

COTTAGE PLAN DORMITORY IS ASSURED AT UNI

Nebraska Regents Finally Approve Experimental System for Housing Women Students at School.

Regents of the state university meeting Wednesday put the final stamp of approval of the University of Nebraska "cottage dormitory" system by authorizing Chancellor Avery to draw upon the university for funds necessary in carrying out the program for housing and caring for 160 girls entering the university next fall.

Dormitories for university women, especially those just entering the university, were recommended at the July meeting of the alumni association. A number of houses located on the new east campus, some of which were formerly fraternity and society houses, were found available for remodeling into student dormitories on the "cottage plan."

Want "Home Conditions."

The houses are two and three story structures, frame and stucco, and are being rebuilt to reproduce in so far as possible "home conditions" for the young women. The rooms are being tastefully furnished, papered and decorated under the supervision of Miss Amanda Heppner, dean of women. They will be electrically lighted and have hot water heat. A central dining room in one of the group of houses will be conducted by the home economics department, at which dormitory girls will have the privilege of obtaining board at reasonable rates.

Reservations for dormitory privileges are already being received. The girls' houses will be under the supervision of the university authorities. Each dormitory will have a house director, or "house mother," who will give special attention to the fostering of a wholesome student and social life in each group.

The rooms will be rented to the students at from $36 to $54 a semester, or approximately $8 to $12 a month. Board will be equally reasonable. The furnishing of all the rooms, while not identical, are to be of equal quality; the higher priced rooms have more floor and closet space than the cheaper rooms and are slightly more favorably located.

Housing Plan Experiment.

The new cottage dormitories are grouped near the newly established "Chancellor's Residence" into which Chancellor Avery will move this summer. The large woman's building, formerly the Sheldon homes, at Fourteenth and R streets, next to the chancellor's residence, is also in close proximity to the dormitory group.

This new group of buildings, which is being incorporated into the building equipment of the university campus, will form a center of student life for university women. The dormitory system now nearing completion, will be in the nature of an experimental model-housing plan and may, if it proves popular and successful from other standpoints, become the starting point, it is said, for a more elaborate system of dormitories for the University of Nebraska.

ADVISE FOR LONG, VIGOROUS LIFE GIVEN BY PRIEST

Take Life as It Comes—Never Worry About Anything.

Washington, D. C., July 24.—If you would live beyond three score years and ten and enjoy full strength and vigor, take life easily and, above all, don't worry, is the advice of the Rt. Rev. James F. Mackin, pastor of St. Paul's Catholic church here, who is 82 and hale and hearty. For 52 years, Father Mackin has been a member of the priesthood, though as a young man he was a sailor before the mast on a New Bedford whaler and roamed the seven seas with the many varied experiences which attend such a life, including shipwreck on a desert island.

"Take life as it comes," says Father Mackin. "Never worry about anything. Don't fret because things are thus and so. Try to improve them if you can, but don't be perturbed if you don't succeed. I believe this philosophy has had much to do with my long life and good health."
