HAVE CONFIDENCE
Buy with confidence, things will not be cheap before you have time to wait. It is reasonable to expect, notwithstanding the many predictions, that the market will not believe in fooling the people, the truth being no man. According to the best information we can get, the market is not more than 10 percent above the 1919 level. This fall will be the highest and longest market the country has yet seen. Here, at Omaha, we have been somewhat concerned, we bought early and heavy for this fall. We had some success, but a strong down market is bound to bring losses when it comes. Today, at this time, we are buying with confidence, we positively can beat the late buyers market. We are buying and selling, we win you must gamble. We have been doing a lot of gambling the past few years, but we feel we have reached the limit.

Market, Financial and Industrial News of the Day

The New York Times

Chicago Grain
By CHARLES D. MICHAELS.
Chicago Tribune—Omaha Bee Leased Wire.
Chicago, July 23.—Highest temperatures of the year over the corn belt of the country which will force the crop along faster and overcome part of its lateness, combined with increased claims of black rust damage, failed to bring in buying orders from the outside. This encouraged selling after the shorts had made a good bulge and the close was weak and lower for all markets.

The market was depressed at the start, the result of nervousness over Premier Lloyd George's intimation that the allied nations might be compelled to enter a military way, and before noon sterling fell down 5c and the Continental rates were substantially lower than the day before. At the day's lowest quotation for sterling eight drafts the rate was nearly 20 cents to the pound under the recent maximum quotation and lower than at any time since the last week of April.

Reading Leads Rails
Speculators in stocks at first elected to make what they called a "short" of all except one railroad until the first hour. Reading led the railroad industry forward, and there was a moderate advance in the other lines. The effort was unavailing, however, for bondholders saw a chance in the forward movement to raise some of the more important stocks down and the list gave away quite suddenly in the early afternoon.

Balance Sheet
Considering the full year it is seen that the favorable balance of $2,422,809.35 about 50 percent smaller than in 1919. Imports, exports and shipments to other countries increased over 1919. Imports, exports and shipments to other countries increased over 1919.

Hot Winds Reported
Efforts to start a crop season fell flat. Hot winds were reported at first from Nebraska and Kansas and high temperatures prevailed throughout the main corn belt. The latter were regarded as highly beneficial. Cash corn was unchanged to a cent, but the futures were up 1/8c and 1/4c.
