago on complaint of a group of Poppleton avenue women for improper relations with young children in the neighborhood. His case was set for hearing in police court and he was released on $300 property bond given by his brother. Leaves Town—Bond Unpaid. Philip jumped his bond and left Omaha, according to the police, and Harry G. Windheim has not paid the bond. According to Prosecutor Murray, this is the first time since he has been in office that the city has filed suit for the payment of an appearance bond. His action comes on the heels of

SPLIT IN THIRD PARTY RELIEF TO G. O. P. AND DEMOS

Leaders Believe Result Will Be To Draw Socialist Votes to Parent Factions.

Chicago Tribune—Omaha Bee Leased Wire.
Washington, July 16.—The had get away of the third party at Chicago brought relief to both republicans and democrats here today. A few days ago it was generally admitted that a third ticket and an exposure showing that bogus police court bonds are costing the city taxpayers not less than $25,000 a year, and probably more. This disclosure came through an investigation conducted by the Chamber of Commerce. Forfeited bonds are supposed to be paid into the school fund, but many of these bonds prove to be worthless, according to the committee which conducted the investigation, and others probably good are never collected. Total is $100,000 Yearly. Robert A. Cohan, clerk of the police court, stated that appearance bonds total not less than $100,000 per year, and in his opinion at least 25 per cent of them are not good. The investigation on behalf of the Chamber of Commerce was being conducted by the municipal affairs committee, Alvin F. Johnson, chairman, and a subcommittee appointed by Mr. Johnson.

platform might be put forward with damaging potentialities. There were politicians who saw the prospect of the new party cutting into the republican vote or the democratic vote rather seriously in some sections of the country. They were not sure which major party might be hurt worst and they were somewhat fearful of taking chances with any random tossing of political machinery wrenches into the campaign machinery.

After yesterday's performance at Chicago, particularly because of the nominees selected, both republicans and democrats regard the third party movement as a "dud." They can't see how it can cause any important explosion during the campaign, and its chief effect, as viewed here, probably will be to draw some strength from the socialist party. It may here and there pull a radical democrat or republican from the fold, but cannot be expected to make any notable inroads on either of the two big parties.

Senator La Follette's refusal to accept the nomination as the third party's standard bearer caused no surprise. It has been repeatedly predicted in senatorial circles for a long time that Senator La Follette would not bolt, and his refusal to ally with the third party movement is believed to foreshadow an early announcement that he will support Senator Harding, although it is doubtful whether he will take any active part in the campaign.
