GROOM-TO-BE 74, SHOWS WORLD HE IS STILL YOUNG

Henry W. Wandell Gets License to Wed Georgia "Girl." He Then Gives Clerks Calisthenic Exhibition.

Henry H. Wandell, 74 years of age, 1436 North Twentieth street, called at the county clerk's office Thursday morning and secured a license to wed Mrs. Mary Brooks of Savannah, Ga., who is expected to arrive here Sunday morning for the wedding.

After Mr. Wandell had transacted his business with the clerk he surprised that official, as well as the rest of the attaches of the office, by giving them a demonstration in physical culture, "just to show what an old man can do."

He went through several figures of calisthenics in such a rapid way that he made the spectators gasp, bent forward stiff-legged and touched the floor with his palms, and completed his startling exhibition by lifting his hat from his head, holding it level with his face and kicking it with the agility of a soubrette.

"A man is no older than he feels, and years don't count if a man takes the proper care of himself," Mr. Wandell told the clerk. "I feel like I was 40 and never intended to get older."

Mr. Wandell said that when "Daddy" Flynn was in Omaha giving his exhibitions in health culture he challenged that exponent to a wrestling match, but Flynn wouldn't accept.

"I believe I could have beaten Flynn, too, in any kind of a physical exhibition," he added.

The prospective groom, who was formerly a real estate man in Omaha, first came to this city in 1865, from Wisconsin. He owned large holdings in South Omaha and Wandell addition, near Albright, is named for him.

OFFICER'S NOSE FOR BOOZE LEADS HIM TO CELLAR

Liquor and Still and Much Equipment Found in Raid—Chris Jensen Is Arrested.

Detective George Summit was strolling west on Farnam street about 2 p. m. today.

The gentle summer breeze past his nostrils, laden with an odor. "Ah! Liquor?" George sniffed.

He turned his head to leeward and again he sniffed.

To the starboard stern, with nostrils distended, once more he sniffed. "Ah! Liquor."

Putting his nose to the ground, figuratively speaking, George began to follow the trail.

His mind seemed to recall an age-old adage: "Follow your nose."

He did.

His nose followed the smell. And he ended up at the cellar window of the home of Chris Jensen, 3172 Farnam street.

George pecked—and saw something.

There stood Chris, so George says, working busily over a big copper boiler, from which arose that tantalizing aroma which had first attracted George's attention.

George placed Chris under arrest and summoned the wagon.

Judge Scores Youth Who Deserted Wife and Baby

Tells Young Husband Girl Is Better Than He Deserves—Two Families in One House Responsible For Trouble, He Declares.

Howard Eskin, son of George Eskin, 1816 Maple street, stood before District Judge Sears yesterday and admitted that he enlisted in the navy secretly seven weeks ago and left his young wife and 2-weeks-old baby to shift for themselves.

The judge found young Eskin guilty of nonsupport of his wife and child, but continued the case for 60 days, allowing Eskin to return to the navy, though he said he'd "had enough of it." The wife gets an allotment from the government of $40 a month.

Doesn't Love Her.

The young wife, Mrs. Rose Eskin, pretty and spirited, stood bravely and asked him what he wanted to do now.

"I don't know," said the youth. "I hardly love her any more."

The wife's lip quivered, but she came right back with a little half-laugh, half-sob.

"Oh, all right, that part of it's all right, I guess," she said.

Judge Scores Husband.

"You married this girl," said Judge Sears' calm voice, falling like oil upon troubled waters, "and she looks to me like a fine, pretty, brave, spirited girl, probably a better wife than you deserve."

"Oh, I'm no angel," smiled Mrs. Eskin.

When George and Chris and the wagon and the copper boiler and two five-gallon containers and a number of glass carboys with the fluid and shingles in them and eight pints all bottled arrived at Central police station, the still was still so hot the cops had to use gloves to remove it from the patrol.

The shingles in the fluid in the carboys, George said, were being used by Chris so his liquor would AGE IN THE WOOD.

"No, but you're a good wife," said the judge. "You put a lot of mules and Percherons and Belgians and thoroughbreds and Hamiltonians in a field with a barbed wire fence around it and do you know which of those animals will get cut by the wire?" continued the judge, who is a horse lover.

The young pair said they did not.

Two Families Too Many.

"Well," said the judge, "the thoroughbreds and the Hamiltonians are the ones that will run into the wire. The mules and scrubs won't run into it. It's often the same way with people."

"No house on earth is big enough for two families and when you get out of the navy get a house of your own and don't let either husband's or wife's people interfere with you. Then you can get along."

It's Easy Now to Curl Hair to Stay Curled
To curl the hair to stay curled, nothing equals the simple simerine method. If a little liquid simerine be applied with a clean tooth brush before doing up the hair, the loveliest wavy effect imaginable will be in evidence in three hours, and this will last a long time, regardless of temperature or humidity.

This harmless method is not to be compared with curling by means of a hot iron because, instead of injuring the hair, it is really beneficial. A few ounces of liquid simerine, which may be procured at any drug store, will last for months. The best way is to divide the hair into strands and moisten each of them from root to tip. The curlsiness will look perfectly natural, and the hair will be beautifully glossy, yet without the cast greasiness or stickiness.

Police Holding Five Men As Suspects in Robberies

Frank Baker, 4407 South Twenty-second street and Joe Szewczyk, 2502 South Twenty-fifth street, arrested Sunday night, are held with Atkins in connection with the robbery of the home of Mrs. W. C. Wendt, 3015 Jackson street, a week ago.

Brothers Claim Body of Man Found Dead in Omaha Hotel
Two brothers of Earl Carroll, who was found dead in a room at the Keystone hotel last Monday afternoon, claimed the body yesterday. No inquest into Carroll's death was held. County officials say death was due to alcoholic poisoning.

Carroll left his home in Davis City, Ia., a year ago, shortly after he had returned from France with the 88th division, his brothers said. The body was taken to Davis City yesterday.
